House rejects bid to divert highway cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today rejected, 215 to 190, a Senate-passed amendment that would have permitted cities to spend their share of federal highway trust funds for mass transit projects.

The vote was subject to final approval of a $25.6-billion highway bill to which the amendment for the authority was proposed.

Highway supporters, including Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, contended the action would bankrupt the highway trust fund. He said the fund does not have enough money for both highways and mass transit.

"You can't make two quarts of gin in a one-quart jar," Harsha said. "There just isn't enough money in the highway trust fund."

But mass transit backers including Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., stressed cities would have only the option of using their share of highway money for mass transit if they chose.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., quoted President Nixon as telling congressional leaders Wednesday that the role of the automobile must be re-examined if the nation is to solve its energy crisis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Longtime opponents of the Vietnam war are marshaling forces for a Senate vote in May on cutting off funds for continued U.S. bombing in Cambodia and Laos.

A bill by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., would deny spending for any U.S. military operations in Indochina and U.S. aid to North Vietnam unless Congress specifically approves.

WANTS TO TALK ABOUT WATERGATE — Martha Mitchell, shown with her husband, former Attorney Gen. John M. Mitchell, says she's anxious to tell the Senate committee investigating the Watergate case "some things they never heard in their life . . ."

Haldeman resignation hinted

Say Mitchell, Dean behind Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate spy team was commanded by two leading Nixon administration officials who later tried to buy the silence of the arrested conspirators, the Washington Post says.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, former No. 2 man in the Nixon re-election campaign, will tell a federal grand jury today that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and present White House Counsel John W. Dean III planned and approved the bugging raid on Democratic national headquarters, the Post said in today's edition.

Magruder already has given his account to federal prosecutors, the newspaper reported.

Dean soon will resign and his example may well be followed by H. R. Haldeman, White House chief of staff, the paper quoted executive branch sources as saying.

The Washington Post, quoting sources, said in today's edition that criminal indictments are expected for both Mitchell and Dean as a result of Magruder's statements. Magruder is scheduled to repeat his testimony under oath to the grand jury investigating the Watergate affair.

Mitchell dismissed the Post report as "nonsense." Dean and Magruder could not be reached for comment early today.

"This gets a little sillier as it goes along, doesn't it?" Mitchell told a reporter as he left his New York City apartment this morning and was asked about the Post report. "I've had a good night's sleep and haven't heard any of this nonsense." He appeared relaxed as he boarded a chauffeured station wagon and lit his pipe.

The White House refused immediate comment on details of the report.

However, Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said, "The White House is not prepared to react to a story based on sources. At a time when the rights of individuals would not be jeopardized by a comment, an appropriate comment will be made."

Devan Shumway, spokesman for the Committee for the Reelection of the President, said he was not in a position to comment on the Post story or to indicate any knowledge of whether indictments or resignations were imminent.

Magruder told the prosecutors, the Post said, that he was present at a February 1972 meeting in Mitchell's Justice Department office attended also by the attorney general, Dean, and G. Gordon Liddy, one of seven men convicted in the conspiracy.

The allegations came on the heels of President Nixon's statement Tuesday that his own month-long investigation had exposed "major new developments" in the case. Nixon said any White House aide indicted in the affair would be suspended immediately and any convicted would be fired.

Nixon-Congress dispute remains

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's insistence on broad authority for executive silence began at the Watergate's edge—but gave way to compromise amid a tide of congressional and political protest.

His decision to permit testimony by his aides in the Senate's Watergate investigation averts what could have been a constitutional showdown on the doctrine of executive privilege.

But that issue hasn't gone away. And there remain disputes over warmaking powers and presidential authority to undo programs enacted by Congress.

All three involve what the Constitution says and what it means.

As lawyer, candidate and President, Nixon has pronounced himself dedicated to a strict interpretation of the Constitution. He set that as his test for Supreme Court nominees.

The current controversies between Congress and the White House hinge on who does the interpreting. Presidential authority in the areas of executive privilege, undeclared war and the impoundment of appropriated funds involves powers that are implied, not spelled out, in the Constitution.

Before he became President, Nixon criticized the Supreme Court for decisions he said moved it into lawmaking areas that really belonged to Congress.

"... Under our Constitution, the true responsibility for writing the law is with Congress," he said on July 7, 1968. "The responsibility for executing the law is with the executive and the responsibility for interpreting the law resides in the Supreme Court. I believe in a strict interpretation of the Supreme Court's functions."

Nixon critics contend now that his actions are blurring those lines of constitutional authority.

Executive privilege is a doctrine—not a law—under which presidents have refused to permit congressional testimony by their aides.

Earlier in the Watergate controversy, Nixon expanded upon it to declare that past and present members of his staff would decline to appear before formal sessions of congressional committees. The administration said it could be invoked to cover any executive branch employe if the President decided silence was in order.

In yielding to permit appearances, but not necessarily answers to all questions, in the Watergate investigation, Nixon said he was making an exception, not dropping his rule.

Pressure and protests from leading figures in his own Republican party preceded the shift by a President who once had challenged the Senate to a Supreme Court test on the issue.

It could flare again another, lesser controversy, for the White House has cited executive privilege in refusing to give Congress records of government-financed travel during the 1972 presidential campaign.

The war powers controversy arose time and again during the Vietnam conflict, and it has been revived by new U.S. bombing in Cambodia and Laos.

Nixon critics contend he has no legal or constitutional authority for the bombing, and there is a move underway in the Senate to ban it unless Congress specifically approves.

The administration has claimed authority for Indochina actions in the President's constitutional role as commander in chief.

"The administration's constitutional authority to bomb Cambodia rests on the circumstance that we are coming out of a 10-year period of conflict," said Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson. "This is the windup."

Meany feud with Brennan broadened

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany has recalled a top AFL-CIO official serving on Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan's staff. It was the latest move in Meany's continuing feud with his former labor associate.

Robert M. McGlotten is expected to resign as a special assistant to Brennan and return to his $22,000-a-year job as assistant director of the AFL-CIO's civil rights department.

"He will be back on the payroll Monday," an AFL-CIO spokesman said.

Brennan's press secretary, Thomas J. Costigan, said he knew nothing about it. "We have not received any resignation," Costigan said.

McGlotten had been on an indefinite leave of absence from the AFL-CIO since January. Meany, AFL-CIO president, had sent McGlotten to the Labor Department at Brennan's request, a federation spokesman said.

At Labor, McGlotten was earning more than $30,000.

"It's a meeting of the minds between George Meany and Bob McGlotten because of the events of last week," the AFL-CIO spokesman said when asked why McGlotten was returning.

The spat started two weeks ago with Meany accusing Brennan of selling out his trade union principles over the administration's minimum wage proposal, which would give teenagers a lower wage than adults for the same work.

U.S. Navy halts minesweeping off North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Navy has halted minesweeping operations in North Vietnamese waters in an apparent attempt to force Hanoi to scale down Communist attacks in Cambodia and delivery of troop reinforcements and supplies to the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

North Vietnam reported today that the Navy stopped its sweep operations two days ago without explanation and withdrew its ships and planes from the coastal areas where they had been working. Hanoi charged this violated the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

After the Hanoi announcement, Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said in a statement that the mine clearing activity was suspended because "of the failure of the other side to abide by the agreements and assurances of Paris." He spoke of "the other side's failure to respect the unilateral cease-fire declared by the government of Cambodia, and ... the continued flow of enemy supplies into South Vietnam."

The United States suspended the minesweeping operation once before, on Feb. 28, when there was a delay in the release of U. S. prisoners of war held by North Vietnam. The POWs were released four days later, and U. S. Navy planes went back to sweeping the waters at the entrance to Haiphong.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said the minesweeping stopped again Tuesday and the U.S. task force pulled out of the area.

It also claimed that in some two months of clearance operations, the Americans had exploded only three of the "tens of thousands" of mines U. S. planes planted in North Vietnamese waters last year.

The statement accused the U. S. government of deliberately retarding the work and said the suspension of operations was evidence of a "premeditated" plan to prolong, in effect, the maritime blockade of North Vietnam.

Dragging operations at lake continuing

The search for the body of Darrell Wheeler, of Stoutsville, at Deer Creek Reservoir is continuing.

Pickaway County sheriff's deputies were again manning drag lines and continuing diving operations in hopes of recovering the body. The lake remained closed to the public.

Wheeler, 20, drowned April 8 when a boat capsized. Three other passengers in the craft were rescued.

Latest economic news unpleasant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today reported the economy advanced at a rapid rate of 14.3 per cent during the first quarter of the year, with inflation soaring at a rate of 6 per cent.

The Commerce Department said the country's gross national product rose $40.6 billion from January through March to reach a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.235 trillion.

The increase compares with a GNP advance in the fourth quarter of last year of $30.9 billion or 11 per cent at an annual rate.

The gross national product is the value of the nation's output of goods and services and is the broadest indication of the economy's performance.

Without the rate of inflation of 6 per cent, the real output during the first quarter was 7.9 per cent, compared with real growth of 8 per cent in the fourth quarter of 1972.

But the rate of inflation of 6 per cent during the period was bad news for the economy. It was the biggest quarterly jump since the fourth quarter of 1970 when it was 6.3 per cent.

The 14.3 per cent increase in the GNP equaled the increase in the first quarter of 1971 when the economy was recovering from a General Motors strike and from a recession.

One factor contributing to the big increase was a sharp rise in consumer spending which makes two thirds of the GNP. the administration originally had projected a $35 billion increase in GNP for the quarter.

The percentage increase for the first quarter is not itself a record. There was a 14.3 per cent increase in the first quarter of 1971 and a 14.7 per cent advance in early 1951.

The consumer price index, a measure of retail price trends, will be released Friday and that also is expected to show a sharp increase, especially because the March wholesale price index advanced 2.2 per cent, the highest rate since the Korean war.

Team plans MIA search

BANGKOK (AP) — A team of men representing the U.S. Navy, Marines, Air Force and Army are training for one of the grimmest—and possibly the longest—jobs of the Vietnam War.

In the dry terms of an official release, their job is to "look for persons missing in action and remains not recovered."

The organization is known as the Joint Casualty Resolution Center—JCRC.

Its headquarters are at Nakorn Phanom in northeast Thailand. About 75 of the total 150 men involved in the search for downed U.S. airmen and ground troops missing in action are already at the base.

Massive Gilligan budget faces Senate surgery

* * *

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's $9.9 billion budget passed the Democratic-controlled House Wednesday and headed for the knife that the Republican-controlled Senate is certain to wield.

Political leaders on both sides agreed the spending proposal for the next two years would eventually be decided by a joint House-Senate conference committee.

Passage of the bill in the House marked the beginning of the Easter recess for the General Assembly. Both houses return May 1.

During the day, 241 bills were introduced into the House and 103 in the Senate. The day marked the deadline for introduction of new measures.

Republicans in the House, controlled by Democrats 58-41, called the budget a "tax grab," but could do nothing to stop it from passage.

The vote was 56-39.

Republicans, who control the Senate 17-16, have already indicated they will concentrate on the upper chamber for changes in the bill.

House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, led the fight against the budget. He accused Gilligan of failing to keep tax reform promises of 1971 when the state income tax passed.

Kurfess, who supported the income tax, along with 12 other House Republicans, said Gilligan refused to correct inequities although he found $118 million in extra money from income tax revenues.

"There it was, at the end of the rainbow," said Kurfess of the extra money. "What's his excuse now."

House Finance Committee Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who carried the bill on the floor, said it meets the state's education needs and provided money for other areas.

Shoemaker, a fiscal conservative, said attempts to change it would be "irresponsible and foolhearty and probably subject to executive veto."

Republicans made several attempts to increase spending, but all were shot down.

Following the budget vote, the House concurred in Senate amendments to the administration's $92.2 million federal revenue sharing bill. It now goes to Gilligan for signing into law.

Democrats approved three amendments to the budget, including one that excluded Youngstown State University from a freeze on student fees for the next two years.

Rep. George D. Tablack, D-52 Campbell, who sponsored the amendment, said Youngstown had not had a boost in fees for three years. It will seek an increase from $150 to $189 a quarter, still within the state limit of $210.

Another Democratic amendment removed from the bill restructions, added in committee, to police honorariums and leaves of absences for university professors and require

Nixon-Congress

Congress. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., contended that any new action in Indochina is in effect a new war, requiring approval of Congress.

Legislation now pending, and opposed by the administration, would define and limit executive authority to use U.S. troops abroad in any future conflict.

In the third area of disputed prerogatives, the administration has been challenged in court for refusing to spend money on some programs despite laws creating and financing them.

Twice, in cases involving impounded highway aid funds and the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, federal judges have ruled that the administration acted illegally.

Either case could wind up in the Supreme Court. And legislation in the Senate would empower Congress to overrule the President whenever he seeks to impound appropriated funds. Nixon has withheld at least $8.7 billion voted by Congress.

Buckner was killed in a two-car collision on Kentucky 15 in Breathitt County, two miles south of Jackson.

Community development revenue sharing plan bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today sends Congress his proposed legislation replacing numerous specific community-aid programs with $2.3 billion a year in special revenue-sharing funds.

PROMOTED — Mrs. Sara Sword, 423 Earl Ave., has received word from Lt. Col. E.R. Larson, U.S. Marine Corps, that her son, Ricky L. Sword, has been promoted to lance corporal with the Third Division on Okinawa. His address is L-Cpl. Ricky L. Sword 294-52-3264, Co. C, 3rd Tank Bn., 3rd Marine Div., FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96602.

"This aid will have no strings attached as long as it is used for community development," Nixon said last month in announcing his special revenue sharing proposal.

"Your local leaders can go on spending it the way Washington was spending it if they like. But they would also be free to work out better plans without having to get Washington's approval," he continued.

Nixon said the measure is intended to replace what he called "inflexible and fragmented" categorical grant-in-aid programs such as Model Cities and urban renewal plus projects providing grants for water and sewer projects, demolition, neighborhood facilities and rehabilitation work.

Nixon first proposed the community development legislation in 1971 but failed to muster enough support in either the House or the Senate.

Among features of his new proposal are:

—The money for cities and urban counties would be based on a formula reflecting community needs and there would be assurances that this would not be less than received under the previous programs.

—Funding would be provided for smaller communities.

—While activities now supported by categorical grants may be continued, local leaders would determine whether to do so.

—Recipients would be required to show the federal government only that they are complying with federal statutes in the way they are spending revenue-sharing money.

—Shared revenues would not have to be matched by local funds.

While the Better communities Act would replace seven Housing and Urban Development categorical programs it would not affect HUD's housing and community planning authority.

The administration said a large share of the total funds appropriated annually under the act—about 78 per cent by the fifth year at a $2.3 billion level—would be allocated and made available directly to all central cities in metropolitan areas; all cities over 50,000 population, and all urban counties with a population of over 200,000.

them to work a certain number of classroom hours each week.

Republicans sought to limit welfare appropriations to one year and make the budget fund a Vietnam veterans bonus, as well as appropriate an extra $143.6 million for property tax relief. All were shot down.

The bill, as passed, contains $500,000 to plan a "consortium" medical school at Wright State University, Dayton, that would also serve Miami and Central State Universities.

Another $1.5 million would provide the same type of facility to serve the University of Akron, Kent State and Youngstown universities.

Shoemaker gave the following breakdown of the $9,918,100,000 that would be spent in the two-year state bookkeeping period beginning July 1: (Amount of increase, from last biennium, in parentheses).

Education—Primary and secondary, $2 billion ($316 million); higher education, $768.9 million ($154.5 million), and other educational programs, $18 million ($4.5 million).

Human Services—Manpower development, $171.9 million ($2.1 million); Health, $93 million ($11.8 million); Mental Health and Mental Retardation, $489.3 million ($97 million); welfare, $1.8 billion, federal funds included ($467 million); occupational safety and insurance, $26.9 million ($4.9 million), other human service programs, $10.8 million ($1.7 million).

System of Justice—Law enforcement, $147.7 million ($27.6 million); judicial, $15.4 million ($3 million); quasi-judicial $2 million ($500,000), and rehabilitation and corrections $203.9 million ($73.7 million).

General Government—Legislature $12.6 million ($1.8 million); fiscal administration, $348.1 million ($103.5 million); property tax relief, $347 million ($217 million); personnel administration, $34.4 million ($14.1 million), regulatory programs, $512.4 million ($9.8 million), public works, $12.8 million ($2.2 million), other general government, $5.2 million ($1.4 million).

Environmental Protection— $116.6 million, ($48.8 million).

Economic Development, Recreation, and Transportation— $995.2 million ($4.3 million).

Capital Improvements and Long-Term Financing—$93.4 million ($54.3 million).

Aid to Local Governments— $881.6 million ($156.6 million).

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The National Weather Service's summary of Ohio weather:

Heavy cloudiness, mild temperatures and a few showers were reported in Ohio Wednesday night and Thursday morning. The showers were confined mostly in the western part of the state with rather light amounts. Some patchy fog was also reported at sunrise.

Temperatures around sunrise were generally in the mid and upper 50s.

Southerly winds with brief periods of sunshine will allow temperatures to climb into the 70s Thursday afternoon. A few scattered showers and possibly a thunderstorm or two will develop over the state today, tonight and Friday, becoming more numerous and frequent in the afternoon and evening.

Lows tonight, under mostly cloudy skies will lower once again into the 50s, similar to Thursday morning. Daytime highs on Friday will climb once again into the 70s as the southerly winds continue to blow off the Gulf of Mexico.

A chance of showers Saturday and again on Monday. Highs from the mid 60s to mid 70s. Lows in the upper 40s and 50s.

'War crimes' issue rises at trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An international law expert is scheduled to testify at the Pentagon papers trial today, after the government raised the issue of possible U.S. "war crimes" while questioning co-defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

Richard Falk, a Princeton University professor of international law, is expected to expand at the request of the defense on Ellsberg's comment that illegal actions by U.S. officials occurred during the Vietnam war.

Stock list gain modest

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices held to their modest gains today but showed little inclination to rally further.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 3.54 at 961.85, little changed from a half-hour earlier. Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange about 2 to 1.

Analysts said the rise was due in part to technical factors and to the growing spate of strong corporate earnings reports.

"Most of the activity is in the blue-chip sector, spurred on by excellent earnings reports," said Alan R. Shaw, analyst with Harris, Upham & Co.

International Telephone was volume leader on the Big Board, off 1¼ to 36⅝ after reports that the Internal Revenue Service was reconsidering its decision to allow ITT'S merger with Hartford Fire Insurance to be tax-free to Hartford shareholders.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index rose .02 to 24.06, while the noon Big Board index was up .24 at 59.49.

Belle Aire pupils present variety musical offering

The Junior High School auditorium was more than half filled Wednesday night for the variety show presented by sixth grade students of Belle Aire School under the direction of Mrs. Gene Hughes.

The entertainment followed a Patriotic theme, opening with the singing of "God Bless America" and closing with "This Is My Country" by the audience and the 50-voice chorus of boys and girls. The students were dressed in red, white and blue.

One of the features was a two-set square dance by the girls in peasant dresses with high white boots, and the boys in Western regalia. They performed three different numbers.

Six boys, wearing sailor uniforms, sang a song from the light opera, "HMS Pinafore." The performers were John Heinz, Marty Huffman, Keith Hottinger, Mark Yarger, Pat Dunn and Bob Runnels.

An ensemble composed of two boys and 11 girls sang four songs in three-part harmony, and piano solos were presented by Julie Armentrout, Debbie Kingery and Beth Van Meter.

At the close the chorus sang three songs with Diane Stewart taking the solo part. John Hopkins and Richard Witherspoon, on guitars, and Scott Lanum, on drums, provided the accompaniment for some of the numbers.

The stage crew was composed of five high school boys, Dennis Breitigan, Mike Hughes, Mike Turner, Tim O'Flynn and Bruce Stolsenberg. Mrs. Ralph Yerian was the accompanist.

Teachers who assisted Mrs. Hughes were Principal Robert Angus, Mrs. Samuel Sauer, Mrs. Hugh Rea and Mrs. Gene Sagar, the choreographer for the dances.

OCSEA to sue for job rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Service Employes Association said today it will file a suit in the U.S. Supreme Court on behald of a state employe fired because of her political activity.

James Marshall, association executive secretary, said Madonna Potter was fired from her job in the state auditor's office in 1970 for engaging in allegedly illegal political activities.

Marshall said the 34-year-old woman supported Republican Roger Cloud for governor by addressing envelopes for his campaign "in her own home, with her own typewriter, on her own time."

Means tells of Indian despair

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— American Indian Movement leader Russell Means says he recalls his daughter returning from school and asking, "Daddy, where were the Indians when Columbus discovered America?"

The despair that leads to high suicide rates among Indians and such circumstances as at Wounded Knee, S.D., "starts right there," in school, he said Wednesday.

Means told a City Club audience he returned to Cleveland with two objectives:

"To raise funds for our legal defense, and to tell the truth as we know it inside Wounded Knee."

He said the government and the news media presented in occupation of the South Dakota hamlet as an uprising led by outsiders and as Indian-instigated violence.

But Means said the occupation came at the request of local Indians, and that the violence had been precipitated by the government.

Means surrendered to the surrounding army of U.S. marshals earlier this month in return for a meeting with White House officials. But he said that agreement also had been violated in several respects by federal officials, and he told the Clevelanders they could add it to the list of broken treaties between Indians and the United States.

Since his surrender, Means has been treed on $25,000 bond, although he still faces trial on 11 federal charges ranging from burglary and arson to assaulting federal officers.

Means, who spent several years in Cleveland when the AIM headquarters was here, noted that he returned as a celebrity.

"I just think it's sad while I lived here I was ignored, and that violence brought me here to the Cleveland City Club," he said.

Throughout his speech, Means urged white Americans to "find out the truth about Wounded Knee."

"The ignorance of non-Indian people as to what Indian people are all about I think is a shame," he said, adding later that it was also crippling to Indians' spirit.

Referring to a high rate of suicide among Indians, Means said despair begins in school "when you begin to realize your way of life is completely wrong" and that "you should stop being a pagan and a primitive and become a civilized white person."

Means said the federal government "has two choices" at Wounded Knee. Either "they live up to their own laws, or two...they massacre us," he said.

He said the Indians want "our own soverignty as separate nations," a soverignty which he said "has been defined by the Supreme Court of the United States."

"If we lose at Wounded Knee, everybody loses," he said. "If you do not take a very close look at what is happening at Wounded Knee, then you don't know what your country is all about and you don't deserve it."

Extended controls facing disaster?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wages and prices break loose from government controls in 11 days unless Congress can do in one day what it has failed to do in three months.

"We're flirting with disaster," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Wednesday after the Senate killed a parliamentary move on the bill to extend President Nixon's wageprice control authority.

The action came before the Senate recessed until April 30— the day the controls expire—for Easter vacation.

The move rejected by the Senate, 35 to 31, would have sent the bill back to a House-Senate conference committee.

Sen. John J. SParkman, D-Ala., promoted the move after GOP leaders predicted the legislation would lose in the House. All Republicans on the conference committee, except Sen. Robert Packwood of Oregon, refused Tuesday to sign the report recommending that both houses accept legislation extending the President's control authority.

Particularly, the Republicans disliked one provision that would require companies to reveal publicly their justification for raising prices, Proxmire said.

Also attached as riders to the wage-price extension—and objected to by Republicans—were amendments providing the President with authority to ration fuels, and to exempt more working poor from wage controls.

Though the House is in session today, it plans no action on wage-price controls. Anyway, the legislation cannot be sent to the President until the Senate acts on it finally, too.

Thus, the possibility was created that labor and industry would be free of any wageprice limitations May 1, unless the situation can be resolved when both houses return April 30.

The legislation has been moving through the congressional mill since the session began in January.

Problems down on the farm

Meat boycott leaders have generally been at pains to say they have nothing against the farmer, and do not consider him the villain of the piece. The meat price imbroglio has nevertheless placed the farmer in a somewhat brighter spotlight than he is used to.

While he is standing there, perhaps a bit dazzled by the unaccustomed glare, it seems appropriate to note that being a modern tiller of the soil is more complex and problem-filled then most city folks realize. The point is brought home by a dispatch from Iowa State University about a pesky soybean disease.

The soybean has swiftly gained in importance as one of the basic crops in recent years. It is a very important source of high quality protein, much in demand as livestock feed and also for human consumption. Soybean prices have soared. One might therefore suppose that the farmer with a large acreage in this profitable crop would be, to coin a phrase, in clover.

Under the most favorable circumstances this would be so. But consider bug blight, described as follows by Robert Nyvall, extension plant pathologist at Iowa State: "This very destructive disease is caused by tobacco ringspot virus which is most prevalent in the heavy soybean-producing area of the midwestern United States where it appears sporadically in epidemic proportions."

In 1972, for example, the disease occurred in both northern and southern Iowa, with the crop entirely wiped out in some fields. This has led Iowa State plant scientists to undertake an intensive study of bug blight. One objective will be to find whether insects or some other agent transmit the virus.

Completion of the project is expected to take several years. In the meantime, the beleaguered farmer will have to fight bug blight in his soybeans as best he can with whatever weapons are available. Meat boycott or not, life down on the farm is neither easy nor as simple as some people seem to think.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — A strong man wept.

With compassion transcending stale officialdom he had read a report on a village in Bangladesh where unremitting hunger and disease are a sentence of early death and misery on the way to a nameless grave.

The report was written not in the bureaucratese of graphs and statistics but in the personal experience of a condemned people.

So the foreign aid bill will go up to Congress. It will be chivvied at, chipped away, given the disdainful treatment of those who feel that this pitcher has been brought to the well once too often. The folks in Bangladesh, in Chad, in Upper Volta, in Mali, in Mauritania have no votes. They are not constituents.

With so many troubes at home — trade deficits and dollar deficits — the door of public opinion has been slammed shut on foreign aid. We can do it, as one official with the broadest knowledge of the whole aid picture puts it, we have the resources, but we don't want to do it. In short, nobody, or almost nobody, gives a damn.

The United States today is giving .32 per cent of our gross national product to the underdeveloped nations. The average for other advanced Western nations is .485. The American figure is expected to drop in the near future to .24 per cent.

VARIOUS rationalizations are conveniently at hand to salve the conscience. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says the program has become largely military, with economic aid a mere appendage. While this is true in part, at least a strong lead from Congress might turn it around.

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says he would be for multilateral aid with American help funneled through international agenc -, but he is opposed to unilateral aid. Since overwhelming majorities are opposed to turning dollars over to United Nations or other international agencies, this is one way of saying no.

The Agency for International Development (AID) has a stout persuader in John A. Hannah, its director, who was for many years president of Michigan State University. For the past four years he has carried the case to Congress with an ardor that is not diminished by his awareness he is speaking for a faceless people who cast ballots in no American election.

"What kind of world do you want your children or your grandchildren to live in?" he asks. "Don't think you can shut out for all time the 73 per cent of the world's people living below or close to the subsistence line. The Americans' 6 per cent of the world's population must not think that they can go on using anywhere from 35 to 50 per cent of the world's resources. Think of the kind of world your grandchildren will live in, inundated by a tidal wave of poverty driven to despair and open hostility."

Since December, 1971, when Bangladesh, which had been East Pakistan, became independent AID has furnished $367 million. This has come in cash, food under PL 480, medical supplies, coastal vessels to restart trade along the coast and advances to United Nations relief agencies. Loans have come from the World Bank and its adjunct, the International Development Agency.

IN VIEW of the need it is the proverbial drop in the bucket—and particularly in light of the population increase estimated, which is a guess since statistics are dubious, at three per cent a year. That, incidentally, is another out for the skeptics—why try to bail out a leaking ship when water runs in faster than it can be put out? As the Bangladesh report says, the mud huts have no light and so when the sun goes down they have nothing to do but procreate.

Hannah cites five sub-Saharan countries nearly as badly off as Bangladesh. They are Mali, Upper Volta, Mauritania, Chad and Niger. The encroachment of the desert casts a dark pall over the future, with survival in doubt. AID is promoting an experimental program in growing crops in desert sand. And a trickle of PL 480 surplus food is going to these marginal nations and to five others in Africa where existence is also threatened.

To make any headway against this tidal wave of poverty would require strong dramatic leadership from the White House and Congress, a recasting of priorities, a public willingness to sacrifice. All this is nonexistent.

So let's go out and have a big steak for dinner. After all, that great sacrifice of meatless week is over, isn't it?

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

We would like to say thanks to the Dayton Power & Light Co. and to the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for a couple of things.

Last Friday afternoon we experienced a breakdown of both of these services at our office due to an accidental severance of wires. Both companies were on the scene immediately and restored full service to our office even though their men were on the job well after quitting time.

Secondly, we want to express our appreciation for the courtesy with which the call for help was received and carried on by the men on the job.

Guess these are just little things we often overlook but from the top down, these two companies are something the Washington C. H. area can be proud of.

Robert E. Lewis
1017 Clinton Ave.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Not knowing the laws of the press which govern what is printed or published, I hesitated to write this letter.

I have always felt that I could permit my children to read the local family newspaper without fear of their little minds (one 9, the other 12) being infiltrated with trash, or shall we put a fancy name on it, pornography.

If the local news media feel they have to start displaying nude pictures in our local paper then they can come and take down my rural mail box.

If our local paper had enough morals to speak out against the improper display of advertisement in behalf of the local cinema (which didn't last long) then why would a nude picture of a stripper be displayed in our family newspaper? (the reference is to an opera performance in New Orleans).

There is a move across this great land of ours to destroy every good and decent privilege that is God-given. It is high time we awake ourselves and realize just what is taking place in the land of America. God is viewing the scene from His throne in Heaven and one day he is going to rain down fire from Heaven and destroy the whole world. Are you ready to meet him? Are we preparing for death? May God help us all. Faster will soon be here. Why not attend the church of your choice.

So there will be no mystery as to the picture I'm relating to, it was printed on page 9 of Monday's edition. Thank you.

Thoughts on Ellsberg

As the trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo drags on, the prosecution's case appears to become less and less convincing. This no doubt derives in part from heavy reliance on the arguments over "national security" which abounded during the Vietnamese War but now seem so outmoded in light of actual events.

One item of news emerging from the trial, however, has shocked us back into the era of the mid-1960s. This is Ellsberg's testimony that only after visiting Vietnam did he turn from "hawk" to "dove."

The interesting thing about this is that it emphasizes Ellsberg's own participating in formulating war policy. It becomes clear, from his testimony and from his book, "Papers on the War," that Ellsberg - so recently of New Left fame - was in fact intimately involved in the early planning of the war.

Not only did he defend American policy in early teach-ins on the war, but he also was involved in planning some of the clandestine raids - now known as the "34-A operations" - on North Vietnam. Close observers have asserted that it was only after such raids on the North Vietnamese in 1964 that Hanoi dared to attack American ships patrolling offshore. One consequence of this was the notorious Tonkin Gulf incident.

How quickly events move and memories fade. Along with President Johnson, Robert S. McNamara and Dean Rusk, we must place Daniel Ellsberg as one who had a hand in developing and advocating the course of action which later proved so disastrous. His later efforts to alert the public at some danger to his own reputation and security are commendable. They do not wholly cancel out a circumstance of great importance. This is that had Ellsberg and others of like mind not fostered some of the mistakes and deceptions he now condemns, release of the Pentagon Papers might not have been deemed necessary.

Hal Boyle . . . Remarks for widowers

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a widower gets tired of hearing:

"You'll love to meet her, Joe—she's just your type."

"You've got to quit thinking of the past. After all, you're still a young man—comparatively speaking, anyway."

"Why don't you come eat with us tonight, Joe? Me and the missus aren't speaking, and maybe you could help break the deadlock."

"Listen, old pal, will you do a buddy a favor? How about me borrowing your apartment tonight? You could go to the movies or something."

"How's your love life, kid? A guy with his own salary to spend — I'll bet you have to beat them away with a baseball bat."

"You'll thank me later for introducing you to her, Joe. She sews her own clothes and likes opera."

"This is the second time you've had us up here this month, sir. Don't you know you're not supposed to try to flush hot grease and paper towels down the toilet simply because your sink is full of dishes?"

"Did you ever think you might be too particular, Joe? You know you're not getting any younger, and beggars can't be choosers."

"I'd like to go to the poker game with you tonight, Joe, but I can't. My wife and I are celebrating our 20th wedding anniversary."

"You're not the only one who misses her, Mr. Joe. It's so lonely now when I come to clean your apartment. Every minute I still keep expecting to hear her call from another room. She was a real lady."

"I don't blame you for not rushing into another marriage, Joe. I rushed into three of them — and I'll probably die in alimony jail."

"Aw, come on, Joe. Let's stay and have a couple more. You won't get bawled out if you get home late."

"All you've got in your refrigerator is four pounds of hamburger and three packages of cottage cheese. Is that all you ever fix yourself for dinner?"

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dodging the IRS can be taxing

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a very successful business. He is a devoted, faithful husband and a wonderful father. All my friends think I'm the luckiest woman in the world. I would be, if it weren't for the fact that I am terrified that my husband will go to prison for income tax evasion.

He hasn't paid any taxes in six years. At first he really didn't have the money at tax time. The next year he put off filing until it was too late. The third year he didn't need an excuse. Now he says he knows plenty of others who don't pay any taxes, so why should he?

I have talked to him until I'm blue in the face. Now he refuses to even discuss it.

Abby, Iam worried sick that with the new computer system they will soon catch up with him. What can I do?

JANE DOE

DEAR JANE: If you can't talk some sense into his head, confide in your lawyer and ask him to. If he 'fesses up, the penalty will be considerably lighter than if the feds catch him.

DEAR ABBY: Listen to this. A friend of mine is pregnant and some of her friends are getting together to give her a baby shower. This woman is 44 years old, soon to be 45, and she has six children and is a grandmother to boot. (Her oldest is 23 and her youngest is 12.) I say it's ridiculous to give a shower for a woman this age. Some of my friends disagree with me. What do you say?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I see nothing ridiculous about it. On the contrary, I can't think of anyone who could use the lift more.

DEAR ABBY: This letter about "Jane," who was convinced that she should take care of her elderly father has haunted me.

I am 60, and God forbid any of my children should ever have to "take care" of me. I want my children to remember me as a strong person who is capable of taking care of himself. It would present all kinds of problems and I'd feel guilty.

Just give me a room in a good clean nursing home where I can have my own corner, forget responsibility and can be served without feelings that I'm imposing. I don't want to worry about illness, family quarrels, or the grandchildren's grades. I've been through all that. Give me peace.

Don't forget me, though. Call and write now and then. And invite me for Sunday dinner occasionally. Let me entertain you in my room. But please, don't try to "take care" of me. Let me retain some dignity in my old age.

GETTING THERE

DEAR ABBY: You goofed when you referred to the marriage of the 40-year-old nurse to a 22-year-old man as a "May-December" marriage. It's scarcely September for us gals in our forties.

Thought for today: Human nature is not of itself vicious — Thomas Paine, political philosopher and author, 1737-1809.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you hear "The Lone Ranger" on radio these days, don't be alarmed. It's still 1973.

What is happening is an aural time warp caused by Charles Michelson, a New York broadcasting veteran who for eight years has been promoting a gradual mini-boom in radio nostalgia.

He owns the rights to rebroadcast a dozen half-hour radio series that were the real biggies of the 1940s, series like "The Green Hornet," "The Shadow," "Gangbusters" and "Sherlock Holmes."

He began leasing them to stations in 1965 and says the shows now can be heard on more than 400 stations in major, medium and minor markets across the U.S.

Michelson got in the broadcasting business in 1938 as a distributor of the shows that now are his golden oldies. His market went flat in the 1950s with the arrival of television.

He went into television as a buyer of U.S. programs for overseas TV stations. But he kept the 16-inch shellac records on which the words and deeds of Lamont Cranston, Kato and others were preserved.

"We decided around Christmastime in 1964 to throw out these old records," said Michelson, 63. "But just before we did it, I got a little sentimental — it must have been the holiday season — and I said, 'let's see if maybe we can do something with them'."

Whereupon he wrote to friends he'd known for years at 25 key radio stations in the U.S. He proposed a revival of radio's golden days. Twelve said they were interested and he was in business.

But first there was a period of negotiations with the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists. The talks involved fees that would have to be paid the artists on the original radio shows.

"We didn't even have a list of the original actors, anymore," he laughed. "We finally had a committee of actors from the old days come in and listen to the shows and identify the voices."

The necessary fee arrangements were made and he went to work.

Oddly enough, the greatest fans at the start were college students running campus radio stations.

"They looked on this as camp material, you might say," observed Michelson, who says the radio nostalgia market now falls roughly into three categories.

One is the youth market, teen-agers for whom "The Lone Ranger" is something new and exciting. The second is the memory lane market, people who grew up listening to radio. The third is the freeway market, motorists who'd rather hear "Fibber McGee and Molly" than music or news during the rush hour.

Sponsors certain Nixon to sign aid to elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sponsors say they've been assured President Nixon will sign a newly approved package of programs to aid the elderly.

The scaled-down program was approved by the House and Senate in quick succession Wednesday. It was a new version of one Nixon vetoed last year.

The vetoed bill authorized $2 billion for three years. The new version authorizes $543.6 million over three years. The House vote was 348 to 0. The Senate acted by voice vote.

The new version retains most of the programs in the earlier bill—including health, recreation and nutrition—but removes the dollar amounts for funding most of them, leaving it up to the annual appropriation process to fix the amounts.

When the Mothers' Circle met at the home of Mrs. Allen Meyers. Charles Wallace was the guest speaker. Mr. Wallace, a teacher at Miami Trace High School, spoke on the activities of the City Recreation Department of which he is director.

Eyman Park is the center of the summer program with an arts and crafts program conducted every week day he said. Some of the other activities noted were volleyball, softball, basketball, archery, tennis and horseshoe pitching. Mr. Wallace hopes to conduct another 'Fishing Derby' this summer for the younger children.

The Recreation Program is funded by the city, softball leagues and the Eyman Trust Fund. A lengthy discussion was held following the talk on ways to improve the program and increase the participation.

Mrs. Herbert Burton conducted the meeting at which a report on the recent Retreat was made.

Sixteen members were present when plans were made to attend the annual meeting of the Conference for Methodist Women in Springfield May 19.

Plans were completed for the two-day trip to Red Bird Mission, Beverly, Ky., by the girls and women of the church sometime in August. April 26 will be work day at the church, to make chicken pies and noodles to sell for this project. All members were urged to save the items that may be used in the store at the Red Bird and they will be taken on the trip.

The group made a donation to the Fayette County Boys' Choir, of which Don Eyre and Ralph Fast of the Buena Vista community are members.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Donald Rife, using an Easter theme. Mrs. Eugene Eyre and Mrs. Lawrence Newbrey sang a duet with Mrs. Terry Miracle at the piano.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with an Easter motif by Mrs. Harold W. Haines, Mrs. Noah Lee and Mrs. Virgil Hardman. A social hour followed.

Income drop quickly ends 'days of wine and roses'

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Bob Connors used to own a twin-engine, 30-foot boat, buy new cars every other year, and dine out on steak three times a week.

Now, the boat has been sold, they're still driving their 1967 station wagon with 112,000 miles, and a $6 barbercue dinner once a month is a special treat.

Connor, 36, a furniture salesman, father of five children with four teen-agers living at home, had been living the good life and his only thought was that it would get better. But then he lost his job and the subsequent 30 per cent drop in family income disrupted his dreams. Adding to the problem were the rising costs in living and the expensive tastes acquired over the years.

The Connors are facing their first real financial bind.

"I'm desperately concerned," said Connor, a balding man of medium build. "The only thing that keeps me going is that I still have a few years ahead of me and maybe things will pick up for us again."

He used to earn about $19,000 as an assistant manager at a large furniture store in Houston. His wife, Dolores, brought in another $6,000 for secretarial and accounting work.

Their four-bedroom Spanish-style house on the outskirts of Houston is still decorated with touches of their more affluent days. There are several sets of Mediterranean furniture, thick shag rugs and six-foot plastic flowering plants.

"We paid cash for everything and there wasn't anything I couldn't buy if I wanted it," said Dee, a lively, petite blonde. Daughters Nancy, Paula and Theresa took modeling lessons, Jay and Butch were active in the town sports programs. The family exchanged $1,000 worth of gifts at Christmas. The Conners had all they wanted and about two years ago Dee quit her job so she could be home for the children.

Then, last year, Bob left his job for a combination of personal reasons and pressures on his firm due to increased competition. He took another sales position paying about $13,000.

Everything seemed to fall apart at the same time.

There were three operations in the family and $5,000 in medical bills and no insurance to cover them. Payments on the boat, the furniture, the freezer started to pile up. Food prices, taxes, insurance rates all went up as well.

Now, the Connors are several thousand dollars in debt.

In an effort to get clear, Bob sold the boat. "That was so depressing," said Bob grimacing. "I really felt I'd had my day."

The Connors next sold their mutual funds and withdrew all their savings. They applied for two loans, and considered selling the house to move into an apartment. Dee went back to work part time as free-lance secretary and real estate sales person.

The penny-pinching and scraping to get by began.

Dee supported this month's meat boycott, but then the Connors had not been eating much beef the last few months. The huge freezer they still owe money for is empty. Dee used to buy tenderloins for the family for $10. She can't afford to spend that much now, and besides that same cut of beef has gone up to $13. Their grocery bill is about $50 a week, which is about what it was two years ago, says Dee, but then there were steaks in the shopping bags as well.

Family meals consist of lots of chicken, chili, lasagna and spaghetti. Bob has gone from 135 to 170 pounds in the last year. "It's probably because I quit smoking, but it sure must have something to do with all that starchy stuff we have to eat, too."

The Connors talk wistfully about "the good old days" when things were "flush."

"We took a fantastic vacation once to Colorado with the children. We charged everything and had $1,300 in traveler's checks, Now, we can't even afford to go to Corpus Christi," says Dee.

They still have American Express and Carte Blanche charge cards but keep them only for future days. There are no new clothes or spending money for the children, and gone are the days when they could give 14-year-old Butch a custom-made surfboard.

"I consider buying a magazine a form of entertainment," says Dee, who picks up her monthly Cosmopolitan at the stands and has kept up her subscriptions to Reader's Digest, National Geographic, Bon Appetit and Vintage, a gourmet wine magazine to satisfy her epicurean tastes. Dee is fascinated by French wines, knows the best year for Nuits St. Georges, but the only bottle on the kitchen shelves now is Italian Swiss Colony for cooking.

Dee, a smart dresser, is partial to name designers for herself and her daughters, one of whom made the best-dressed list at school. She was used to spending several thousand on clothes but today she can't remember when she last bought a dress.

Both Dee and Bob have to drive more than a half hour to work. Keeping up the station wagon and the 1970 Pontiac is an $80 month expense they have to cope with. But they have started to use the self-service gas stations. A gallon of gas is 10 cents cheaper there.

Some pleasures are hard to give up, no matter what the cost. "We bought a dog the children all loved only to discover it was allergic to fleas," said Dee. "Well, you don't just get rid of the dog. So we have to spend about $30 for cortisone shots twice a year."

It's important to Dee to look good. "You've got to present yourself well to the world. I don't want to look like some tacky, dumb housewife and no matter how tough things get, I won't give up my make-up and false eyelashes."

Dee easily spent $40 a month for bleaching her hair, but has been using that money to pay off the furniture. She wears wigs every day so she doesn't have to go to the beauty parlor for a set. There was a time when she owned about 20 wigs, but they've long since been sold and she's down to three.

"What I miss most," said Dee, "is not being able to go into a department store and buy what I want. Once if I saw a beautiful set of crystal glasses, I just handed the saleslady $100 and walked out with a box. I haven't bought anything that wasn't an absolute necessity in months."

Bob says he'd really like to have his own furniture store some day. But that requires lots of capital. For a time the Connors considered selling their house for $30,000, but Dee was reluctant.

"It's the only thing we have. It's our only security. What if the new business didn't work out? Then where would we be?"

Slate production of electric cars

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Aronson, a Detroit inventor, says he hopes next fall to begin producing a four-passenger electric car for the American automobile market.

Aronson says he is negotiating with two Michigan firms to produce 100 of his X-144 Electricars a month starting in September. The inventor claims he already has 1,000 orders, including some from the Avis car rental concern.

"Avis is going to be renting my cars in Chicago and Milwaukee as soon as they're ready," he said.

Electricar carries a $3,950 price tag and will combine the body of an American Motors subcompact Gremlin with Aronson's patented lead cobalt battery power source.

Aronson says the car can be operated from batteries charged by ordinary household electric current for only one cent a mile. He says this compares to about three cents a mile for gas-burning cars.

The Electricar has no exhaust emissions. Aronson says it cruises at 65 miles per hour and can run up to 100 miles on an overnight charge of household current costing about 40 cents.

"We feel every family should have two cars — a gas car for long trips and an electric car for town shopping," he said. "Since we don't have that many charge stations around yet, we're not expecting to replace the internal combustion car for long trips."

Quick booster charges from special stations would be required for trips longer than 100 miles. Boosters were installed in a string of Holiday Inns between Detroit and Chicago for a 1970 cross-country electric car race won by one of Aronson's cars.

"We're not interested in making bodies and chassis, because too many people already do that too well," Aronson said. "Eventually we hope to supply our propulsion system to the big automakers, instead of their supplying us the bodies."

About 60 Electricars already are on the road. They were hand-built at Aronson's Electric Fuel Propulsion Corp. office in suburban Ferndale.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I bought a cabinet second-hand and attempted to take off the old varnish finish, since I wanted to refinish it. I put on a good quality varnish remover and, after it softened the finish, scraped and scraped.

A lot of old varnish came off, but there's still plenty of it on. I can't even see any of the bare wood. It seems to me there must have been half a dozen coats of varnish there originally and apparently I got off only one or two of them.

I'd like to know whether repeating the whole operation will help any or would I be wasting my time and money?

A. — Yes, repeat the entire process. But this time don't do any scraping until you have determined that all or most of the varnish will come off. First, after applying the varnish remover generously, wait at least 30 minutes before you touch it.

Then scrape a bit in just one area of the wood. If you see that all of the varnish is not going to yield to your efforts, apply another coat of the remover right on top of the first one.

Wait another 30 minutes, then scrape. The chances are most or all of the old finish will disappear.

But if it doesn't, you'll just have to repeat the project a third time. If you get off most of the varnish, you may find that the rest of it will give way with a vigorous sanding, using a paper with a heavy grit.

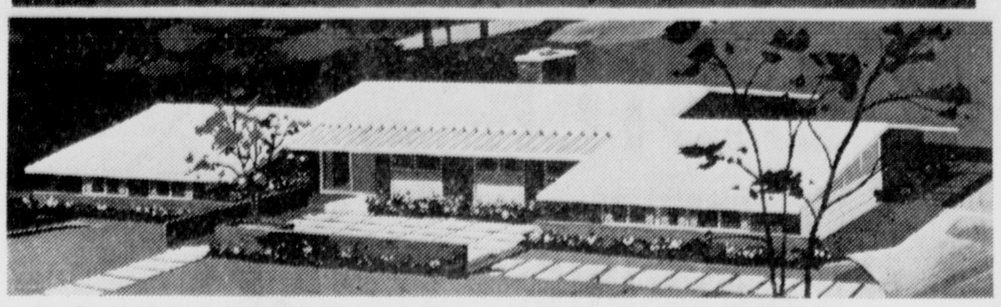

Q. — I have to attach some 2 by 4s to a concrete wall. Can I use concrete nails and is there any special way of hammering them so they won't bend?

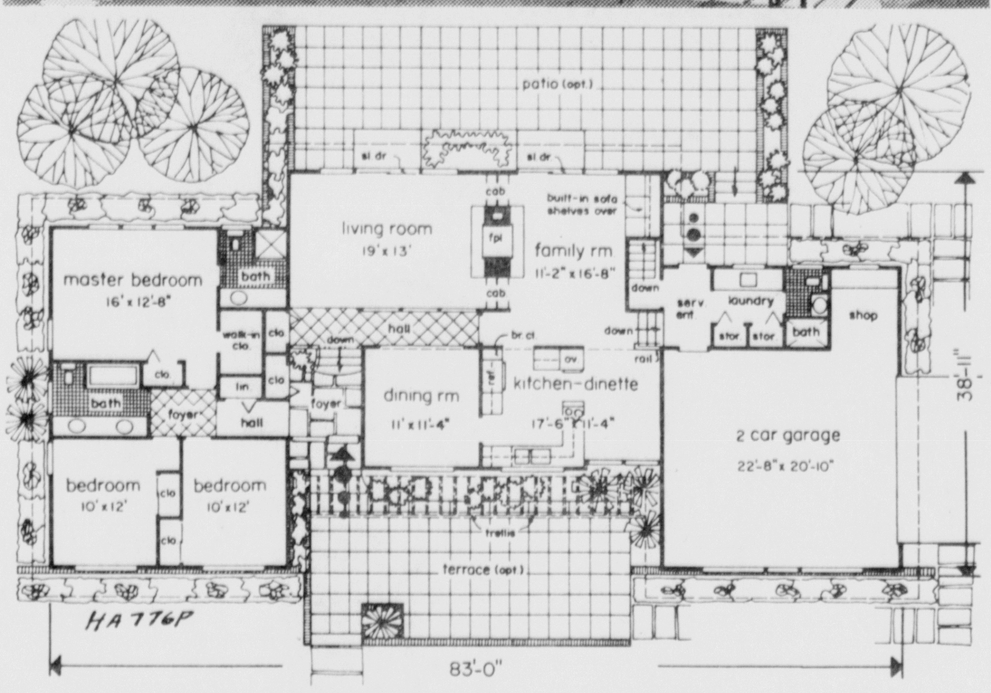

A. — Concrete nails can be used on most concrete walls. They are driven into the 2 by 4s and then into the wall. You won't be able to tell their effectiveness by testing them by driving a couple into the wall without the wood, because they will bend quickly.

But the fact that most of a nail is in the wood before it hits the concrete usually will prevent it from bending. Sometimes, however, you will strike a spot or even an entire wall which will resist all your efforts.

You can rent a tool for driving concrete nails or attach the studs with a special adhesive.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

TRADITION OF THE PRAIRIE HOUSE — This exciting low ranch with wide sheltering roofs and broad overhangs makes the statement: exterior space around the perimeter is vital to the function and beauty of the spaces inside. Main living zones are distinctly defined, assisted by a subtle change in level. The off-set, three-bedroom wing has its own circulation foyer converted to the main foyer by a hall. The activity areas are further subdivided into the formal living and dining rooms and kitchen, dinette and family room. The utility spaces consist of two-car garage, shop and laundry with adjacent bath. Samuel Paul, 107-40 Queens Blvd., Forest Hills, N.Y. 11375, designed Plan HA776P, 1,810 square feet in area. ON THE HOUSE

Any home handyman knows that no matter how many power tools he has in his workshop, there are certain basic hand tools which must always be kept on hand.

One of these is the hacksaw, used principally for cutting metal. Although in many cases it may not be used more than four or five times a year, it is well worth its moderate cost when those occasions arise.

Adeptness in using the ordinary crosscut saw for wood is no guarantee of equal skill in manipulating a hacksaw. For one thing, the hacksaw is held and used hortzontally, whereas a crosscut saw is pushed and pulled at a decided angle. Also, a crosscut saw may be used on a piece of wood held in place with one hand and a knee, while a hacksaw should be used only on a piece of metal clamped in a vise or otherwise solidly secured.

HACKSAW BLADES are placed into metal frames, preferably adjustable to take blades of different sizes. The blades are rated by their pitch, a technical word that refers to the number of teeth per inch.

A blade with a pitch of 18 has 18 teeth per inch. For general use, the pitches range from 14 to 32. Those with 14 and 18 teeth per inch work best on the heavier metals, those with larger pitches are recommended for tubing and thin metals.

When a blade is inserted into a frame, the teeth should point away from the handle. In using, place one hand on the handle and one hand at the part of the frame the farthest away from you. Apply light pressure on the forward stroke with light materials, heavier pressure on heavy materials. Remember that the cutting is done only on the forward stroke, so release the pressure entirely as you bring back the saw.

Try to get into some kind of rhythm so that you take long, even strokes, bringing all or most of the blade's teeth into contact with the metal.

A HACKSAW blade sometimes will break — and there are at least a dozen reasons why it does so. The most common is that the tension on the blade was too tight to too loose. When you place the blade in the frame, tension is created by turning a wingnut.

The nut should be turned clockwise until it is fairly tight. Giving it one extra turn to make it even tighter may create too much tension. And there won't be enough tension if the wingnut isn't reasonably tight. If you begin cutting and the blade begins to bend, it means there isn't enough tension.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

In a cardboard box 16 inches long, nine inches wide and 1½ inches tall you can get a complete garden that will provide you with fresh vegetables or flowers all season long.

From the folk who last year produced the (Jiffy) Head Starter tiny greenhouse comes a new garden kit. Grandma's Flower Garden has 24 peat pellets, 4 plastic growing trays and 10 different varieties of easy-to-grow seeds — zinnia, cosmos, celosia, moss rose, sweet alyssum, bachelor button, flowering tabacco, marigold, labelia and spider plant.

Gourmet Vegetable Garden has 10 kinds of vegetable seeds. Or you can get a Preseeded Garden Series, each kit containing 6 peat pellets in a pastic tray. You can have a choice of alyssum, marigolds, zinnias, peppers, tomatoes and cherry tomatoes.

All you do is add water, later thin out and sink the little pot in the garden when the weather is warm.

It should add to your pleasure to know that the kits are assembled by mentally handicapped people in an Illinois institution, providing the first pay checks for most. A booklet on growning and arranging flowers is included.

GRANDMA'S GARDEN

"Since trees don't have a mouth, much less a tongue to tuck a thermometer under, we measure how fast the tree breathes in air and gives off oxygen," says plant pathologist John H. Hart of Michigan State University.

Respiration, or breathing, to a tree is like temperature to a human. Something is wrong if the rate of respiration goes up.

The fungus causing Dutch elm disease gives off a toxic compound Hart relates. When a tree is infected, its respiration rate goes way up before visible signs of wilting appear. Another sickness indicator is how much water the tree loses into the atmosphere.

"Elm trees begin to lose water every soon after the fungus invades them," Hart explained. "Major losses occur when visible signs of the disease appear. In fact, the wilting and dead leaves are directly due to the water shortages."

Michigan home owners in a few years should be able to replace stricken elms with a disease-resistant elm variety. An MSU breeding project begun in 1969 is expected to produce a suitable variety that resists the fungus disease that nearly wiped out southern Michigan's older elm population.

One type, the Siberian elm, resists the disease but tends to break down during ice storms and hasn't the big leaves or fine shape of the American elm.

The forestry department is screening 600 elm samples from 200 countries, including Bulgaria, Siberia and Japan.

AN UNUSUAL item is Vegetable Gourd, 4-5 inch with flavor and keeping quality of winter squash. May be left in arrangement with other gourds until you are ready to eat it. May be stuffed with meat and baked as a pepper. From Park Seeds, Greenwood, S.C.

The hake, a family of marine fish closely related to the cod, is a source of annoyance to salmon fishermen because of net damage.

Trees Can't Say Ah

They're taking the temperatures of trees infected with Dutch elm disease to determine how they react to the ailment.

Ohio firm finds money in quietness

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—Noise pollution has turned into big business for a Mentor company which supplies the polyurethane foam Detroit automakers use to keep their cars whisper quiet inside.

The one-year-old firm, Preform Sealants, Inc., expected to gross up to $200,000 in 1972 after it opened its doors in August, according to President John R. Humphrey.

"But we did better than $200,000 in September and October alone," he said.

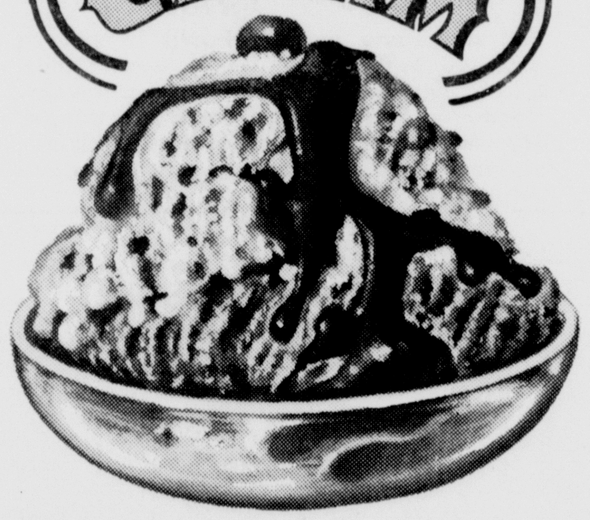

Among the company's customers so far are American Motors and General Motors, which fills all of its sound-absorbing foam needs from Preform Sealants.

"No one else has been interested in making this," said Humphrey, who expects to build the firm into a $5 million concern within a few years. "They've felt there wasn't any money in it, I hope they don't change their minds."

The plant currently employs 15 people, and Humphrey said he provided a plant manager this week because "things were just getting too much for me to handle by myself."

Executive job applicants do poor homework

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The executive job market is booming again, with perhaps 5,000 new openings a month in the $15,000 and up category, but a lot of applicants are writing themselves into the discard heap.

These otherwise accomplished executives haven't mastered the simple art of writing a resume that will give the facts clearly and concisely, says William Breitmayer, who scans thousands each month.

About 15 per cent of those received by Breitmayer, president of Executive Register, "are messy and illegible, are shoddy quality machine copies, or simply are so poorly written that even we can't make head or tail of them."

It's understandable, says Breitmayer, whose company computer processes the applications for its corporate clients, that an executive, like anyone else, would find it awkward to write about himself.

"When a successful person severs relations with a company it's like a divorce, even if he initiated the action. He feels on the defensive and he doesn't present his best. He finds it difficult to tell a straightforward story."

The same curious phenomenon has been observed elsewhere, too. When 40-plus clubs were formed in 1970 to help find jobs for idle executives aged 40 or more, it was found that resumes were one of the major obstacles.

It was discovered that men and women who were masters in dictating business letters to secretaries were helpless when it came to writing objective reports on their own careers, especially without a secretary's aid.

Since Breitmayer, whose headquarters are in New Canaan, Conn., with offices in New York and San Francisco, makes his living by supplying computerized data on executives to his corporate clients, he would just as soon not have to toss away several hundred resumes each month. And so he sets some guidelines:

—The first item should be a brief, personal sketch that gives the reader a feeling of knowing a little bit about you. Include date and place of birth, marital status, children, address, telephones, height, weight, health, foreign languages.

—The second item should be your educational background, with the names of each institution attended, majors studied, and the date each should use no more than one-third of the first page.
first page.

—Provide specific details on your career, starting with your present or most recent position and concentrating on the most recent 10 years.

List the name of the company, and the city and state where employed. Describe your responsibilities in each job clearly, showing the chain of command through which you reported as well as functions reported to you.

Figures on the size of the company and your part of it, including sales, numbers of units or people, will help give weight to your story. Give the specifics, but keep it brief and stick to the main points.

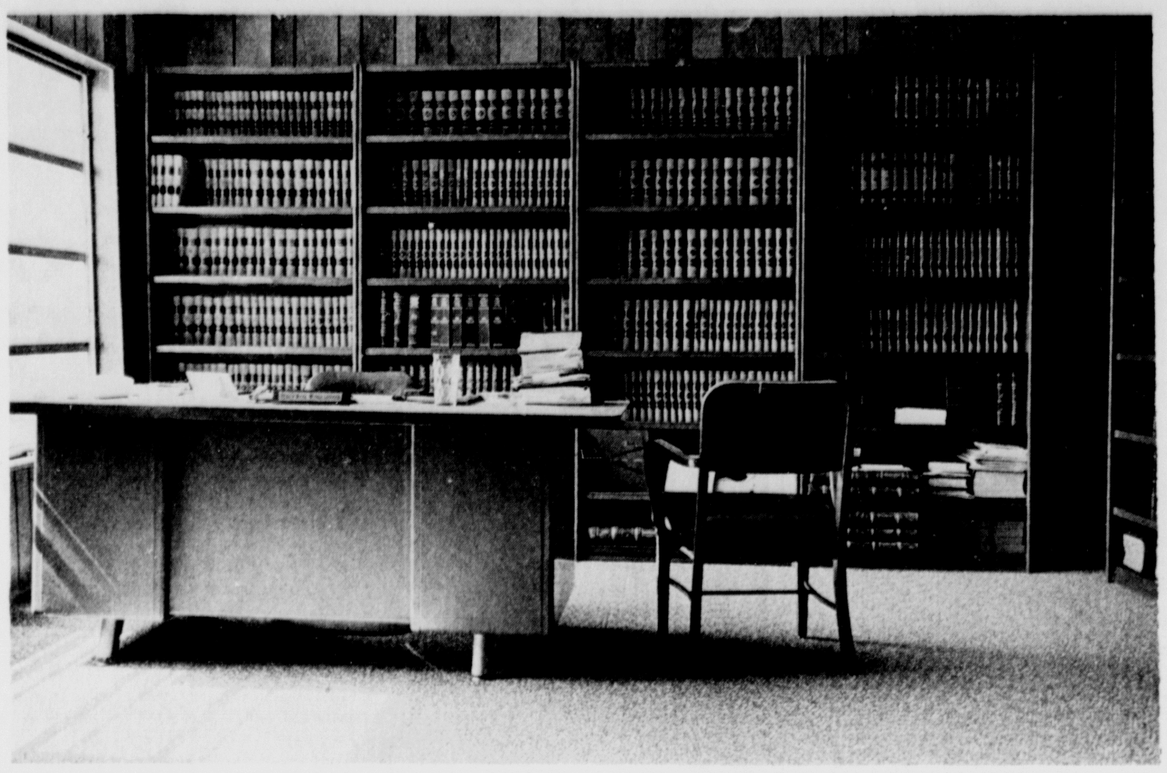

An employer is interested only in the "what" of your jobs, not in your own qualitative judgment of how well you did them. Try not to force your words. Be straightforward, and let the reader decide for himself.

—Speak for yourself. Resumes produced by resume writing firms fall into a set pattern which is recognized and downgraded by employers. Since you pay their bill, resume writers describe your virtues too extravagantly.

—Reproduce your resume professionally. Don't try to save money by typing your own resume or by using carbon copies or cheap machine reproductions. Have it typed professionally and reproduced on offset.

Don't crowd the page but use enough white space so that it can be read easily and quickly. Underline titles and company names. Use short sentences and paragraphs.

Remember that you want the reader to say: "This person has put together a simple and clear statement of what he has done, and where and how he has done it. Therefore, he must also be well organized and effective."

NEW JUDICIAL CHAMBERS — City workmen recently completed remodeling of the former fire chief's office on the second floor of the City Building, converting it into a new office for Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner. The office was moved into the room adjoining the old chambers to alleviate the crowded conditions in the clerk of courts office. The clerk's office will be expanded after some remodeling into the former judge's chambers.

Crackdown set on calls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Bell Telephone Co. announced Wednesday it is getting tough with college students who give false credit card numbers to make long distance calls.

Until now the company has merely asked for payment and has not prosecuted youths making such calls, an Ohio Bell spokesman said, because of the "permanent damaging effect a conviction for fraud would have on their future careers."

But the decision to crack down was made because the practice has been growing, the spokesman said.

He said about $5,000 worth of illegal phone calls are made each month from the Ohio State University campus in Columbus and about $25,000 a month around the state.

Persons convicted of using false credit card numbers could be jailed for up to six months and fined up to $500.

Oberlin's litter battle goes well

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — This northern Ohio city's year-old fight against the litter of nonreturnable drink containers is going well, reports City Manager Thomas Dalton.

Oberlin prohibited the sale or possession of non-returnable beer and soft drink containers about a year ago. Since then the city has required separation of paper from other trash, and has encouraged keeping glass and metal separate as well.

"You obviously see much fewer cans strewn about the streets," said Dalton. "The concensus of downtown merchants is that they see less and less of the metal and glass, and the trash just tends to be paper.

Dalton said the paper program made money, but the glass and metal program lost money.

"Overall," he said, "we're just about breaking even."

Paper, metal and glass are sold for recycling. Profit or loss is measured against the cost of collecting the trash items.

He said "some can people" conducted a study here recently and found results in their favor.

The single store which had a problem because of the ordinance now feels sales are back to normal, Dalton said. That one, a convenience grocery, sold 3.2 beer and felt the quantity didn't warrant handling returnable bottles. It dropped the beer.

Bundles of paper are picked up the same day as general rubbish, but a separate truck is used. Then the paper is sold. Separation is mandatory, and Dalton says about 50 per cent observe the ordinance. He also says this is high compliance.

But, the glass and metal separation is a voluntary matter, and Dalton said it is more of a problem for the city as well as for its residents.

They must store the glass until trucks come around twice a month, for instance. And being breakable, it is a handling problem for the pickup crew, he said.

That program, Dalton says, "is in the red," but the paper project "is more than breaking even." The money is pumped back into the program—recycling the cash.

2 apartment buildings damaged by fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Fire destroyed two apartment buildings under construction on Columbus' far east side Wednesday night, and the state fire marshal's office was asked to investigate the possibility of arson.

Damage was estimated at $75,000. Fire officials said the blaze apparently started in the interior of one of the buildings.

Ancient city of Anshan could change history books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio State University anthropologist says his discovery of the ancient city of Anshan in southwestern Iran disproves the theory that Mesopotomia was the exclusive location of early Near Eastern urban civilization.

Dr. William M. Sumner said his excavations show the city existed as far back as 3,000 to 3,200 B.C.

This is about the same time, Sumner said, attributed to the first cities in Mesopotomia, an area in the lower valley of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers.

"Anshan is as old as Mesopotomia," Sumner said. "Whether it is older we won't know until we make further digs."

Anshan is about 700 miles from Mesopotomia.

Sumner said material he has found at Anshan indicates the city had "contact and trade with other cities, probably including Mesopotomia.

"Mesopotomia was a resource-starved area," he said. "Just rivers and clay. They needed to be provided with stone and wood to build with. There was plenty of wood and stone in Anshan, which is located in the Zagros Mountains."

Sumner believes the city was abandoned in the first or second century A.D. He thinks the population ranged from 10,000 to 30,000.

Sumner discovered Anshan in 1967 while doing research work for his doctorate degree. He returned in 1971 for a month of excavation, dug for two more months last year and plans to return in the fall of 1974 for several more months of work.

Eagleton rips U. S. bombing

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, DMo., attacked President Nixon's Asian policies Wednesday, charging that the Cambodian bombing has "some of the earmarks" of the initial U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

During a news conference at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport, and again in a speech on the Elyria campus of Lorain Community College, Eagleton attacked the bombing as "without a legal or constitutional basis."

Complaining that the bombing has drawn little attention, The Missouri senator said "I see no resolve in Congress to terminate the U.S. presence in Southeast Asia. I don't detect the will either in Congress or in the people at large."

Eagleton praised President Nixon for his order suspending oil imports. He said he favors increased importation of oil but recognizes that "there are great foreign policy questions. If we become over-dependent on Mideast oil we will have some national security or defensive implications that will be quite serious."

Eagleton had appearances scheduled today in Akron and Cleveland.

Athens police chief demoted to captain

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Capt. Ted Jones has been named acting Athens police chief following the demotion of Charles Cochran to captain because of an incident last week in which he wrecked his unmarked cruiser.

Following a week of administrative hearings, Mayor Donald Barrett demoted Cochran for taking a city vehicle out of the city without authorization on April 10 when the collision occurred.

Pen pal wedding also 1st meeting

By WILLIAM R. RUMBLER
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "I've told myself at times that this is crazy and that I can't go through with it, but I will," says Ron Word.

The 26-year-old productions engineer leaves May 3 for the Philippines to marry a pen pal he has never met.

Word has been exchanging letters and recording tapes with 20-year-old Grace Darlene Torralba for 18 months. They also have exchanged photographs of each other, but attempts to make connections by telephone have failed.

"About last December we found we cared for each other more than friendship," Word said of his fiancee, a medical student at the Nagaview campus of Philippine Union College. Her hometown is Legazpi, a small community on the main island of Luzon.

"Never having met is kind of foolish," Word said, adding that at first he was uncertain about the marriage plans.

However, he said his conviction was strengthened by the responses of his parents and friends.

Word said his parents "were surprised, but surprisingly happy. My mother is worried about the cost (for travel) but that was the only objection."

Word "met" his future wife through a pen pal advertisement. He described their relationship as "very compatible." He said he admires her intellectual development, her beliefs "and her over-all attitude. She has a curiosity about everything, a desire for knowledge."

He described himself as having the same traits.

Snow, rain cover much of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow whitened parts of the Rockies and rain splashed into areas east of the Mississippi Valley today as mild temperatures covered most of the nation.

Up to 6 inches of snow fell on sections of Wyoming through Wednesday and more snow piled up today in the northern and southern Rockies.

Heavy-snow warnings and travel advisories were posted in parts of the Northern Plains and much of the northern and central Rockies.

Thunderstorms which spread across the Plains from Nebraska to Texas spawned a number of tornadoes Wednesday. No extensive damage was reported and the rains subsided early today.

Rain showers, with snow in the mountains, also pelted the Pacific Northwest and the Great Basin and light rains fell from the Mississippi to the Atlantic Coast, sparing New England.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 20 at Evanston, Wyo., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Student aid bill passes Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — College students would be eligible for $872 million in federal aid to help them attend school if an emergency money bill gets presidential approval.

The bill, passed by Congress Wednesday, would direct President Nixon to continue the existing student aid programs instead of putting most of the money into a new one, as he had requested.

The $872 million for student aid is the same amount Nixon requested, but the bill provides only $122 million for the new basic grant program instead of the $622 million asked.

The Senate originally voted to raise the money for the new program to $385 million, but in conference with the House the higher figure was dropped in favor of the House version.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., who originally proposed the new program, objected strongly to the conference agreement but accepted it because of what he said was the urgent need of the colleges to know what financial aid will be available for students now applying for the fall term.

Pell said the allocation of funds in the bill would "destroy much of the effectiveness of the new program" for this year. He voiced hope Congress would greatly increase the funds for it in the fiscal 1974 budget, in which Nixon requested $959 million.

He succeeds Donald B. Laws in the $20,500-a-year job, effective May 1.

Little girl dies from inhaling Aerosol vapor

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Five-year-old Marcia Overfield, who had been in a coma for six days, died late Wednesday night in Hillcrest Hospital.

The child was found unconscious in her bedroom last Thursday with an aerosol can of medicated vaporizer nearby. Her physician, Dr. Eugene J. Weber said she apparently was suffering from toxic effects of the gaseous propellant in the aerosol can.

The coroner will rule.

Marcia's father, Ronald L. Overfield, said the family has used the decongestant for years. He said he found his daughter lying face down on her bed.

A handkerchief found nearby had been moistened with the spray, he said.

The child's heart had stopped but she was revived when she was admitted to the hospital.

An official of ChesebroughPonds, Inc., of Greenwich, Conn., which makes the vaporizer under the trade name Pertussin, said the container carries instructions that the spray is to be directed away from the user's face and that if used properly it is not hazardous.

A spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration said also the product is considered safe when used as recommended.

Overfield is curriculum director for Mayfield schools. He and his wife have two other daughters, 10 and 13.

Allergies from Fibre Glass

While sewing some curtains made out of fibre glass I developed a terrible itch and irritating redness of the hands.

Is it possible for someone to be allergic to this kind of material?

Mrs. H.H., Ind.

Dear Mrs. H.:

It is, of course, possible to be allergic to fibre glass as it is to almost every conceivable substance. The likelihood, however, is greater that tiny glass particles become embedded in your skin and caused the redness, the swelling, and the itching. This is not unusual.

Great care must be taken in handling this material while sewing or laundering, in order to prevent this reaction.

Dr. Robert R. Tomkins, of Camp Hill, Pa., has devised a simple way to remove particles of fibre glass. He uses nonallergic adhesive tape and applies it to the skin area that has been exposed to fibre glass material.

The tape is left on for 20 minutes to allow the fibre glass to become firmly embedded in the tape. When the tape is removed a soothing cortisone ointment is applied. The treatment is repeated if necessary.

Can stones be removed from the bladder without surgery?

Mr. T. E., R.I.

Dear Mr. T.:

Stones composed of calcium of uric acid and other minerals occasionally form in the urinary bladder.

Chronic infection of the urinary bladder, known as cystitis, may produce stones as large as a plum. Sometimes a small stone may pass from the kidney into the bladder, and there create further enlargement of the stone.

In older people, with problems of the prostate, urine may stagnate in the bladder because it is not completely emptied. This is another cause for stone formation.

There are no chemical ways to dissolve these stones. They are removed by opening surgically the bladder.

Another method, known as lithopaxy, breaks up the stones into small fragments which are then emptied out of the bladder. This is performed with a cystoscope which, too, is a surgical procedure.

Once these stones are removed, the reason for their formation must be found in order to avoid recurrence.

I have two sebaceous cysts on my scalp. Can these become cancerous?

Miss A. B., Fla.

Dear Miss B.:

These cysts, sometimes known as wens, occur on the scalp, but are also found on other parts of the body.

The never become cancerous. They are not dangerous. They can become troublesome if infected. Then they are more difficult to remove. For this reason it is wise to have these cysts removed promptly.

Bicycle club stresses safety

By JACK SOMMERS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Two Fayette County girls picked up many new ideas at Buckeye Recreation Workshop in Coshocton last week. Patty Pollard and Brenda Coe reported that Buckeye Recreation Workshop was a "great experience." Through the workshop the girls learned new crafts, games and dances that will be used in the 1973 4-H Camping Program.

The girls said they enjoyed the chance to share ideas with new friends from all over Ohio. They were sponsored by the Ohio 4-H Foundation and the Fayette County 4-H Committee.

Cathy Massie, 4-H program assistant, reports that "Bucky the Bicycle" had an enjoyable visit at the Home Show. "Bucky," with the help of his hidden assistant, talked with many of the Home Show visitors.

He emphasized bicycle safety and encouraged youngsters to join the 4-H bicycle program this summer.

"4-H Bicycle clubs," Bucky explained, "can help boys and girls learn how to take care of their bikes, be safe on the streets, and have fun too!" For information on joining a bicycle club, call the County Extension Office, 335-1150.

Food, fixins and fellowship are available at the Wayne Progressive Farmers' annual fish fry Friday. The Progressive Farmers 4-H Club will serve a tasty meal and give talks an opportunity to remake old acquaintances.

The fish fry is from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 20, at Wayne Hall in Good Hope. The income, $1.50 for adults and $1 for children, will help the club support their many community service activities.

Two important events for 4-H'ers taking livestock projects are planned next week. First, on Thursday, April 26, 7:30 to 9 p.m., a Lamb and Pig Selection Clinic is planned at the fairgrounds. Members will pick up some useful information to select and plan their 1973 project.

The second event is the Shepherds' Club Lamb Auction at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 28, at the fairgrounds. Over 150 quality lambs have been consigned by lamb producers. The sale provides a good place for 4-H'ers to see some outstanding prospects. The sale is sponsored by the Fayette County Shepherds' Club.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Commerce Director Dennis Shaul clamped a 60-day suspension on the Shaker Heights Teachers Credit Union, Inc., Wednesday for "unsafe and unsound" operations.

Ex-convict active state senator

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ten years ago, John Scott Ulm walked out of the Colorado State Reformatory at Buena Vista and flaunted tradition.

"I broke an old rule which says if you look back you'll go back," Ulm recalls. "But I looked back at the place and vowed I would never go back."

He had $15 in his pocket and a train ticket to his home in Independence, Kan.

Today, the 30-year-old Democrat from Tucson is serving his first term as an Arizona state senator.

An outspoken legislator, Ulm fought unsuccessfully against Senate passage of a bill to restore capital punishment, describing it as "a move to return to barbarism."

But he says he has no special grievance against law and order legislation.

"The same laws that got me into trouble also protect me, but I'm not willing to hand over all power to the police," he said during an interview on Monday.

Ulm said he was forced into marriage at the age of 18 while still a senior in high school at Independence and had to combine his studies with a job to support his family.

Ulm went on to the University of Kansas, but the marriage broke up by the time he finished his sophomore year.

He moved to Greeley, Colo., and ran afoul of the law there while working as a disc jockey, Ulm said.

"During that period of emotional pressures I wrote checks that bounced and then wrote more to cover them," he said.

Sentenced to a term of 1-20 years, he was released after serving nine months.

Unable to find a job in Independence, he moved to Topeka.

Ulm met his second wife, Jeanette, there while attending night classes at Washburn University. They moved on to Tucson and now have a son, Mark, 5, and a daughter, Leslie, 4.

Urged by friends last year to run for the senate, Ulm asked for a Colorado pardon. It was granted before he ran and he won with 70 per cent of the vote.

He said his past was raised only once during the campaign, during an interview in the staunchly Republican Sierra Vista area.

FHA members return from state meeting

Sixteen members of the Miami Trace Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America have just returned from the 1973 FHA state meeting. They, along with approximately 4,000 other delegates from the state, participated in many educational, involvement, and motivational activities at Veteran's Memorial on April 13 and 14 in Columbus.

Four Miami Trace girls, Miracle Florea, Pam Woods, Patsy Gibson, and Brenda Finley, received their state FHA degrees. Brenda was also an applicant for a state FHA scholarship. Represented by Becky Davis, the local chapter won the Award of Merit for Excellence in Program Planning. Phyllis Hunt served as a hostess for Friday evening, and Teresa Jordan sang in the 200-voice state FHA chorus.

Debbie Frazier is a candidate for a national FHA office and Sandi Kellenberger was a candidate for a state office. Voting delegates for South II region from Miami Trace were Diane Burke, Lu Ann Cornell, Vickie Parks, and Anita Hill. They voted for the re-establishment of the state's districts, for the vice president from this region, and for the state president.

Debbie Summers, Diane Gerber, and Pam Prater attended as guests. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Robert Frazier and Mrs. Kenneth Summers, chapter mothers, and by Mrs. Mary Myers and Mrs. Nancy Davis, FHA advisors.

DEBBIE FRAZIER

MTHS student candidate for national post

Debbie Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazier, of New Holland, has been selected as candidate for national historian of the Future Homemakers of America.

Chosen on the basis of a written application and personal interview with the state officers and their advisors, Debbie will represent Ohio at the National convention in Dallas, Tex., in July. There she will compete against representatives of four other central states.

Patty Douce Janes (Mrs. Jack Janes) was vice-president of the central region in 1966-67.

KATHY WOODFORK

CHARLOTTE RADCLIFFE

Seniors of week

Kathy Woodfork, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodfork of Bloomingburg, is having a very active senior year. Her many activities include being a cheerleader, treasurer of student council, secretary of South Central Ohio League Student Council secretary of senior choir, treasurer of the Library Club, and having a part in the spring musical. She is also a member of AFS, GAA, and the Youth Against Cancer Society.

In what little spare time she has, Kathy enjoys coin collecting, stamp collecting, and music.

In the near future Kathy plans to attend Nationwide School of Beauty and Fashion. Later she wants to study for a career in music.

"I'm happy to be a senior because I feel I will have soon completed my task. I have enjoyed my years at Miami Trace, but I will miss my friends and teachers," is the answer Charlotte Radcliffe gave when asked how it felt to be a senior.

Charlotte enjoys playing records and watching all kinds of sports. At school she is a member of Future Homemakers and is a library worker.

Her future plans are to make a career in the navy.

District FHA meeting held

By KATHY COTTRILL

A District rally of FHA was held recently at Greenfield McClain High School. The theme of the rally was "Together We Can Make It . . ."

The Miami Trace chapter presented the roll call. The girls listened to several reports and enjoyed skits put on by other area chapters. Revernd Ted Cano, a native of Honduras, gave an interesting talk about his country. He included slides and trays of native food in his presentation.

The Peebles chapter gave the Degree Ceremony. Miami Trace members who received their chapter degrees were Sue Penwell, Susan Coates, Nancy Crabtree, Teresa Jordan, and Phyllis Hunt. Each girl received a silver spoon pin.

New officers for 1973-74 were installed. Susan Coates will represent Miami Trace as parliamentarian. This year Debbie Summers has served as district news reporter.

Fayette County gets gas money

Municipalities in Fayette County have received $9,427 in gasoline taxes for April, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. The total distribution for the state was $8,880,353.

The distribution to municipalities in Fayette County included Washington C.H., $8,153; Bloomingburg, $564; Jeffersonville, $550; Milledgeville, $114; New Holland (Fayette County section) $28, and Octa, $18.

Each of the 88 counties received $30,000 while the 1,320 townships each received $1,200.

The municipalities shared in a total of $4,656,353 on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

Gasoline tax revenues must be used only for road, street and bridge maintenance and repair.

Creative anachronism group harkens to Medieval times

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The clang of sword-smitten armor is wafting across suburban California backyards.

Knights in homemade armor with wooden swords and shields are part of the monthly revels of the Society for Creative Anachronism, devoted to things medieval.

Each member of the group has a title and a coat of arms.

And, said Lady Cheryl of Castlwhyte, "everyone brings a medieval-style sack lunch—like meat, cheeses, bread. And everybody brings their own wine. We stress mead."

She explained that mead is a fermented drink which includes honey, and is much favored by slayers of dragons.

Lady Cheryl spends most of her time as Cheryl White, wife of 20th century plumber David White. The couple hosted the latest revel for about 35 persons last weekend in their backyard.

White is the local chapter's "senseschal," or head of the shire. And the Sacramento area is known as the Shire of the Golden Rivers of the West Kingdom.

"A revel starts about one in the afternoon and may go until three in the morning," Mrs. White said during an interview Tuesday.

"If someone joins just for the socializing, they usually don't stay with it. You have to get involved or you just get lost."

Members say the society began in Berkeley, Calif., about seven years ago with a gathering of medievalists in a backyard. The group claims 3,500 members nationwide with a $4 annual membership fee.

"One has to be proficient in certain areas and have a general knowledge of the historical period. And we have a line of royalty. A new king is elected three times a year at tournaments," Mrs. White said.

"Some people are in it for the broadswords, while others really get down to the meat of it," she said.

Members' interests include needlecraft, egg decorating, chess, dance, music and period research projects.

Nursery school held at MT

By BARBARA MARVIN

Every other day at 12 noon for two weeks, approximately 15 pre-school children became a part of Miami Trace's school system. These youngsters, whose ages ranged from three to five, were part of the learning process of Mrs. Susan Augspurger's junior home economics classes.

The children were generally the younger brothers and sisters of students or the children of the teachers. Each child's parents completed and signed a paper to permit the child's two-hour stay at the high school.

There were an average of 15 students per period in Mrs. Augspurger's classes, and each person had the opportunity to help care for the little ones. The children were served refreshments prepared by the designated class each day.

The girls also planned activities for the children daily; these included reading to them, playing with them, teaching them simple crafts, and having them exercise to "Chicken Fat."

Because of its size and facilities, the sewing room was used as the meeting place for the classes. Mrs. Augspurger has arranged this program annually as a part of her curriculum.

Scientists get look at life chain

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Scientists have taken a deep look into the atomic structure of the chemical chain that carries the genetic information for all life.

The detail of what they "saw" confirms beyond any doubt the accuracy of the prediction about the structure made 20 years ago by James D. Watson and Francis Crick.

The Watson-Crick theory about the double helix structure won them a Nobel Prize and formed the basis of modern molecular biology.

Researchers from the Massachussetts Institute of Technology reported today that they have used an X-ray diffraction technique to examine the structure of fragments of genetic material.

X-ray diffraction involves bouncing X-rays off the structure and determining the detail of that structure by measuring the intensities at which the X-rays bounce at certain angles.

"These structures are the only fragments of double helices yet seen at atomic resolution and they remove any doubts about the correctness of the Watson-Crick hypotheses," the MIT group said.

The measurements were processed by a computer, which produced a plot of the location of the atoms. Comparing the technique to using a microscope, the scientists said they used a computer as a lens.

The research was reported to the 57th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by John M. Rosenberg and Nadrian C. Sesman of MIT.

Absentee voters cast state issue ballots

Absentee voting on six state questions and issues under way in the Board of Elections offices in the Courthouse, according to Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, Fayette County director of elections.

Persons may vote by absentee ballot if they will be detained in a hospital for medical or surgical reasons on election day, if they will be unable to vote on election day because of religious belief, if they will be unavoidably absent from the county and more than 10 miles from their voting precinct on election day, or if they are disabled.

College students, and persons in the armed forces and their spouses may also vote by absentee ballot. Applications for ballots must be made to the Fayette County Board of Elections. The deadline for requesting absent voter ballots is 4 p.m. May 3 forcivilian and disabled voters, and 12 noon May 5 for armed service personnel.

The Board of Elections office is open for absentee voting from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE ONLY issues on the ballot for the May 8 election are the six state issues. They are:

1. Shall Section 6, Article XV of the Constitution of Ohio be amended to permit the General Assembly to authorize an agency of the state to conduct lotteries, the net proceeds of which shall be paid into the General Revenue Fund of the state?

2. Shall Section 19 of Article I of the Ohio Constitution be amended to permit the taking, before payments, or private property by public agencies for the purpose of constructing and maintaining sanitary sewers and water lines?

3. Personal property deadline April 30

April 30 is the deadline for filing personal property tax statements without penalty, according to County Auditor Mary Morris.

Mrs. Morris said persons seeking the homestead exemption should file their claim in the homestead exemption office in the basement of the courthouse. The office is open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BIG YEAR FOR PAPER — A 25-ton roll of coated paper swings down the line at the huge Mead mill in Escanaba, Mich. Mead's newest paper machine there turns out a roll like this one every 90 minutes, round the clock. Paper industry reports the strongest demand in year, with production nearly eight per cent ahead of 1972 levels.

Mead earnings gain

DAYTON — Mead Corporation's net earnings rose to $7,980,000 in the first quarter of this year, compared to $4,440,000 before extraordinary items in the first quarter of 1972.

After provision for preferred dividends, Mead's earnings for the quarter ended April 1, 1973, were equal to 37 cents per common share. That is more than 2½ times first quarter earnings per share in 1972, which were 14 cents before extraordinary items. Extranary items in that quarter added 3 cents per share.

Sales of Mead products rose to $301.8 million, a 12 per cent increase over the $269.1 million recorded in the first quarter of 1972.

James W. McSwiney, chairman of the board, said Mead's operating units are performing well above 1972 levels. The company is a major producer of pulp, paper, paperboard, shipping containers, packaging, educational supplies, furniture, precision castings and other industrial products. "Demand continues strong in all these areas," McSwiney said.

OPERATIONS at Mead's expanded pulp and paper mill in Escanaba, Mich., continued to improve in the first quarter, McSwiney noted. "We now expect the Escanaba operation to make a positive contribution to earnings in the second quarter," he said.

Taxes on Mead's income were $6,488,000, during the first quarter of 1973, compared to $1,701,000 during last year's first quarter. The higher tax rate in 1973 results from a lower investment tax credit, as well as higher earnings from Mead's operations.

Earnings per common share figures reported by the company are based on an average of 15,943,000 shares outstanding during the first three months of 1973 and an average of 16,423,000 shares outstanding during the comparable period a year ago.

DP&L readies stock offering

DAYTON — The Dayton Power and Light Co. announces that the company has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission relating to its proposed offering to the public of 250,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock ($100 par value).

Net proceeds will be used to repay a portion of the company's short-term indebtedness incurred in connection with the company's construction program and for additional construction expenditures.

The offering, which will be underwritten by a group headed by Morgan Stanley & Company Incorporated and W. E. Hutton & Co., is expected to be made on May 9, 1973.

4 zoning ordinance variances approved

Four requests for zoning ordinance variances were granted and a fifth was tabled by the Washington Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday night.

A request by Maxine Gilmerr, Rt. 1, Washington C.H., for permission to erect a sign at her carry-out store, 602 Clinton Ave. was tabled pending the receipt of additional information on the size and location of the sign.

The board granted a variance to Myrtle Wisecup, 513 Earl Ave., to establish a second hand store at 702 E. Paint St. The conditional permit prohibits window displays and outside merchandising, and allows one sign to be erected.

R.S. Waters, 736 Washington Ave., was granted a permit to erect an addition to an existing building at 777 Grace St.

The board approved a conditional permit requested by John W. Phillips, doing business as Fayette Heating and Cooling Co. at 425 S. North St., to establish a furnace business and to install an illuminated sign. Conditions of the permit prohibit outside storage, require regular sales hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and proper maintenance.

A conditional permit was issued to Larry W. McConkey, 1222 E. Temple St., to establish a beauty shop. Remodeling work is to comply with the state building code.

LEADS ELECTION — Incumbent Mayor John Reading, above, Republican, led the Oakland, Calif., election, but failed to get the required 50 per cent plus one necessary for victory and will be forced into a runoff with Bobby Seale, Democrat and a member of the Black Panther Party.

Pet show, election top New Holland PTO fare

NEW HOLLAND — The election of officers had to share the interest with the fourth annual pet show Wednesday night at the Parent-Teacher Organization meeting.

Dave Dennis was named president to succeed Mrs. Harold Thompson; Mrs. Kenneth Slager, vice president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, secretary; and Mrs. Larry Elliott, treasurer.

Pets of all shapes, sizes, colors and descriptions were shown with loving pride by the youngsters. Mrs. Carl Wilt I and Mrs. Carl Wilt II were the judges who selected the winners in a dozen different categories:

Oldest shown by Cheryl Elzey; youngest by Lisa Slager; largest by Pat Toland; smallest, Brett Elliott; prettiest, Daniel Helseli; funniest by Randy Johnson; saddest by Mike Coil; happiest by Jeannie Doyle; fattest by Cathy Hamrick; typical girl by Cheryl Orihood; typical boy by Jeff Swarts; and pet with the best name by Mike Woods.

During the business session conducted by the retiring president, the group voted to purchase five clocks for the classrooms, an inter-room communication system and public address system for the school. The committee named to work out the details for the two sound systems includes Jack Brennan and Everett Swarts, co-chairman; Harold H. Thompson, Fred Coldiron, Vernon Gifford, Herbert Coil, Charles Bowdle and Jean Creamer.

THE PTO agreed to pay the bus drivers if field trips can be worked out with the teachers. Mrs. Rodney Miller is chairman of the room mothers. Mrs. Robert Bishop reminded that a skating party will be held Monday evening at Roller Haven in Washington C.H. and that a king and queen and prince and princess will be crowned then.

Notes from the fourth and fifth grades, thanking the PTO for equipment it has given to the classrooms, were read.

Principal Jean Creamer announced that the eighth grade recognition program will be held May 30.

Refreshments were served to approximately 125 by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coldiron, Mr. and Mrs. Garry McMurray, Mr. and Mrs. William Sheets Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coil, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Fleisher, Mr. and Mrs. Veryl Keaton and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glaze.

County receives tax reimbursement

Fayette County received $144,396.87 as its share of $1,396,900.30 distributed to six counties which granted tax rollbacks to property owners, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The state has now distributed $6,944,612.91 to the 14 counties in the property tax rollback reimbursement program. All the funds came from the state personal income tax collections.

The other five counties reimbursed this week were: Miami, $489,934.42; Sandusky, $294,147.44; Henry, $180,798.37; Mercer, $177,957.85, and Paulding, $109,665.35.

Ferguson said the checks were sent to the counties as replacement money for their granting 10 per cent tax rollbacks to property owners on their first half 1972 real estate taxes.

Property owners will receive 10 per cent reductions in taxes on each half year tax settlements, the auditor said, providing they pay their tax obligations promptly.

He said the other counties would be reimbursed for lost taxes under the rollback program as soon as they certify the rollback and their tax settlements to the auditor's office.

Jeffersonville Boy Scouts enjoy canoe trip, campout

JEFFERSONVILLE — Scouts of Troop 67 are still talking about their exciting weekend canoe trip and campout on the banks of the Little Miami River at Fort Ancient.

The trip had been planned for several months and most of the Scouts had undergone intensive canoe training under the direction of Scoutmaster Fred Doyle.

The canoe training included a week of orientation last August at Cave Lake where the Scouts had to point out and name each part of the canoe and paddles, launch a canoe properly, use the correct form on the various strokes, change places with their canoe partners while afloat, land a canoe properly, and use the right methods of lifesaving with a canoe.

At the March campout at Kenneth Walter's lake, Hidy Rd., the Scouts reviewed their strokes and how to avoid obstacles in the water.

Dangers of canoeing in flooded rivers were discussed and final preparations for the canoe trip were completed at the two troop meetings preceding the trip and campout at Fort Ancient. Older boys and men were paired up with smaller boys in canoes as a safety measure. All the canoeists were required to wear life jackets. The weather was perfect and each Scout took a sack lunch.

Adult Scouters who accompanied the boys were Scoutmaster Doyle, Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Sowash, Ralph Detty and David Morrow.

Stereo tapes, hubcaps stolen, police report

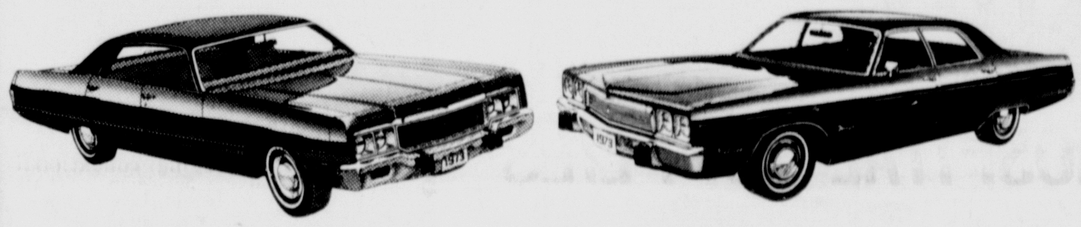

Stereo tapes valued at $60 were stolen from an unlocked car parked on the Frisch's Coffee Shop lot Wednesday night, police report.

Officers said Richard Campbell, Wilmington, a restaurant employe, reported he had parked his car just south of the back entrance about 5 p.m. When he returned shortly after midnight the tapes were gone. Also missing from the glove box was a bottle of vodka, police said.

Mrs. Florence Flint, of 324½ N. Main St., reported that the hubcaps had been stolen from her car while it was parked at Morgan Yahn's garage, S. Main St. The four hubcaps were valued at $31.50.

JOE MORGAN
Worried about miscues

★★★

Errors costly in 4-2 setback

Padres end Cincy win skein

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Cincinnati's defending National League champions have won nine of their first 13 games, but they've made 21 errors and that worries Joe Morgan.

"We can't make these many mistakes and hope to repeat," the little second baseman said Wednesday night after San Diego capitalized on five more miscues to snap the Reds' five-game winning streak, 4-2.

Two of the Padres' runs were unearned. "Our mistakes tonight were the difference in the game," said Morgan, who tripled to start a two-run rally in the ninth inning before relievers Rich Troedson and Bill Greif came in to save the victory for starter Steve Arlin, 1-1.

"We made three errors in San Francisco Sunday and won," Morgan reminded, "and we made three more here Monday night and won. But this just can't go on. One reason we won the pennant last year was our defense. This year, we're putting too much pressure on our pitchers."

Arlin, Troedson and Greif combined for a five-hitter as the Padres beat righthander Roger Nelson, who gave up three runs in five innings.

Catcher Fred Kendall figured in all three San Diego rallies. He doubled to set up a run in the third inning, doubled to drive in a run in the fourth and squeezed home an insurance run in the eighth with the last of San Diego's five sacrifices.

After Kendall's double to open the second, Arlin bunted and third baseman Phil Gagliano overthrew first for an error to make it 1-0. With two out in the fourth, rookie Dave Hilton singled and scored on another Kendall double. Then a strange thing happened.

With Arlin up, shortstop Dave Concepcion broke toward second as if a pickoff play was in the works. None was. Nelson's pitch was hit by Arlin for a run-scoring single through the hole vacated by Concepcion.

San Diego's run in the eighth also was a gift. Rookie John Grubb singled and took second on a pickoff throwing error by pitcher Pedro Borbon. Hilton sacrificed Grubb to third and Kendall scored him with a squeeze bunt.

The triple by Morgan, a single by Bobby Tolan and a one-out walk to Tony Perez finished Arlin in the ninth. Troedson let in a run on an infield out before Greif fanned Concepcion to end the game.

Cage series resumes Friday

Ohio looms favorite in Sertoma's classic

COLUMBUS — A star-speckled Ohio team looms as the favorite in the fourth annual Sertoma Charities Ohio-Indiana collegiate all-star basketball series which resumes this weekend.

In fact, the only way veteran Ohio University head basketball coach Jim Snyder can forsee an Ohio loss is "if the coach messes them up."

Snyder, by the way, is the coach of the Ohio all-star team this year and figures to have enough firepower to erase Indiana's 4-2 edge in the annual series.

THE TWO-GAME classic, matching top seniors from colleges in Ohio and Indiana, will be launched Friday when the teams meet at 8 p.m. in Butler's Hinkle Fieldhouse in Indianapolis and at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at Ohio State's St. John Arena in Columbus.

Alan Hornyak and Luke Witte, a pair of former Ohio State cage stars, bolster Ohio's hopes in the annual shooting match.

Hornyak, the smooth-shooting Ohio State captain, is the fourth leading pointmaker in Buckeye history and the 7-foot-0, 225-pound Witte is in 10th in the Ohio State scoring annals.

Tom Kozelko, of Toledo, a two-time most valuable player in the Mid-American Conference, Larry Garloch, of Miami, Dwight Kenner, of Kent State, and Derrek Dickey, of Cincinnati, are among the players Snyder will have at his command.

The other six Ohio all-star players are Scott Weakley and Mike Stumpf, both of Capital, Pat Beasley, of Wittenberg, Len Paul, of Akron, Clair Recker, of Bluffton, and Chuck Nafziger, of Defiance.

SNYDER, who just finished his 24th season as Ohio University's head basketball coach, said he would probably employ two combinations in the series.

In Weakley and Hornyak he has a pair of backcourt aces who did most of the ball handling chores for their teams the past season.

"We may have to break them up," Snyder said, "depending on what the other kids are able to do. We'll need somebody in the game at all times who can handle the ball."

Snyder, who had seen all members of his squad in action this season with the exception of Paul, Recker and Nafziger, also plans to employ Witte and the 6-foot-8 Stumpf on different units.

"They are the only two true post men we have," he said. "The other big men can move outside."

Stumpf finished fifth in the Ohio Conference scoring race this winter with a 17.2 average and landed a first team berth for the third season in a row. He was also an honorable mention choice on the Little All-America team.

Snyder said he plans to split the first half playing time between two groups and do the same in the first 10 minutes of the second half. "Then we'll use the players necessary to win during the final 10 minutes, Snyder said. "But we want to give all of them a chance to show what they can do."

Winning all-star games "all depends on the talent available, since you can't do much in the practice sessions, the dean of Mid-American Conference basketball mentors said.

I THINK OHIO has good talent this year," he added, "and I think these young men have a lot of pride and will go out and play good basketball," Snyder commented.

The Indiana roster is highlighted by a pair of stars from Bobby Knight's Hoosier team which finished third in the NCAA tournament and two more Big Ten players from Purdue.

Steve Downing, the Big Ten's most valuable player, and John Ritter, of Indiana, and Dennis Gamauf and JoVon Price, of Purdue, will anchor the Indiana all-star team, coached by Angus Nicoson, of Indiana Central State.

The rest of the team consists of Todd Whitten and J.D. Layman, two of Nicoson's own players, John Wolfenberg, of Valparaiso, Clarence Crain, of Butler, Bill Smith, of Marian College, and Dan Fell, of Franklin.

Wolfenberg, Valpo's No. 3 all-time leading scorer, and Downing are the tallest Indiana players at 6-8.

Knicks deal Celts worst playoff loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks gave the Boston Celtics some of their own medicine. In fact, it was an overdose, but not fatal.

"We were so out of it, it was pathetic," said Coach Tom Heinsohn after his lethargic Celtics were lashed 129-96 by the Knicks Wednesday night.

The worst defeat in Boston's playoff history—the 33-point margin exceeding by nine their two previous record losses— came just three days after the Celts whipped the New Yorkers 134-108 in the opener of the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference final.

"We played a super game last time," said Heinsohn, the NBA Coach of the Year. "They played a super game this time and we didn't play any kind of game at all."

So overwhelming was the defeat, behind the 24 points of Walt Frazier, that the Knicks cleared their bench midway through the final quarter.

Knicks Coach Red Holzman, when asked if he thought the trend was changing from squeakers to runaways, he replied:

"God, I hope not. I can't stand this. To have what happened in Boston Sunday night and here tonight, you realize you really do play one game at a time."

Carolina Coach Larry Brown and Utah Coach LaDell Andersen could have used a little of the Knicks cushion in their American Basketball playoffs. The Cougars sneaked past the Kentucky Colonels 102-91 in the East but the Stars barely nipped the Indiana Pacers 104-103 in the West to even both best-of-seven division finals at 2-2.

Jimmy Jones pumped in 34 points and Willie Wise hit a key basket with 58 seconds left for the Utah triumph while Billy Cunningham tallied 32 for Carolina.

New Columbus Seals owner promises action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus mortgage banker Albert Savill, the new owner of the Columbus Seals, promises winning hockey for the International Hockey League's largest city.

"We will get a winning team here by getting the players and spending money," he said.

Red China displays basketball prowess

PARIS (AP) — The People's Republic of China, with a 6-foot-10, 250-pound center and a couple of deadeye guards, showed France why Chairman Mao likes basketball.

A mainland China team beat the Frenchmen 89-86 Wednesday night in the first game of a long European tour.

"They said they wanted to learn from us," said the French coach, Joe Jaunay. "I think we have something to learn from them."

Trevino after money mark

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Lee Trevino's got a pain in the neck.

"It's right up here," he said, massaging under his left ear. "It's a tendon that's pulled. I've seen the doctor about it and he's given me some heat treatments. I don't know how it will affect me.

"I'll just have to try it and see."

"I've always thought this was one of the most important tournaments in the world, maybe No. 4," Trevino said before teeing off in today's first round of the prestigious MONY Tournament of Champions. "It's something I've always wanted to win.

"Any tournament is important, but to win one that includes the champions of all the others, now that'd really be something to do."

He's never accomplished that goal, but finished second and third the last two years and is listed as the second choice to favored Jack Nicklaus in the 31-man field that is competing for a total purse of $200,000.

First prize is $40,000. Should Trevino win it, he would be well past another of his major career goals.

"I want to win $1 million in prize money faster than anyone else has ever done it," he said. "It took Jack 10 years. I'm going to do it in 6½. Of course, with the way purses are growing all the time, somebody will come along and break that record, but it'd sure given them something to shoot at."

Only Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper have passed the $1 million mark in career earnings. But Trevino has in excess of $980,000 and it's just a matter of time before he officially becomes the game's fourth millionaire.

Oklahoma forfeits stir fuss

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Disappointment, disbelief and some bitterness—those were some of the reactions expressed by Oklahoma Sooner football players after learning the university was forfeiting nine of last season's games because of recruiting irregularities.

The action Wednesday leaves the Sooners with a 3-9 record, wipes out a Sugar Bowl victory over Penn State, as well as the Big Eight championship.

The players seemed most disappointed, however, by the loss of Kerry Jackson, who was to have been the Sooners No. 1 quarterback before it was learned his high school transcript had been tampered with and he was declared ineligible. He also stayed two times in the OU dormitory while in high school, in violation of league rules.

Also ruled ineligible for the same reasons was Mike Phillips, a teammate of Jackson's at Galveston, Tex., Ball High School. Neither was said to have any knowledge of violations, but university officials said offensive line coach Bill Michael has admitted knowing of the transcript tampering.

Oklahoma Athletic Director Wade Walker revealed Wednesday that Michael had resigned. Both Walker and coach Barry Switzer said no other football staff member was aware of the infraction of Big Eight regulations.

Jackson, asked for a comment, shrugged and said, "I don't have any thing to say. I'm kind of disappointed. That's about all I could say."

Old marks to fall during Ohio Relays?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Epskamp, the host coach, predicts 10 records will fall in the Ohio State Track Relays Friday and Saturday, including the second oldest on the books.

Two WCH area men eye posts at Buckeye Hills

GREENFIELD — Two Washington C.H. area persons have been nominated for seats on the Buckeye Hills Country Club board of directors.

John Boylan and Mel Wickensimer have been named along with Robert Snider, Robert Barrett, James Cook and Robert Graves as prospective board members, although additional nominations will be accepted at the annual membership meeting scheduled May 6.

Board members agreed to change pars on four holes on the country club course to conform with golf regulations. The course, it was pointed out, will still be a par 72 and new scorecards will be printed.

First quarter dues for new golf members will be dropped. The first year dues will be $125 for a family and $70 for a single golf membership.

The board, at the April meeting, approved the Business League which will play on Tuesday nights. There are a total of 12 teams in the Business League.

A bid submitted by the Sitterle Insurance Agency, Greenfield, for complete course coverage, was accepted and the board also approved the purchase of a bush hog for maintenance of the course.

Lions suffer fourth scoreless golf loss

Washington C. H.'s golf team absorbed its fourth consecutive scoreless setback Wednesday night as Chillicothe registered a 9-0 win at the Chillicothe Country Club.

Head coach Gary Shaffer's Blue Lion linksters, now 0-4 following a pair of dual matches and a triangular meet, were led by the performances of Doug Boswell and David Garringer who turned in identical 44 totals.

Chuck Notestone was the medalist for Chillicothe as he swatted a nifty 36 and Ed Larabee and Ed Bunstine were only one stroke off par with 37s.

Dave Shoemaker provided ample backing as he turned in a 39 for Chillicothe, which pumped its overall record to 8-3.

Senior Chuck Bath and sophomore Rob Harris carded 47s for Washington C. H. and Jeff Brown shot a 50.

THE RESULTS

WASHINGTON C. H. — Chuck Bath 47-0; Doug Boswell 44-0; David Garringer 44-0; Rob Harris 47-0; Jeff Brown 50-0; Totals 232-0.

CHILLICOTHE — Chuck Notestone 36-2; Shoemaker 39-2; Larabee 37-2; Bunstine 37-2; Gale Notestone 42-1; Totals 191-9.

Former Lion star knots old record

ADA — David DeWeese, the former Washington C. H. Blue Lion and South Central Ohio League track ace, turned in an exceptional performance in Ohio Northern University's first participation at the Ohio Athletic Conference track and field relays held at Mount Union College in Alliance.

The lanky sophomore tied his own school record in the pole vault with a leap of 13 feet, six inches, a record he established in 1972.

DeWeese, who holds both the Washington C. H. and SCOL pole vault records, has qualified for the OAC outdoor track and field meet which will be held at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea.

Reeds Pence wins

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)— Reeds Pence won its third race in five starts Wednesday night with a three-length triumph in the $1,000 feature at Lebanon Raceway.

The 4-year-old bay paid $5.40, $2.60 and $2.40 in turning in a time of 2:12 4-5 on a slow track.

Peoples Choice was second, returning $3.20 and $2.60. Angeles Crystal showed at $3.40.

Lagging A's nudge Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For today, baseball fans, a few introductions.

Over here, wearing the mustaches and funny colored uniforms, are the Oakland A's. Call them World Champions. No, no, forget the American League standings and the 3-6 record. They are the World Champions.

Over there, wearing the smiles and confident looks, are the Kansas City Royals, sitting atop the AL West. They are smiling because of an 8-3 record.

Kansas City in first place and Oakland in fifth. Charley Finley, owner of the A's, could be excused for wondering just what's going on here. This could develop into an identification crisis.

Just to make sure their identities don't get too confused, Finley's mustached men turned the tables on the Royals Wednesday using a familiar weapon—a Gene Tenace home run—to take a 7-6 victory from Kansas City.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, the New York Yankees rallied for a 7-4 victory over Baltimore, California edged Minnesota 3-2, Chicago edged Texas 6-5, Detroit defeated Boston 7-1 and Milwaukee shut out Cleveland 4-0.

The Royals gave the snazzilydressed A's a scare. Kansas City wiped out an early 4-0 lead on a three-run homer by Ed Kirkpatrick and a solo shot by Cookie Rojas.

Then an error by Oakland catcher Ray Fosse allowed two unearned runs to score and the World Champions were trailing. Fosse's single made it 6-5 in the seventh and then Tenace, last year's World Series hero, straightened out the identity crisis with his ninth inning homer following a leadoff single by Reggie Jackson.

The Yankees delivered some ninth inning thunder of their own with a pair of two-run homers by Thurman Munson and Felipe Alou carrying them to their victory over Baltimore.

Detroit unloaded on Fenway Park's close-in left field fence with Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Ed Brinkman all smacking home runs and Jim Perry coasting on the long-ball offense with a five-hitter to defeat Boston.

Minnesota's Bert Blyleven must have figured he had Frank Robinson's number. He struck out California's designated hitter the first three times he faced him in the Twins' game against the Angels. On his fourth trip to the plate, Robinson got even with a 410-foot home run that gave Nolan Ryan his third straight victory.

Dick Allen stroked a home run, double and triple, driving in four runs as Chicago defeated Texas. That gave the White Sox' slugger 12 hits, eight of them for extra bases, in 32 at bats this season.

Skip Lockwood and Jim Colborn combined for Milwaukee's six-hit shutout of Cleveland. Lockwood surrendered all of the Indian hits before Colborn took over in the sixth.

The Brewers protected a onerun lead until the eighth when a three-run rally put the game away.

Golf scramble set at Buckeye Hills

GREENFIELD — Buckeye Hills Country Club will hold a scramble golf tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Each team will consist of four men, and the team will be paired according to handicaps. The tourney will be open all day Saturday and Sunday and interested members are urged to form a team and compete.

Renko in form, hurls four-hitter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I always start a season hoping to do better than the last"— Steve Renko, pitcher, Montreal Expos.

Renko may not better his 1972 record, although it would be hard to do any worse, but he's assured himself of doing at least as well.

The tall right-hander, who won his 1972 debut and then suffered through a horrible 1-10 summer, hurled a four-hitter in his first 1973 appearance Wednesday and outdueled Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton in pitching the Expos to a 2-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It came one year to the day after his lone 1972 success, in which he beat the New York Mets, and was his first complete game since Sept. 16, 1971.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs nipped the Mets 1-0 for the second day in a row, San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3 on Bobby Bonds' 11th-inning homer, Pittsburgh trimmed St. Louis 8-2, San Diego defeated Cincinnati 4-2 and Houston beat Los Angeles 7-2.

Renko held the Phillies hitless until the sixth, when they touched him for two hits. The other two hits and their only run came in the ninth. Meanwhile, the Expos scored both their runs off 27-game winner Carlton in the first inning on RBI singles by Hal Breeden and Jorge Roque.

The Cubs pushed across a first-inning run against New York's Jon Matlack on Cleo James' single, a stolen base, Glenn Beckert's sacrifice and a wild pitch and made it stand up behind the six-hit pitching of rookie Ray Burris, Larry Gura and Jack Aker.

Bonds' 11th-inning homer off Atlanta's Tom House stretched the Braves' losing streak to six games and capped a thoroughly forgettable inning for the relief pitcher.

In the top of the 11th, with Sonny Jackson on second base, Johnny Oates on first and none out, House bunted into a rare unassisted double play by catcher Dave Rader. House bunted a short pop in front of the plate and Rader caught the ball for the first out and continued running to second base, tagging the bag for the unique double play. Jackson was near third and couldn't return in time.

Willie Stargell drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and Milt May added three RBI's as Pittsburgh blasted St. Louis. Stargell's homer highlighted a fourrun first inning against Rick Wise, who owns the Cardinals' only triumph in 10 games.

Fred Kendall doubled to set up San Diego's first run, doubled home the second, scored the third on a single by winning pitcher Steve Arlin and squeezed home the fourth as the Padres beat Cincinnati and dropped the Reds into second place in the NL West, one-half game behind San Francisco.

Bob Watson drove in three runs and Jerry Reuss checked Los Angeles on four hits as Houston ended a four-game losing streak and stopped the Dodgers' five-game winning string.

Cutback in funds cuts back concerts

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Center Joffrey Ballet, faced with an 80 per cent cut in money from the City Center, has decided to shorten its fall season from six to four weeks and drop plans for a spring season in 1974.

In March, the City Center announced that it was under financial pressure and was cutting its annual support of the ballet from $380,000 to $75,000.

The Ford Foundation gave the City Center a $1 million loan, but earmarked it for the New York City Opera and the New York City Ballet, two other constituents of the City Center.

The Joffrey's board of directors said that additional tour bookings would be sought.

More fatal fires

LONDON (AP) — Fire claimed a record 896 lives throughout Britain and Northern Ireland during 1972, the Fire Research Station announced.

The figure exceeded the previous record of 865 dead in 1968 and was at least 100 above the average for the past four years.

RADIO STATION IN SENATOR'S HOME — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chamberlin operate an amateur radio station in the basement of the home of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., at Phoenix. The station has handled 132,000 radio-telephone calls from servicemen in South Vietnam since becoming a Military Affiliate Radio Station in August 1967. A club of 32 amateur radio operators run the station. "Goldwater pays for all the Arizona calls," said Chamberlin. Persons outside the state pay only the tolls from Phoenix to their homes.

Goldwater radio station aids GIs

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Family voices with reassuring hometown news or excited birth announcements flowed to South Vietnam during the war through an amateur radio station operated by Sen. Barry Goldwater. Now the station links servicemen in Thailand and the Philippines with their homes.

The station carried three-minute broadcast-telephone calls from South Vietnam until all stations there were closed as troops were withdrawn.

More than 132,000 telephone calls have passed through the amateur radio transmitters operated by the Arizona Republican since the facility became a Military Affiliate Radio Station in August 1967.

Under the system, a serviceman places his call through an overseas transmitter. It is relayed through Goldwater's station into the telephone system.

Thirty-two amateur radio operators work in shifts at the station in the basement of Goldwater's home in northeast Phoenix. They are members of a club called "Bash Hal Ne Ae," Navajo for "metal that talks." Goldwater is president.

"He runs it himself, when he's available," said an operator about Goldwater, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for president in 1964.

"Goldwater pays for all Arizona calls, no matter where they are," said Robert Chamberlain, one of the operators. Persons receiving calls outside Arizona pay only the telephone tolls from Phoenix to their homes.

Chamberlain said the station has handled as many as 150 calls a day in a radio room marked by the Arizona senator's two-star general plaque. Goldwater is a member of the Air Force Reserve.

So far this year, the station has handled over 6,000 calls.

"When we're running patches, the telephone company assigns an operator to us," Chamberlain said. "When one call is finished, the operator puts another on, so its continuous."

Chamberlain said most people are unaware that their messages are being relayed through Goldwater's equipment.

He said the senator has asked the operators not to publicize it. But he added that the word leaks out and the senator has received numerous letters of appreciation.

Highland County collegian focuses on school career

WILMINGTON — College men traditionally grimly tolerate graduation ceremonies; their focus is on getting out of school into a high-paying job.

Not so, for Howard Willis Jr. of Rt. 8, Hillsboro, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Willis Sr.

Willis is not only looking forward to his June graduation, but his career objective is elementary education, a field not associated with large financial rewards.

His entire family will be turning out for his June 10 commencement from Wilmington College because he's the first of the clan to earn a college degree. His major is elementary education, and he hopes to be teaching fourth through sixth graders.

"To me, this is an ideal age group. They're fresh and open; they want to listen and learn. First through third graders scare me because they're so unpredictable, and all too often, high school students are dead to learning," said Willis.

Willis is a pole vaulter on the Wilmington College track team, and he works at Greenfield Plastics Co. in addition to being a full-time student at the college. He was named to the dean's list for the winter term after earning a grade point average of 3.40 out of a possible 4.00.

Before coming to Wilmington College, he taught special education for three years at Greenfield Elementary School. "I love kids," he said.

Three injured in U.S. 35 crash

Two persons were admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in a car-pickup truck crash at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Palmer Road Wednesday night. A third person was hurt slightly.

Admitted were Mariann Schwaigert, 18, Rt. 6, driver of the car, and a passenger, Barbara G. Smith, 20, Rt. 3. Miss Schwaigert was released Thursday morning. Both suffered head injuries in the 8:30 p.m. crash.

According to sheriff's deputies the Schwaigert car, eastbound on Palmer Road, apparently failed to stop at the intersection and skidded onto U.S. 35 into the path of a southeast bound pickup truck driven by Ronald A. Swigert, 40, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

John Trimble, 27, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, a passenger in the truck, was treated in the emergency room for a finger injury and released. Swigert was not injured.

Sheriff's deputies said both vehicles were heavily damaged. Miss Schwaigert was cited for failure to yield right of way.

Other mishaps were:

POLICE

WEDNESDAY, 10:18 p.m. — Cars driven by Frank W. Terrell, 55, of 304 S. North St., and Betty J. Anderson, 39, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, collided on the Hidy Foods lot; damage minor.

WEDNESDAY, 7:42 p.m. — A van truck driven by Robert T. Lutz, 17, of 523 E. Temple St., developed clutch and gear trouble and collided with a parked car owned by Paul Hays, of 740 E. Temple St. The mishap occurred on Temple Street, just west of Bereman Street; damage minor.

SHERIFF

WEDNESDAY, 9:13 a.m. — A truck driven by Larry W. Cottrill, 21, Rt. 4, was backing on a service station lot in Jeffersonville, and collided with a parked car owned by Paul J. Mitchell, of 1010 Grace St.; damage minor.

Turner-Slagle meeting slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A May tenth meeting has been set for 9:30 a.m. for the state Senate Select Committee studying the disputed 26th District Senate election involving Sen. Gene Slagle, D-36 Galion and former Sen. Robin Turner, a Marion Republican.

The two candidates have been asked to submit a list of options open to the committee for dealing with the election in which Slagle, who holds his seat on a provisional basis, beat Turner by 152 votes last November.

House rejects bid to divert highway cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today rejected, 215 to 190, a Senate-passed amendment that would have permitted cities to spend their share of federal highway trust funds for mass transit projects.

The vote was subject to final approval of a $25.6-billion highway bill to which the amendment for the authority was proposed.

Highway supporters, including Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, contended the action would bankrupt the highway trust fund. He said the fund does not have enough money for both highways and mass transit.

"You can't make two quarts of gin in a one-quart jar," Harsha said. "There just isn't enough money in the highway trust fund."

But mass transit backers including Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., stressed cities would have only the option of using their share of highway money for mass transit if they chose.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., quoted President Nixon as telling congressional leaders Wednesday that the role of the automobile must be re-examined if the nation is to solve its energy crisis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Longtime opponents of the Vietnam war are marshaling forces for a Senate vote in May on cutting off funds for continued U.S. bombing in Cambodia and Laos.

A bill by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., would deny spending for any U.S. military operations in Indochina and U.S. aid to North Vietnam unless Congress specifically approves.

WANTS TO TALK ABOUT WATERGATE — Martha Mitchell, shown with her husband, former Attorney Gen. John M. Mitchell, says she's anxious to tell the Senate committee investigating the Watergate case "some things they never heard in their life . . ."

Nixon-Congress dispute remains

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's insistence on broad authority for executive silence began at the Watergate's edge—but gave way to compromise amid a tide of congressional and political protest.

His decision to permit testimony by his aides in the Senate's Watergate investigation averts what could have been a constitutional showdown on the doctrine of executive privilege.

But that issue hasn't gone away. And there remain disputes over warmaking powers and presidential authority to undo programs enacted by Congress.

All three involve what the Constitution says and what it means.

As lawyer, candidate and President, Nixon has pronounced himself dedicated to a strict interpretation of the Constitution. He set that as his test for Supreme Court nominees.

The current controversies between Congress and the White House hinge on who does the interpreting. Presidential authority in the areas of executive privilege, undeclared war and the impoundment of appropriated funds involves powers that are implied, not spelled out, in the Constitution.

Before he became President, Nixon criticized the Supreme Court for decisions he said moved it into lawmaking areas that really belonged to Congress.

"... Under our Constitution, the true responsibility for writing the law is with Congress," he said on July 7, 1968. "The responsibility for executing the law is with the executive and the responsibility for interpreting the law resides in the Supreme Court. I believe in a strict interpretation of the Supreme Court's functions."

Nixon critics contend now that his actions are blurring those lines of constitutional authority.

Executive privilege is a doctrine—not a law—under which presidents have refused to permit congressional testimony by their aides.

Earlier in the Watergate controversy, Nixon expanded upon it to declare that past and present members of his staff would decline to appear before formal sessions of congressional committees. The administration said it could be invoked to cover any executive branch employe if the President decided silence was in order.

In yielding to permit appearances, but not necessarily answers to all questions, in the Watergate investigation, Nixon said he was making an exception, not dropping his rule.

Pressure and protests from leading figures in his own Republican party preceded the shift by a President who once had challenged the Senate to a Supreme Court test on the issue.

It could flare again another, lesser controversy, for the White House has cited executive privilege in refusing to give Congress records of government-financed travel during the 1972 presidential campaign.

The war powers controversy arose time and again during the Vietnam conflict, and it has been revived by new U.S. bombing in Cambodia and Laos.

Nixon critics contend he has no legal or constitutional authority for the bombing, and there is a move underway in the Senate to ban it unless Congress specifically approves.

The administration has claimed authority for Indochina actions in the President's constitutional role as commander in chief.

"The administration's constitutional authority to bomb Cambodia rests on the circumstance that we are coming out of a 10-year period of conflict," said Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson. "This is the windup."

Dragging operations at lake continuing

The search for the body of Darrell Wheeler, of Stoutsville, at Deer Creek Reservoir is continuing.

Pickaway County sheriff's deputies were again manning drag lines and continuing diving operations in hopes of recovering the body. The lake remained closed to the public.

Wheeler, 20, drowned April 8 when a boat capsized. Three other passengers in the craft were rescued.

Haldeman resignation hinted

Say Mitchell, Dean behind Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate spy team was commanded by two leading Nixon administration officials who later tried to buy the silence of the arrested conspirators, the Washington Post says.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, former No. 2 man in the Nixon re-election campaign, will tell a federal grand jury today that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and present White House Counsel John W. Dean III planned and approved the bugging raid on Democratic national headquarters, the Post said in today's edition.

Magruder already has given his account to federal prosecutors, the newspaper reported.

Dean soon will resign and his example may well be followed by H. R. Haldeman, White House chief of staff, the paper quoted executive branch sources as saying.

The Washington Post, quoting sources, said in today's edition that criminal indictments are expected for both Mitchell and Dean as a result of Magruder's statements. Magruder is scheduled to repeat his testimony under oath to the grand jury investigating the Watergate affair.

Mitchell dismissed the Post report as "nonsense." Dean and Magruder could not be reached for comment early today.

"This gets a little sillier as it goes along, doesn't it?" Mitchell told a reporter as he left his New York City apartment this morning and was asked about the Post report. "I've had a good night's sleep and haven't heard any of this nonsense." He appeared relaxed as he boarded a chauffeured station wagon and lit his pipe.

The White House refused immediate comment on details of the report.

However, Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said, "The White House is not prepared to react to a story based on sources. At a time when the rights of individuals would not be jeopardized by a comment, an appropriate comment will be made."

Devan Shumway, spokesman for the Committee for the Reelection of the President, said he was not in a position to comment on the Post story or to indicate any knowledge of whether indictments or resignations were imminent.

Magruder told the prosecutors, the Post said, that he was present at a February 1972 meeting in Mitchell's Justice Department office attended also by the attorney general, Dean, and G. Gordon Liddy, one of seven men convicted in the conspiracy.

The allegations came on the heels of President Nixon's statement Tuesday that his own month-long investigation had exposed "major new developments" in the case. Nixon said any White House aide indicted in the affair would be suspended immediately and any convicted would be fired.

Meany feud with Brennan broadened

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany has recalled a top AFL-CIO official serving on Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan's staff. It was the latest move in Meany's continuing feud with his former labor associate.

Robert M. McGlotten is expected to resign as a special assistant to Brennan and return to his $22,000-a-year job as assistant director of the AFL-CIO's civil rights department.

"He will be back on the payroll Monday," an AFL-CIO spokesman said.

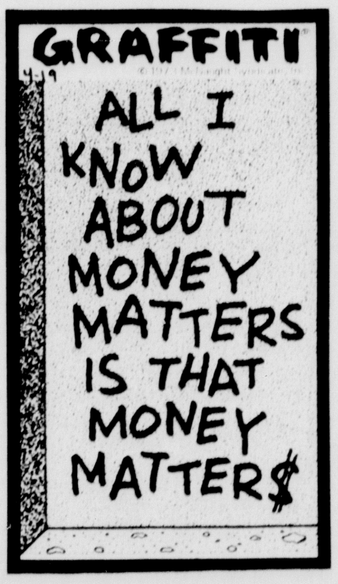

Brennan's press secretary, Thomas J. Costigan, said he knew nothing about it. "We have not received any resignation," Costigan said.

McGlotten had been on an indefinite leave of absence from the AFL-CIO since January. Meany, AFL-CIO president, had sent McGlotten to the Labor Department at Brennan's request, a federation spokesman said.

At Labor, McGlotten was earning more than $30,000.

"It's a meeting of the minds between George Meany and Bob McGlotten because of the events of last week," the AFL-CIO spokesman said when asked why McGlotten was returning.

The spat started two weeks ago with Meany accusing Brennan of selling out his trade union principles over the administration's minimum wage proposal, which would give teenagers a lower wage than adults for the same work.

U.S. Navy halts minesweeping off North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Navy has halted minesweeping operations in North Vietnamese waters in an apparent attempt to force Hanoi to scale down Communist attacks in Cambodia and delivery of troop reinforcements and supplies to the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

North Vietnam reported today that the Navy stopped its sweep operations two days ago without explanation and withdrew its ships and planes from the coastal areas where they had been working. Hanoi charged this violated the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

After the Hanoi announcement, Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said in a statement that the mine clearing activity was suspended because "of the failure of the other side to abide by the agreements and assurances of Paris." He spoke of "the other side's failure to respect the unilateral cease-fire declared by the government of Cambodia, and ... the continued flow of enemy supplies into South Vietnam."

The United States suspended the minesweeping operation once before, on Feb. 28, when there was a delay in the release of U. S. prisoners of war held by North Vietnam. The POWs were released four days later, and U. S. Navy planes went back to sweeping the waters at the entrance to Haiphong.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said the minesweeping stopped again Tuesday and the U.S. task force pulled out of the area.

It also claimed that in some two months of clearance operations, the Americans had exploded only three of the "tens of thousands" of mines U. S. planes planted in North Vietnamese waters last year.

The statement accused the U. S. government of deliberately retarding the work and said the suspension of operations was evidence of a "premeditated" plan to prolong, in effect, the maritime blockade of North Vietnam.

Latest economic news unpleasant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today reported the economy advanced at a rapid rate of 14.3 per cent during the first quarter of the year, with inflation soaring at a rate of 6 per cent.

The Commerce Department said the country's gross national product rose $40.6 billion from January through March to reach a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.235 trillion.

The increase compares with a GNP advance in the fourth quarter of last year of $30.9 billion or 11 per cent at an annual rate.

The gross national product is the value of the nation's output of goods and services and is the broadest indication of the economy's performance.

Without the rate of inflation of 6 per cent, the real output during the first quarter was 7.9 per cent, compared with real growth of 8 per cent in the fourth quarter of 1972.

But the rate of inflation of 6 per cent during the period was bad news for the economy. It was the biggest quarterly jump since the fourth quarter of 1970 when it was 6.3 per cent.

The 14.3 per cent increase in the GNP equaled the increase in the first quarter of 1971 when the economy was recovering from a General Motors strike and from a recession.

One factor contributing to the big increase was a sharp rise in consumer spending which makes two thirds of the GNP. the administration originally had projected a $35 billion increase in GNP for the quarter.

The percentage increase for the first quarter is not itself a record. There was a 14.3 per cent increase in the first quarter of 1971 and a 14.7 per cent advance in early 1951.

The consumer price index, a measure of retail price trends, will be released Friday and that also is expected to show a sharp increase, especially because the March wholesale price index advanced 2.2 per cent, the highest rate since the Korean war.

Team plans MIA search

BANGKOK (AP) — A team of men representing the U.S. Navy, Marines, Air Force and Army are training for one of the grimmest—and possibly the longest—jobs of the Vietnam War.

In the dry terms of an official release, their job is to "look for persons missing in action and remains not recovered."

The organization is known as the Joint Casualty Resolution Center—JCRC.

Its headquarters are at Nakorn Phanom in northeast Thailand. About 75 of the total 150 men involved in the search for downed U.S. airmen and ground troops missing in action are already at the base.

* * * Massive Gilligan budget faces Senate surgery * * *

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's $9.9 billion budget passed the Democratic-controlled House Wednesday and headed for the knife that the Republican-controlled Senate is certain to wield.

Political leaders on both sides agreed the spending proposal for the next two years would eventually be decided by a joint House-Senate conference committee.

Passage of the bill in the House marked the beginning of the Easter recess for the General Assembly. Both houses return May 1.

During the day, 241 bills were introduced into the House and 103 in the Senate. The day marked the deadline for introduction of new measures.

Republicans in the House, controlled by Democrats 58-41, called the budget a "tax grab," but could do nothing to stop it from passage.

The vote was 56-39.

Republicans, who control the Senate 17-16, have already indicated they will concentrate on the upper chamber for changes in the bill.

House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, led the fight against the budget. He accused Gilligan of failing to keep tax reform promises of 1971 when the state income tax passed.

Kurfess, who supported the income tax, along with 12 other House Republicans, said Gilligan refused to correct inequities although he found $118 million in extra money from income tax revenues.

"There it was, at the end of the rainbow," said Kurfess of the extra money. "What's his excuse now."

House Finance Committee Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who carried the bill on the floor, said it meets the state's education needs and provided money for other areas.

Shoemaker, a fiscal conservative, said attempts to change it would be "irresponsible and foolhearty and probably subject to executive veto."

Republicans made several attempts to increase spending, but all were shot down.

Following the budget vote, the House concurred in Senate amendments to the administration's $92.2 million federal revenue sharing bill. It now goes to Gilligan for signing into law.

Democrats approved three amendments to the budget, including one that excluded Youngstown State University from a freeze on student fees for the next two years.

Rep. George D. Tablack, D-52 Campbell, who sponsored the amendment, said Youngstown had not had a boost in fees for three years. It will seek an increase from $150 to $189 a quarter, still within the state limit of $210.

Another Democratic amendment removed from the bill restructions, added in committee, to police honorariums and leaves of absences for university professors and require

Congress. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., contended that any new action in Indochina is in effect a new war, requiring approval of Congress.

Legislation now pending, and opposed by the administration, would define and limit executive authority to use U.S. troops abroad in any future conflict.

In the third area of disputed prerogatives, the administration has been challenged in court for refusing to spend money on some programs despite laws creating and financing them.

Twice, in cases involving impounded highway aid funds and the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, federal judges have ruled that the administration acted illegally.

Either case could wind up in the Supreme Court. And legislation in the Senate would empower Congress to overrule the President whenever he seeks to impound appropriated funds. Nixon has withheld at least $8.7 billion voted by Congress.

Community development revenue sharing plan bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today sends Congress his proposed legislation replacing numerous specific community-aid programs with $2.3 billion a year in special revenue-sharing funds.

PROMOTED — Mrs. Sara Sword, 423 Earl Ave., has received word from Lt. Col. E.R. Larson, U.S. Marine Corps, that her son, Ricky L. Sword, has been promoted to lance corporal with the Third Division on Okinawa. His address is L-Cpl. Ricky L. Sword 294-52-3264, Co. C, 3rd Tank Bn., 3rd Marine Div., FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96602.

"This aid will have no strings attached as long as it is used for community development," Nixon said last month in announcing his special revenue sharing proposal.

"Your local leaders can go on spending it the way Washington was spending it if they like. But they would also be free to work out better plans without having to get Washington's approval," he continued.

Nixon said the measure is intended to replace what he called "inflexible and fragmented" categorical grant-in-aid programs such as Model Cities and urban renewal plus projects providing grants for water and sewer projects, demolition, neighborhood facilities and rehabilitation work.

Nixon first proposed the community development legislation in 1971 but failed to muster enough support in either the House or the Senate.

Among features of his new proposal are:

—The money for cities and urban counties would be based on a formula reflecting community needs and there would be assurances that this would not be less than received under the previous programs.

—Funding would be provided for smaller communities.

—While activities now supported by categorical grants may be continued, local leaders would determine whether to do so.

—Recipients would be required to show the federal government only that they are complying with federal statutes in the way they are spending revenue-sharing money.

—Shared revenues would not have to be matched by local funds.

While the Better communities Act would replace seven Housing and Urban Development categorical programs it would not affect HUD's housing and community planning authority.

The administration said a large share of the total funds appropriated annually under the act—about 78 per cent by the fifth year at a $2.3 billion level—would be allocated and made available directly to all central cities in metropolitan areas; all cities over 50,000 population, and all urban counties with a population of over 200,000.

them to work a certain number of classroom hours each week.

Republicans sought to limit welfare appropriations to one year and make the budget fund a Vietnam veterans bonus, as well as appropriate an extra $143.6 million for property tax relief. All were shot down.

The bill, as passed, contains $500,000 to plan a "consortium" medical school at Wright State University, Dayton, that would also serve Miami and Central State Universities.

Another $1.5 million would provide the same type of facility to serve the University of Akron, Kent State and Youngstown universities.

Shoemaker gave the following breakdown of the $9,918,100,000 that would be spent in the two-year state bookkeeping period beginning July 1: (Amount of increase, from last biennium, in parentheses).

Education—Primary and secondary, $2 billion ($316 million); higher education, $768.9 million ($154.5 million), and other educational programs, $18 million ($4.5 million).

General Government—Legislature $12.6 million ($1.8 million); fiscal administration, $348.1 million ($103.5 million); property tax relief, $347 million ($217 million); personnel administration, $34.4 million ($14.1 million), regulatory programs, $512.4 million ($9.8 million), public works, $12.8 million ($2.2 million), other general government, $5.2 million ($1.4 million).

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The National Weather Service's summary of Ohio weather:

Heavy cloudiness, mild temperatures and a few showers were reported in Ohio Wednesday night and Thursday morning. The showers were confined mostly in the western part of the state with rather light amounts. Some patchy fog was also reported at sunrise.

Temperatures around sunrise were generally in the mid and upper 50s.

Southerly winds with brief periods of sunshine will allow temperatures to climb into the 70s Thursday afternoon. A few scattered showers and possibly a thunderstorm or two will develop over the state today, tonight and Friday, becoming more numerous and frequent in the afternoon and evening.

Lows tonight, under mostly cloudy skies will lower once again into the 50s, similar to Thursday morning. Daytime highs on Friday will climb once again into the 70s as the southerly winds continue to blow off the Gulf of Mexico.

A chance of showers Saturday and again on Monday. Highs from the mid 60s to mid 70s. Lows in the upper 40s and 50s.

'War crimes' issue rises at trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An international law expert is scheduled to testify at the Pentagon papers trial today, after the government raised the issue of possible U.S. "war crimes" while questioning co-defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

Richard Falk, a Princeton University professor of international law, is expected to expand at the request of the defense on Ellsberg's comment that illegal actions by U.S. officials occurred during the Vietnam war.

Stock list gain modest

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices held to their modest gains today but showed little inclination to rally further.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 3.54 at 961.85, little changed from a half-hour earlier. Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange about 2 to 1.

Analysts said the rise was due in part to technical factors and to the growing spate of strong corporate earnings reports.

"Most of the activity is in the blue-chip sector, spurred on by excellent earnings reports," said Alan R. Shaw, analyst with Harris, Upham & Co.

International Telephone was volume leader on the Big Board, off 1¼ to 36⅝ after reports that the Internal Revenue Service was reconsidering its decision to allow ITT'S merger with Hartford Fire Insurance to be tax-free to Hartford shareholders.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index rose .02 to 24.06, while the noon Big Board index was up .24 at 59.49.

Belle Aire pupils present variety musical offering

The Junior High School auditorium was more than half filled Wednesday night for the variety show presented by sixth grade students of Belle Aire School under the direction of Mrs. Gene Hughes.

The entertainment followed a Patriotic theme, opening with the singing of "God Bless America" and closing with "This Is My Country" by the audience and the 50-voice chorus of boys and girls. The students were dressed in red, white and blue.

One of the features was a two-set square dance by the girls in peasant dresses with high white boots, and the boys in Western regalia. They performed three different numbers.

Six boys, wearing sailor uniforms, sang a song from the light opera, "HMS Pinafore." The performers were John Heinz, Marty Huffman, Keith Hottinger, Mark Yarger, Pat Dunn and Bob Runnels.

An ensemble composed of two boys and 11 girls sang four songs in three-part harmony, and piano solos were presented by Julie Armentrout, Debbie Kingery and Beth Van Meter.

At the close the chorus sang three songs with Diane Stewart taking the solo part. John Hopkins and Richard Witherspoon, on guitars, and Scott Lanum, on drums, provided the accompaniment for some of the numbers.

The stage crew was composed of five high school boys, Dennis Breitigan, Mike Hughes, Mike Turner, Tim O'Flynn and Bruce Stolsenberg. Mrs. Ralph Yerian was the accompanist.

Teachers who assisted Mrs. Hughes were Principal Robert Angus, Mrs. Samuel Sauer, Mrs. Hugh Rea and Mrs. Gene Sagar, the choreographer for the dances.

OCSEA to sue for job rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Service Employes Association said today it will file a suit in the U.S. Supreme Court on behald of a state employe fired because of her political activity.

James Marshall, association executive secretary, said Madonna Potter was fired from her job in the state auditor's office in 1970 for engaging in allegedly illegal political activities.

Marshall said the 34-year-old woman supported Republican Roger Cloud for governor by addressing envelopes for his campaign "in her own home, with her own typewriter, on her own time."

Means tells of Indian despair

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—American Indian Movement leader Russell Means says he recalls his daughter returning from school and asking, "Daddy, where were the Indians when Columbus discovered America?"

The despair that leads to high suicide rates among Indians and such circumstances as at Wounded Knee, S.D., "starts right there," in school, he said Wednesday.

Means told a City Club audience he returned to Cleveland with two objectives:

"To raise funds for our legal defense, and to tell the truth as we know it inside Wounded Knee."

He said the government and the news media presented in occupation of the South Dakota hamlet as an uprising led by outsiders and as Indian-instigated violence.

But Means said the occupation came at the request of local Indians, and that the violence had been precipitated by the government.

Means surrendered to the surrounding army of U.S. marshals earlier this month in return for a meeting with White House officials. But he said that agreement also had been violated in several respects by federal officials, and he told the Clevelanders they could add it to the list of broken treaties between Indians and the United States.

Since his surrender, Means has been freed on $25,000 bond, although he still faces trial on 11 federal charges ranging from burglary and arson to assaulting federal officers.

Means, who spent several years in Cleveland when the AIM headquarters was here, noted that he returned as a celebrity.

"I just think it's sad while I lived here I was ignored, and that violence brought me here to the Cleveland City Club," he said.

Throughout his speech, Means urged white Americans to "find out the truth about Wounded Knee."

"The ignorance of non-Indian people as to what Indian people are all about I think is a shame," he said, adding later that it was also crippling to Indians' spirit.

Referring to a high rate of suicide among Indians, Means said despair begins in school "when you begin to realize your way of life is completely wrong" and that "you should stop being a pagan and a primitive and become a civilized white person."

Means said the federal government "has two choices" at Wounded Knee. Either "they live up to their own laws, or two...they massacre us," he said.

He said the Indians want "our own soverignty as separate nations," a soverignty which he said "has been defined by the Supreme Court of the United States."

"If we lose at Wounded Knee, everybody loses," he said. "If you do not take a very close look at what is happening at Wounded Knee, then you don't know what your country is all about and you don't deserve it."

Extended controls facing disaster?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wages and prices break loose from government controls in 11 days unless Congress can do in one day what it has failed to do in three months.

"We're flirting with disaster," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Wednesday after the Senate killed a parliamentary move on the bill to extend President Nixon's wageprice control authority.

The action came before the Senate recessed until April 30— the day the controls expire—for Easter vacation.

The move rejected by the Senate, 35 to 31, would have sent the bill back to a House-Senate conference committee.

Sen. John J. SParkman, D-Ala., promoted the move after GOP leaders predicted the legislation would lose in the House. All Republicans on the conference committee, except Sen. Robert Packwood of Oregon, refused Tuesday to sign the report recommending that both houses accept legislation extending the President's control authority.

Particularly, the Republicans disliked one provision that would require companies to reveal publicly their justification for raising prices, Proxmire said.

Also attached as riders to the wageprice extension—and objected to by Republicans—were amendments providing the President with authority to ration fuels, and to exempt more working poor from wage controls.

Though the House is in session today, it plans no action on wage-price controls. Anyway, the legislation cannot be sent to the President until the Senate acts on it finally, too.

Thus, the possibility was created that labor and industry would be free of any wageprice limitations May 1, unless the situation can be resolved when both houses return April 30.

The legislation has been moving through the congressional mill since the session began in January.

Problems down on the farm

Meat boycott leaders have generally been at pains to say they have nothing against the farmer, and do not consider him the villain of the piece. The meat price imbroglio has nevertheless placed the farmer in a somewhat brighter spotlight than he is used to.

While he is standing there, perhaps a bit dazzled by the unaccustomed glare, it seems appropriate to note that being a modern tiller of the soil is more complex and problem-filled then most city folks realize. The point is brought home by a dispatch from Iowa State University about a pesky soybean disease.

The soybean has swiftly gained in importance as one of the basic crops in recent years. It is a very important source of high quality protein, much in demand as livestock feed and also for human consumption. Soybean prices have soared. One might therefore suppose that the farmer with a large acreage in this profitable crop would be, to coin a phrase, in clover.

Under the most favorable circumstances this would be so. But consider bug blight, described as follows by Robert Nyvall, extension plant pathologist at Iowa State: "This very destructive disease is caused by tobacco ringspot virus which is most prevalent in the heavy soybean-producing area of the midwestern United States where it appears sporadically in epidemic proportions."

In 1972, for example, the disease occurred in both northern and southern Iowa, with the crop entirely wiped out in some fields. This has led Iowa State plant scientists to undertake an intensive study of bug blight. One objective will be to find whether insects or some other agent transmit the virus.

Completion of the project is expected to take several years. In the meantime, the beleaguered farmer will have to fight bug blight in his soybeans as best he can with whatever weapons are available. Meat boycott or not, life down on the farm is neither easy nor as simple as some people seem to think.

WASHINGTON — A strong man wept.

With compassion transcending stale officialdom he had read a report on a village in Bangladesh where unremitting hunger and disease are a sentence of early death and misery on the way to a nameless grave.

The report was written not in the bureaucratese of graphs and statistics but in the personal experience of a condemned people.

So the foreign aid bill will go up to Congress. It will be chivvied at, chipped away, given the disdainful treatment of those who feel that this pitcher has been brought to the well once too often. The folks in Bangladesh, in Chad, in Upper Volta, in Mali, in Mauritania have no votes. They are not constituents.

With so many troubes at home — trade deficits and dollar deficits — the door of public opinion has been slammed shut on foreign aid. We can do it, as one official with the broadest knowledge of the whole aid picture puts it, we have the resources, but we don't want to do it. In short, nobody, or almost nobody, gives a damn.

The United States today is giving .32 per cent of our gross national product to the underdeveloped nations. The average for other advanced Western nations is .485. The American figure is expected to drop in the near future to .24 per cent.

VARIOUS rationalizations are conveniently at hand to salve the conscience. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says the program has become largely military, with economic aid a mere appendage. While this is true in part, at least a strong lead from Congress might turn it around.

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says he would be for multilateral aid with American help funneled through international agenc -, but he is opposed to unilateral aid. Since overwhelming majorities are opposed to turning dollars over to United Nations or other international agencies, this is one way of saying no.

The Agency for International Development (AID) has a stout persuader in John A. Hannah, its director, who was for many years president of Michigan State University. For the past four years he has carried the case to Congress with an ardor that is not diminished by his awareness he is speaking for a faceless people who cast ballots in no American election.

"What kind of world do you want your children or your grandchildren to live in?" he asks. "Don't think you can shut out for all time the 73 per cent of the world's people living below or close to the subsistence line. The Americans' 6 per cent of the world's population must not think that they can go on using anywhere from 35 to 50 per cent of the world's resources. Think of the kind of world your grandchildren will live in, inundated by a tidal wave of poverty driven to despair and open hostility."

Since December, 1971, when Bangladesh, which had been East Pakistan, became independent AID has furnished $367 million. This has come in cash, food under PL 480, medical supplies, coastal vessels to restart trade along the coast and advances to United Nations relief agencies. Loans have come from the World Bank and its adjunct, the International Development Agency.

IN VIEW of the need it is the proverbial drop in the bucket—and particularly in light of the population increase estimated, which is a guess since statistics are dubious, at three per cent a year. That, incidentally, is another out for the skeptics—why try to bail out a leaking ship when water runs in faster than it can be put out? As the Bangladesh report says, the mud huts have no light and so when the sun goes down they have nothing to do but procreate.

Hannah cites five sub-Saharan countries nearly as badly off as Bangladesh. They are Mali, Upper Volta, Mauritania, Chad and Niger. The encroachment of the desert casts a dark pall over the future, with survival in doubt. AID is promoting an experimental program in growing crops in desert sand. And a trickle of PL 480 surplus food is going to these marginal nations and to five others in Africa where existence is also threatened.

To make any headway against this tidal wave of poverty would require strong dramatic leadership from the White House and Congress, a recasting of priorities, a public willingness to sacrifice. All this is nonexistent.

So let's go out and have a big steak for dinner. After all, that great sacrifice of meatless week is over, isn't it?

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

We would like to say thanks to the Dayton Power & Light Co. and to the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for a couple of things.

Last Friday afternoon we experienced a breakdown of both of these services at our office due to an accidental severance of wires. Both companies were on the scene immediately and restored full service to our office even though their men were on the job well after quitting time.

Secondly, we want to express our appreciation for the courtesy with which the call for help was received and carried on by the men on the job.

Guess these are just little things we often overlook but from the top down, these two companies are something the Washington C. H. area can be proud of.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Not knowing the laws of the press which govern what is printed or published, I hesitated to write this letter.

I have always felt that I could permit my children to read the local family newspaper without fear of their little minds (one 9, the other 12) being infiltrated with trash, or shall we put a fancy name on it, pornography.

If the local news media feel they have to start displaying nude pictures in our local paper then they can come and take down my rural mail box.

If our local paper had enough morals to speak out against the improper display of advertisement in behalf of the local cinema (which didn't last long) then why would a nude picture of a stripper be displayed in our family newspaper? (the reference is to an opera performance in New Orleans).

There is a move across this great land of ours to destroy every good and decent privilege that is God-given. It is high time we awake ourselves and realize just what is taking place in the land of America. God is viewing the scene from His throne in Heaven and one day he is going to rain down fire from Heaven and destroy the whole world. Are you ready to meet him? Are we preparing for death? May God help us all. Faster will soon be here. Why not attend the church of your choice.

So there will be no mystery as to the picture I'm relating to, it was printed on page 9 of Monday's edition. Thank you.

Thoughts on Ellsberg

As the trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo drags on, the prosecution's case appears to become less and less convincing. This no doubt derives in part from heavy reliance on the arguments over "national security" which abounded during the Vietnamese War but now seem so outmoded in light of actual events.

One item of news emerging from the trial, however, has shocked us back into the era of the mid-1960s. This is Ellsberg's testimony that only after visiting Vietnam did he turn from "hawk" to "dove."

The interesting thing about this is that it emphasizes Ellsberg's own participating in formulating war policy. It becomes clear, from his testimony and from his book, "Papers on the War," that Ellsberg - so recently of New Left fame - was in fact intimately involved in the early planning of the war.

Not only did he defend American policy in early teach-ins on the war, but he also was involved in planning some of the clandestine raids - now known as the "34-A operations" - on North Vietnam. Close observers have asserted that it was only after such raids on the North Vietnamese in 1964 that Hanoi dared to attack American ships patrolling offshore. One consequence of this was the notorious Tonkin Gulf incident.

How quickly events move and memories fade. Along with President Johnson, Robert S. McNamara and Dean Rusk, we must place Daniel Ellsberg as one who had a hand in developing and advocating the course of action which later proved so disastrous. His later efforts to alert the public at some danger to his own reputation and security are commendable. They do not wholly cancel out a circumstance of great importance. This is that had Ellsberg and others of like mind not fostered some of the mistakes and deceptions he now condemns, release of the Pentagon Papers might not have been deemed necessary.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a widower gets tired of hearing:

"You'll love to meet her, Joe—she's just your type."

"You've got to quit thinking of the past. After all, you're still a young man—comparatively speaking, anyway."

"Why don't you come eat with us tonight, Joe? Me and the missus aren't speaking, and maybe you could help break the deadlock."

"Listen, old pal, will you do a buddy a favor? How about me borrowing your apartment tonight? You could go to the movies or something."

"How's your love life, kid? A guy with his own salary to spend — I'll bet you have to beat them away with a baseball bat."

"You'll thank me later for introducing you to her, Joe. She sews her own clothes and likes opera."

"This is the second time you've had us up here this month, sir. Don't you know you're not supposed to try to flush hot grease and paper towels down the toilet simply because your sink is full of dishes?"

"Did you ever think you might be too particular, Joe? You know you're not getting any younger, and beggars can't be choosers."

"I'd like to go to the poker game with you tonight, Joe, but I can't. My wife and I are celebrating our 20th wedding anniversary."

"You're not the only one who misses her, Mr. Joe. It's so lonely now when I come to clean your apartment. Every minute I still keep expecting to hear her call from another room. She was a real lady."

"I don't blame you for not rushing into another marriage, Joe. I rushed into three of them — and I'll probably die in alimony jail."

"Aw, come on, Joe. Let's stay and have a couple more. You won't get bawled out if you get home late."

"All you've got in your refrigerator is four pounds of hamburger and three packages of cottage cheese. Is that all you ever fix yourself for dinner?"

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dodging the IRS can be taxing

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a very successful business. He is a devoted, faithful husband and a wonderful father. All my friends think I'm the luckiest woman in the world. I would be, if it weren't for the fact that I am terrified that my husband will go to prison for income tax evasion.

He hasn't paid any taxes in six years. At first he really didn't have the money at tax time. The next year he put off filing until it was too late. The third year he didn't need an excuse. Now he says he knows plenty of others who don't pay any taxes, so why should he?

I have talked to him until I'm blue in the face. Now he refuses to even discuss it.

Abby, Iam worried sick that with the new computer system they will soon catch up with him. What can I do?

JANE DOE

DEAR JANE: If you can't talk some sense into his head, confide in your lawyer and ask him to. If he 'fesses up, the penalty will be considerably lighter than if the feds catch him.

DEAR ABBY: Listen to this. A friend of mine is pregnant and some of her friends are getting together to give her a baby shower. This woman is 44 years old, soon to be 45, and she has six children and is a grandmother to boot. (Her oldest is 23 and her youngest is 12.) I say it's ridiculous to give a shower for a woman this age. Some of my friends disagree with me. What do you say?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I see nothing ridiculous about it. On the contrary, I can't think of anyone who could use the lift more.

DEAR ABBY: This letter about "Jane," who was convinced that she should take care of her elderly father has haunted me.

I am 60, and God forbid any of my children should ever have to "take care" of me. I want my children to remember me as a strong person who is capable of taking care of himself. It would present all kinds of problems and I'd feel guilty.

Just give me a room in a good clean nursing home where I can have my own corner, forget responsibility and can be served without feelings that I'm imposing. I don't want to worry about illness, family quarrels, or the grandchildren's grades. I've been through all that. Give me peace.

Don't forget me, though. Call and write now and then. And invite me for Sunday dinner occasionally. Let me entertain you in my room. But please, don't try to "take care" of me. Let me retain some dignity in my old age.

GETTING THERE

DEAR ABBY: You goofed when you referred to the marriage of the 40-year-old nurse to a 22-year-old man as a "May-December" marriage. It's scarcely September for us gals in our forties.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you hear "The Lone Ranger" on radio these days, don't be alarmed. It's still 1973.

What is happening is an aural time warp caused by Charles Michelson, a New York broadcasting veteran who for eight years has been promoting a gradual mini-boom in radio nostalgia.

He owns the rights to rebroadcast a dozen half-hour radio series that were the real biggies of the 1940s, series like "The Green Hornet," "The Shadow," "Gangbusters" and "Sherlock Holmes."

He began leasing them to stations in 1965 and says the shows now can be heard on more than 400 stations in major, medium and minor markets across the U.S.

Michelson got in the broadcasting business in 1938 as a distributor of the shows that now are his golden oldies. His market went flat in the 1950s with the arrival of television.

He went into television as a buyer of U.S. programs for overseas TV stations. But he kept the 16-inch shellac records on which the words and deeds of Lamont Cranston, Kato and others were preserved.

"We decided around Christmastime in 1964 to throw out these old records," said Michelson, 63. "But just before we did it, I got a little sentimental — it must have been the holiday season — and I said, 'let's see if maybe we can do something with them'."

Whereupon he wrote to friends he'd known for years at 25 key radio stations in the U.S. He proposed a revival of radio's golden days. Twelve said they were interested and he was in business.

But first there was a period of negotiations with the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists. The talks involved fees that would have to be paid the artists on the original radio shows.

"We didn't even have a list of the original actors, anymore," he laughed. "We finally had a committee of actors from the old days come in and listen to the shows and identify the voices."

The necessary fee arrangements were made and he went to work.

Oddly enough, the greatest fans at the start were college students running campus radio stations.

"They looked on this as camp material, you might say," observed Michelson, who says the radio nostalgia market now falls roughly into three categories.

One is the youth market, teen-agers for whom "The Lone Ranger" is something new and exciting. The second is the memory lane market, people who grew up listening to radio. The third is the freeway market, motorists who'd rather hear "Fibber McGee and Molly" than music or news during the rush hour.

Sponsors certain Nixon to sign aid to elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sponsors say they've been assured President Nixon will sign a newly approved package of programs to aid the elderly.

The scaled-down program was approved by the House and Senate in quick succession Wednesday. It was a new version of one Nixon vetoed last year.

The vetoed bill authorized $2 billion for three years. The new version authorizes $543.6 million over three years. The House vote was 348 to 0. The Senate acted by voice vote.

The new version retains most of the programs in the earlier bill—including health, recreation and nutrition—but removes the dollar amounts for funding most of them, leaving it up to the annual appropriation process to fix the amounts.

Mothers' Circle discusses city recreation

When the Mothers' Circle met at the home of Mrs. Allen Meyers. Charles Wallace was the guest speaker. Mr. Wallace, a teacher at Miami Trace High School, spoke on the activities of the City Recreation Department of which he is director.

Eyman Park is the center of the summer program with an arts and crafts program conducted every week day he said. Some of the other activities noted were volleyball, softball, basketball, archery, tennis and horseshoe pitching. Mr. Wallace hopes to conduct another 'Fishing Derby' this summer for the younger children.

The Recreation Program is funded by the city, softball leagues and the Eyman Trust Fund. A lengthy discussion was held following the talk on ways to improve the program and increase the participation.

The president, Mrs. Birch Rice, conducted a business meeting and reported on two meetings she attended concerning the opening of schools on evenings and during the summer for community education. The program is still in the beginning stages and the club expressed a desire to support this project.

Mrs. Meyers reported on the success of the spring sale earlier this month. The profits will enable the club to carry out some of its philanthropic plans during the year.

Members will be contacted later as to the plans for the next meeting. The hostesses who served a dessert course were Mrs. Hugh Patton,Mrs. Donald Ginn and Mrs. Jack Montgomery. The program chairman was Mrs. Clyde Cramer.

Make sure your cakes, cookies and quick breads are completely cool before storing them.

Income drop quickly ends 'days of wine and roses'

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Bob Connors used to own a twin-engine, 30-foot boat, buy new cars every other year, and dine out on steak three times a week.

Now, the boat has been sold, they're still driving their 1967 station wagon with 112,000 miles, and a $6 barbercue dinner once a month is a special treat.

Connor, 36, a furniture salesman, father of five children with four teen-agers living at home, had been living the good life and his only thought was that it would get better. But then he lost his job and the subsequent 30 per cent drop in family income disrupted his dreams. Adding to the problem were the rising costs in living and the expensive tastes acquired over the years.

The Connors are facing their first real financial bind.

"I'm desperately concerned," said Connor, a balding man of medium build. "The only thing that keeps me going is that I still have a few years ahead of me and maybe things will pick up for us again."

He used to earn about $19,000 as an assistant manager at a large furniture store in Houston. His wife, Dolores, brought in another $6,000 for secretarial and accounting work.

Their four-bedroom Spanish-style house on the outskirts of Houston is still decorated with touches of their more affluent days. There are several sets of Mediterranean furniture, thick shag rugs and six-foot plastic flowering plants.

"We paid cash for everything and there wasn't anything I couldn't buy if I wanted it," said Dee, a lively, petite blonde. Daughters Nancy, Paula and Theresa took modeling lessons, Jay and Butch were active in the town sports programs. The family exchanged $1,000 worth of gifts at Christmas. The Conners had all they wanted and about two years ago Dee quit her job so she could be home for the children.

Then, last year, Bob left his job for a combination of personal reasons and pressures on his firm due to increased competition. He took another sales position paying about $13,000.

Everything seemed to fall apart at the same time.

There were three operations in the family and $5,000 in medical bills and no insurance to cover them. Payments on the boat, the furniture, the freezer started to pile up. Food prices, taxes, insurance rates all went up as well.

Now, the Connors are several thousand dollars in debt.

In an effort to get clear, Bob sold the boat. "That was so depressing," said Bob grimacing. "I really felt I'd had my day."

The Connors next sold their mutual funds and withdrew all their savings. They applied for two loans, and considered selling the house to move into an apartment. Dee went back to work part time as free-lance secretary and real estate sales person.

The penny-pinching and scraping to get by began.

Dee supported this month's meat boycott, but then the Connors had not been eating much beef the last few months. The huge freezer they still owe money for is empty. Dee used to buy tenderloins for the family for $10. She can't afford to spend that much now, and besides that same cut of beef has gone up to $13. Their grocery bill is about $50 a week, which is about what it was two years ago, says Dee, but then there were steaks in the shopping bags as well.

Family meals consist of lots of chicken, chili, lasagna and spaghetti. Bob has gone from 135 to 170 pounds in the last year. "It's probably because I quit smoking, but it sure must have something to do with all that starchy stuff we have to eat, too."

The Connors talk wistfully about "the good old days" when things were "flush."

"We took a fantastic vacation once to Colorado with the children. We charged everything and had $1,300 in traveler's checks, Now, we can't even afford to go to Corpus Christi," says Dee.

They still have American Express and Carte Blanche charge cards but keep them only for future days. There are no new clothes or spending money for the children, and gone are the days when they could give 14-year-old Butch a custom-made surfboard.

"I consider buying a magazine a form of entertainment," says Dee, who picks up her monthly Cosmopolitan at the stands and has kept up her subscriptions to Reader's Digest, National Geographic, Bon Appetit and Vintage, a gourmet wine magazine to satisfy her epicurean tastes. Dee is fascinated by French wines, knows the best year for Nuits St. Georges, but the only bottle on the kitchen shelves now is Italian Swiss Colony for cooking.

Dee, a smart dresser, is partial to name designers for herself and her daughters, one of whom made the best-dressed list at school. She was used to spending several thousand on clothes but today she can't remember when she last bought a dress.

Both Dee and Bob have to drive more than a half hour to work. Keeping up the station wagon and the 1970 Pontiac is an $80 month expense they have to cope with. But they have started to use the self-service gas stations. A gallon of gas is 10 cents cheaper there.

Some pleasures are hard to give up, no matter what the cost. "We bought a dog the children all loved only to discover it was allergic to fleas," said Dee. "Well, you don't just get rid of the dog. So we have to spend about $30 for cortisone shots twice a year."

It's important to Dee to look good. "You've got to present yourself well to the world. I don't want to look like some tacky, dumb housewife and no matter how tough things get, I won't give up my make-up and false eyelashes."

Dee easily spent $40 a month for bleaching her hair, but has been using that money to pay off the furniture. She wears wigs every day so she doesn't have to go to the beauty parlor for a set. There was a time when she owned about 20 wigs, but they've long since been sold and she's down to three.

"What I miss most," said Dee, "is not being able to go into a department store and buy what I want. Once if I saw a beautiful set of crystal glasses, I just handed the saleslady $100 and walked out with a box. I haven't bought anything that wasn't an absolute necessity in months."

Bob says he'd really like to have his own furniture store some day. But that requires lots of capital. For a time the Connors considered selling their house for $30,000, but Dee was reluctant.

"It's the only thing we have. It's our only security. What if the new business didn't work out? Then where would we be?"

Slate production of electric cars

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Aronson, a Detroit inventor, says he hopes next fall to begin producing a four-passenger electric car for the American automobile market.

Aronson says he is negotiating with two Michigan firms to produce 100 of his X-144 Electricars a month starting in September. The inventor claims he already has 1,000 orders, including some from the Avis car rental concern.

"Avis is going to be renting my cars in Chicago and Milwaukee as soon as they're ready," he said.

Electricar carries a $3,950 price tag and will combine the body of an American Motors subcompact Gremlin with Aronson's patented lead cobalt battery power source.

Aronson says the car can be operated from batteries charged by ordinary household electric current for only one cent a mile. He says this compares to about three cents a mile for gas-burning cars.

The Electricar has no exhaust emissions. Aronson says it cruises at 65 miles per hour and can run up to 100 miles on an overnight charge of household current costing about 40 cents.

"We feel every family should have two cars — a gas car for long trips and an electric car for town shopping," he said. "Since we don't have that many charge stations around yet, we're not expecting to replace the internal combustion car for long trips."

Quick booster charges from special stations would be required for trips longer than 100 miles. Boosters were installed in a string of Holiday Inns between Detroit and Chicago for a 1970 cross-country electric car race won by one of Aronson's cars.

"We're not interested in making bodies and chassis, because too many people already do that too well," Aronson said. "Eventually we hope to supply our propulsion system to the big automakers, instead of their supplying us the bodies."

About 60 Electricars already are on the road. They were hand-built at Aronson's Electric Fuel Propulsion Corp. office in suburban Ferndale.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I bought a cabinet second-hand and attempted to take off the old varnish finish, since I wanted to refinish it. I put on a good quality varnish remover and, after it softened the finish, scraped and scraped.

A lot of old varnish came off, but there's still plenty of it on. I can't even see any of the bare wood. It seems to me there must have been half a dozen coats of varnish there originally and apparently I got off only one or two of them.

I'd like to know whether repeating the whole operation will help any or would I be wasting my time and money?

A. — Yes, repeat the entire process. But this time don't do any scraping until you have determined that all or most of the varnish will come off. First, after applying the varnish remover generously, wait at least 30 minutes before you touch it.

Then scrape a bit in just one area of the wood. If you see that all of the varnish is not going to yield to your efforts, apply another coat of the remover right on top of the first one.

Wait another 30 minutes, then scrape. The chances are most or all of the old finish will disappear.

But if it doesn't, you'll just have to repeat the project a third time. If you get off most of the varnish, you may find that the rest of it will give way with a vigorous sanding, using a paper with a heavy grit.

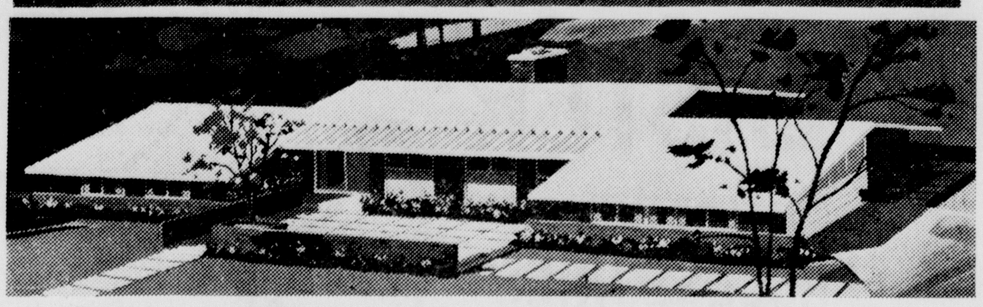

Q. — I have to attach some 2 by 4s to a concrete wall. Can I use concrete nails and is there any special way of hammering them so they won't bend?

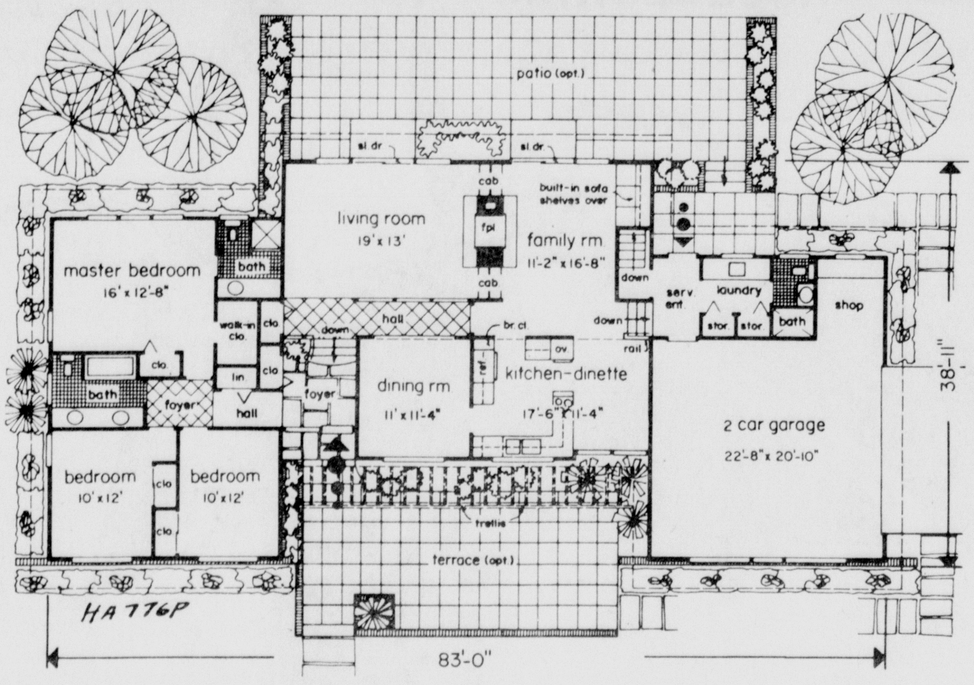

A. — Concrete nails can be used on most concrete walls. They are driven into the 2 by 4s and then into the wall. You won't be able to tell their effectiveness by testing them by driving a couple into the wall without the wood, because they will bend quickly.

But the fact that most of a nail is in the wood before it hits the concrete usually will prevent it from bending. Sometimes, however, you will strike a spot or even an entire wall which will resist all your efforts.

You can rent a tool for driving concrete nails or attach the studs with a special adhesive.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

TRADITION OF THE PRAIRIE HOUSE — This exciting low ranch with wide sheltering roofs and broad overhangs makes the statement: exterior space around the perimeter is vital to the function and beauty of the spaces inside. Main living zones are distinctly defined, assisted by a subtle change in level. The off-set, three-bedroom wing has its own circulation foyer converted to the main foyer by a hall. The activity areas are further subdivided into the formal living and dining rooms and kitchen, dinette and family room. The utility spaces consist of two-car garage, shop and laundry with adjacent bath. Samuel Paul, 107-40 Queens Blvd., Forest Hills, N.Y. 11375, designed Plan HA776P, 1,810 square feet in area. Anyone interested in learning the cost of the plan can write to him.

ON THE HOUSE

Any home handyman knows that no matter how many power tools he has in his workshop, there are certain basic hand tools which must always be kept on hand.

One of these is the hacksaw, used principally for cutting metal. Although in many cases it may not be used more than four or five times a year, it is well worth its moderate cost when those occasions arise.

Adeptness in using the ordinary crosscut saw for wood is no guarantee of equal skill in manipulating a hacksaw. For one thing, the hacksaw is held and used hortzontally, whereas a crosscut saw is pushed and pulled at a decided angle. Also, a crosscut saw may be used on a piece of wood held in place with one hand and a knee, while a hacksaw should be used only on a piece of metal clamped in a vise or otherwise solidly secured.

HACKSAW BLADES are placed into metal frames, preferably adjustable to take blades of different sizes. The blades are rated by their pitch, a technical word that refers to the number of teeth per inch.

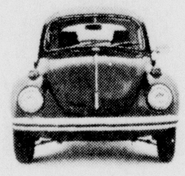

A blade with a pitch of 18 has 18 teeth per inch. For general use, the pitches range from 14 to 32. Those with 14 and 18 teeth per inch work best on the heavier metals, those with larger pitches are recommended for tubing and thin metals.

When a blade is inserted into a frame, the teeth should point away from the handle. In using, place one hand on the handle and one hand at the part of the frame the farthest away from you. Apply light pressure on the forward stroke with light materials, heavier pressure on heavy materials. Remember that the cutting is done only on the forward stroke, so release the pressure entirely as you bring back the saw.

Try to get into some kind of rhythm so that you take long, even strokes, bringing all or most of the blade's teeth into contact with the metal.

A HACKSAW blade sometimes will break — and there are at least a dozen reasons why it does so. The most common is that the tension on the blade was too tight to too loose. When you place the blade in the frame, tension is created by turning a wingnut.

The nut should be turned clockwise until it is fairly tight. Giving it one extra turn to make it even tighter may create too much tension. And there won't be enough tension if the wingnut isn't reasonably tight. If you begin cutting and the blade begins to bend, it means there isn't enough tension.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

In a cardboard box 16 inches long, nine inches wide and 1½ inches tall you can get a complete garden that will provide you with fresh vegetables or flowers all season long.

From the folk who last year produced the (Jiffy) Head Starter tiny greenhouse comes a new garden kit. Grandma's Flower Garden has 24 peat pellets, 4 plastic growing trays and 10 different varieties of easy-to-grow seeds — zinnia, cosmos, celosia, moss rose, sweet alyssum, bachelor button, flowering tabacco, marigold, labelia and spider plant.

Gourmet Vegetable Garden has 10 kinds of vegetable seeds. Or you can get a Preseeded Garden Series, each kit containing 6 peat pellets in a pastic tray. You can have a choice of alyssum, marigolds, zinnias, peppers, tomatoes and cherry tomatoes.

All you do is add water, later thin out and sink the little pot in the garden when the weather is warm.

It should add to your pleasure to know that the kits are assembled by mentally handicapped people in an Illinois institution, providing the first pay checks for most. A booklet on growning and arranging flowers is included.

GRANDMA'S GARDEN

"Since trees don't have a mouth, much less a tongue to tuck a thermometer under, we measure how fast the tree breathes in air and gives off oxygen," says plant pathologist John H. Hart of Michigan State University.

Respiration, or breathing, to a tree is like temperature to a human. Something is wrong if the rate of respiration goes up.

The fungus causing Dutch elm disease gives off a toxic compound Hart relates. When a tree is infected, its respiration rate goes way up before visible signs of wilting appear. Another sickness indicator is how much water the tree loses into the atmosphere.

"Elm trees begin to lose water every soon after the fungus invades them," Hart explained. "Major losses occur when visible signs of the disease appear. In fact, the wilting and dead leaves are directly due to the water shortages."

Michigan home owners in a few years should be able to replace stricken elms with a disease-resistant elm variety. An MSU breeding project begun in 1969 is expected to produce a suitable variety that resists the fungus disease that nearly wiped out southern Michigan's older elm population.

One type, the Siberian elm, resists the disease but tends to break down during ice storms and hasn't the big leaves or fine shape of the American elm.

The forestry department is screening 600 elm samples from 200 countries, including Bulgaria, Siberia and Japan.

AN UNUSUAL item is Vegetable Gourd, 4-5 inch with flavor and keeping quality of winter squash. May be left in arrangement with other gourds until you are ready to eat it. May be stuffed with meat and baked as a pepper. From Park Seeds, Greenwood, S.C.

The hake, a family of marine fish closely related to the cod, is a source of annoyance to salmon fishermen because of net damage.

Trees Can't Say Ah

They're taking the temperatures of trees infected with Dutch elm disease to determine how they react to the ailment.

Ohio firm finds money in quietness

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—Noise pollution has turned into big business for a Mentor company which supplies the polyurethane foam Detroit automakers use to keep their cars whisper quiet inside.

The one-year-old firm, Preform Sealants, Inc., expected to gross up to $200,000 in 1972 after it opened its doors in August, according to President John R. Humphrey.

"But we did better than $200,000 in September and October alone," he said.

Among the company's customers so far are American Motors and General Motors, which fills all of its sound-absorbing foam needs from Preform Sealants.

"No one else has been interested in making this," said Humphrey, who expects to build the firm into a $5 million concern within a few years. "They've felt there wasn't any money in it, I hope they don't change their minds."

The plant currently employs 15 people, and Humphrey said he provided a plant manager this week because "things were just getting too much for me to handle by myself."

Executive job applicants do poor homework

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The executive job market is booming again, with perhaps 5,000 new openings a month in the $15,000 and up category, but a lot of applicants are writing themselves into the discard heap.

These otherwise accomplished executives haven't mastered the simple art of writing a resume that will give the facts clearly and concisely, says William Breitmayer, who scans thousands each month.

About 15 per cent of those received by Breitmayer, president of Executive Register, "are messy and illegible, are shoddy quality machine copies, or simply are so poorly written that even we can't make head or tail of them."

It's understandable, says Breitmayer, whose company computer processes the applications for its corporate clients, that an executive, like anyone else, would find it awkward to write about himself.

"When a successful person severs relations with a company it's like a divorce, even if he initiated the action. He feels on the defensive and he doesn't present his best. He finds it difficult to tell a straightforward story."

The same curious phenomenon has been observed elsewhere, too. When 40-plus clubs were formed in 1970 to help find jobs for idle executives aged 40 or more, it was found that resumes were one of the major obstacles.

It was discovered that men and women who were masters in dictating business letters to secretaries were helpless when it came to writing objective reports on their own careers, especially without a secretary's aid.

Since Breitmayer, whose headquarters are in New Canaan, Conn., with offices in New York and San Francisco, makes his living by supplying computerized data on executives to his corporate clients, he would just as soon not have to toss away several hundred resumes each month. And so he sets some guidelines:

—The first item should be a brief, personal sketch that gives the reader a feeling of knowing a little bit about you. Include date and place of birth, marital status, children, address, telephones, height, weight, health, foreign languages.

—The second item should be your educational background, with the names of each institution attended, majors studied, and the date each should use no more than one-third of the first page.
first page.

—Provide specific details on your career, starting with your present or most recent position and concentrating on the most recent 10 years.

List the name of the company, and the city and state where employed. Describe your responsibilities in each job clearly, showing the chain of command through which you reported as well as functions reported to you.

Figures on the size of the company and your part of it, including sales, numbers of units or people, will help give weight to your story. Give the specifics, but keep it brief and stick to the main points.

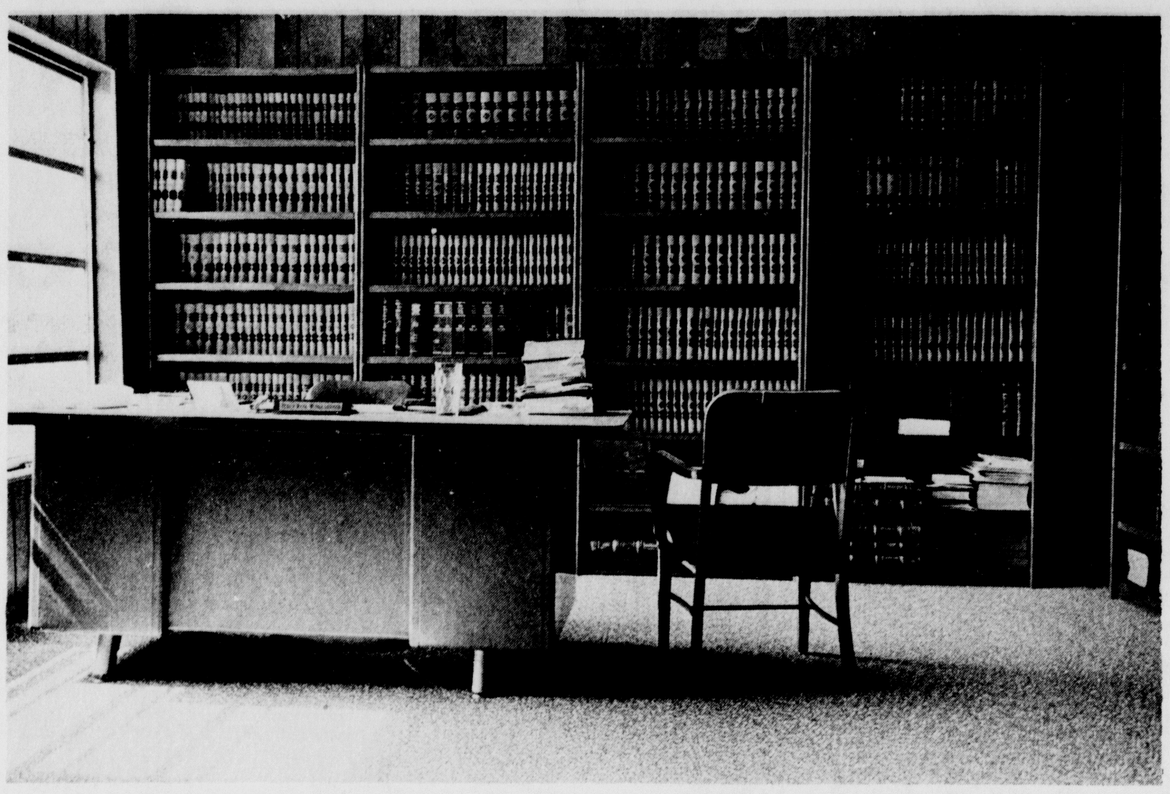

An employer is interested only in the "what" of your jobs, not in your own qualitative judgment of how well you did them. Try not to force your words. Be straightforward, and let the reader decide for himself.

—Speak for yourself. Resumes produced by resume writing firms fall into a set pattern which is recognized and downgraded by employers. Since you pay their bill, resume writers describe your virtues too extravagantly.

—Reproduce your resume professionally. Don't try to save money by typing your own resume or by using carbon copies or cheap machine reproductions. Have it typed professionally and reproduced on offset.

Don't crowd the page but use enough white space so that it can be read easily and quickly. Underline titles and company names. Use short sentences and paragraphs.

Remember that you want the reader to say: "This person has put together a simple and clear statement of what he has done, and where and how he has done it. Therefore, he must also be well organized and effective."

NEW JUDICIAL CHAMBERS — City workmen recently completed remodeling of the former fire chief's office on the second floor of the City Building, converting it into a new office for Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner. The office was moved into the room adjoining the old chambers to alleviate the crowded conditions in the clerk of courts office. The clerk's office will be expanded after some remodeling into the former judge's chambers.

Ohio Perspective

Oberlin's litter battle goes well

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — This northern Ohio city's year-old fight against the litter of nonreturnable drink containers is going well, reports City Manager Thomas Dalton.

Oberlin prohibited the sale or possession of non-returnable beer and soft drink containers about a year ago. Since then the city has required separation of paper from other trash, and has encouraged keeping glass and metal separate as well.

"You obviously see much fewer cans strewn about the streets," said Dalton. "The concensus of downtown merchants is that they see less and less of the metal and glass, and the trash just tends to be paper.

Dalton said the paper program made money, but the glass and metal program lost money.

"Overall," he said, "we're just about breaking even."

Paper, metal and glass are sold for recycling. Profit or loss is measured against the cost of collecting the trash items.

He said "some can people" conducted a study here recently and found results in their favor.

The single store which had a problem because of the ordinance now feels sales are back to normal, Dalton said. That one, a convenience grocery, sold 3.2 beer and felt the quantity didn't warrant handling returnable bottles. It dropped the beer.

Bundles of paper are picked up the same day as general rubbish, but a separate truck is used. Then the paper is sold. Separation is mandatory, and Dalton says about 50 per cent observe the ordinance. He also says this is high compliance.

But, the glass and metal separation is a voluntary matter, and Dalton said it is more of a problem for the city as well as for its residents.

They must store the glass until trucks come around twice a month, for instance. And being breakable, it is a handling problem for the pickup crew, he said.

That program, Dalton says, "is in the red," but the paper project "is more than breaking even." The money is pumped back into the program—recycling the cash.

2 apartment buildings damaged by fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Fire destroyed two apartment buildings under construction on Columbus' far east side Wednesday night, and the state fire marshal's office was asked to investigate the possibility of arson.

Damage was estimated at $75,000. Fire officials said the blaze apparently started in the interior of one of the buildings.

Crackdown set on calls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Bell Telephone Co. announced Wednesday it is getting tough with college students who give false credit card numbers to make long distance calls.

Until now the company has merely asked for payment and has not prosecuted youths making such calls, an Ohio Bell spokesman said, because of the "permanent damaging effect a conviction for fraud would have on their future careers."

But the decision to crack down was made because the practice has been growing, the spokesman said.

He said about $5,000 worth of illegal phone calls are made each month from the Ohio State University campus in Columbus and about $25,000 a month around the state.

Persons convicted of using false credit card numbers could be jailed for up to six months and fined up to $500.

Ancient city of Anshan could change history books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio State University anthropologist says his discovery of the ancient city of Anshan in southwestern Iran disproves the theory that Mesopotomia was the exclusive location of early Near Eastern urban civilization.

Dr. William M. Sumner said his excavations show the city existed as far back as 3,000 to 3,200 B.C.

This is about the same time, Sumner said, attributed to the first cities in Mesopotomia, an area in the lower valley of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers.

"Anshan is as old as Mesopotomia," Sumner said. "Whether it is older we won't know until we make further digs."

Anshan is about 700 miles from Mesopotomia.

Sumner said material he has found at Anshan indicates the city had "contact and trade with other cities, probably including Mesopotomia.

"Mesopotomia was a resource-starved area," he said. "Just rivers and clay. They needed to be provided with stone and wood to build with. There was plenty of wood and stone in Anshan, which is located in the Zagros Mountains."

Sumner believes the city was abandoned in the first or second century A.D. He thinks the population ranged from 10,000 to 30,000.

Sumner discovered Anshan in 1967 while doing research work for his doctorate degree. He returned in 1971 for a month of excavation, dug for two more months last year and plans to return in the fall of 1974 for several more months of work.

Eagleton rips U. S. bombing

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, DMo., attacked President Nixon's Asian policies Wednesday, charging that the Cambodian bombing has "some of the earmarks" of the initial U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

During a news conference at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport, and again in a speech on the Elyria campus of Lorain Community College, Eagleton attacked the bombing as "without a legal or constitutional basis."

Complaining that the bombing has drawn little attention, The Missouri senator said "I see no resolve in Congress to terminate the U.S. presence in Southeast Asia. I don't detect the will either in Congress or in the people at large."

Eagleton praised President Nixon for his order suspending oil imports. He said he favors increased importation of oil but recognizes that "there are great foreign policy questions. If we become over-dependent on Mideast oil we will have some national security or defensive implications that will be quite serious."

Eagleton had appearances scheduled today in Akron and Cleveland.

Athens police chief demoted to captain

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Capt. Ted Jones has been named acting Athens police chief following the demotion of Charles Cochran to captain because of an incident last week in which he wrecked his unmarked cruiser.

Following a week of administrative hearings, Mayor Donald Barrett demoted Cochran for taking a city vehicle out of the city without authorization on April 10 when the collision occurred.

Pen pal wedding also 1st meeting

By WILLIAM R. RUMBLER
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "I've told myself at times that this is crazy and that I can't go through with it, but I will," says Ron Word.

The 26-year-old productions engineer leaves May 3 for the Philippines to marry a pen pal he has never met.

Word has been exchanging letters and recording tapes with 20-year-old Grace Darlene Torralba for 18 months. They also have exchanged photographs of each other, but attempts to make connections by telephone have failed.

"About last December we found we cared for each other more than friendship," Word said of his fiancee, a medical student at the Nagaview campus of Philippine Union College. Her hometown is Legazpi, a small community on the main island of Luzon.

"Never having met is kind of foolish," Word said, adding that at first he was uncertain about the marriage plans.

However, he said his conviction was strengthened by the responses of his parents and friends.

Word said his parents "were surprised, but surprisingly happy. My mother is worried about the cost (for travel) but that was the only objection."

Word "met" his future wife through a pen pal advertisement. He described their relationship as "very compatible." He said he admires her intellectual development, her beliefs "and her over-all attitude. She has a curiosity about everything, a desire for knowledge."

He described himself as having the same traits.

Snow, rain cover much of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow whitened parts of the Rockies and rain splashed into areas east of the Mississippi Valley today as mild temperatures covered most of the nation.

Up to 6 inches of snow fell on sections of Wyoming through Wednesday and more snow piled up today in the northern and southern Rockies.

Heavy-snow warnings and travel advisories were posted in parts of the Northern Plains and much of the northern and central Rockies.

Thunderstorms which spread across the Plains from Nebraska to Texas spawned a number of tornadoes Wednesday. No extensive damage was reported and the rains subsided early today.

Rain showers, with snow in the mountains, also pelted the Pacific Northwest and the Great Basin and light rains fell from the Mississippi to the Atlantic Coast, sparing New England.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 20 at Evanston, Wyo., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Student aid bill passes Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — College students would be eligible for $872 million in federal aid to help them attend school if an emergency money bill gets presidential approval.

The bill, passed by Congress Wednesday, would direct President Nixon to continue the existing student aid programs instead of putting most of the money into a new one, as he had requested.

The $872 million for student aid is the same amount Nixon requested, but the bill provides only $122 million for the new basic grant program instead of the $622 million asked.

The Senate originally voted to raise the money for the new program to $385 million, but in conference with the House the higher figure was dropped in favor of the House version.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., who originally proposed the new program, objected strongly to the conference agreement but accepted it because of what he said was the urgent need of the colleges to know what financial aid will be available for students now applying for the fall term.

Pell said the allocation of funds in the bill would "destroy much of the effectiveness of the new program" for this year. He voiced hope Congress would greatly increase the funds for it in the fiscal 1974 budget, in which Nixon requested $959 million.

He succeeds Donald B. Laws in the $20,500-a-year job, effective May 1.

Little girl dies from inhaling Aerosol vapor

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Five-year-old Marcia Overfield, who had been in a coma for six days, died late Wednesday night in Hillcrest Hospital.

The child was found unconscious in her bedroom last Thursday with an aerosol can of medicated vaporizer nearby. Her physician, Dr. Eugene J. Weber said she apparently was suffering from toxic effects of the gaseous propellant in the aerosol can.

The coroner will rule.

Marcia's father, Ronald L. Overfield, said the family has used the decongestant for years. He said he found his daughter lying face down on her bed.

A handkerchief found nearby had been moistened with the spray, he said.

The child's heart had stopped but she was revived when she was admitted to the hospital.

An official of ChesebroughPonds, Inc., of Greenwich, Conn., which makes the vaporizer under the trade name Pertussin, said the container carries instructions that the spray is to be directed away from the user's face and that if used properly it is not hazardous.

A spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration said also the product is considered safe when used as recommended.

Overfield is curriculum director for Mayfield schools. He and his wife have two other daughters, 10 and 13.

Allergies from Fibre Glass

While sewing some curtains made out of fibre glass I developed a terrible itch and irritating redness of the hands.

Is it possible for someone to be allergic to this kind of material?

Mrs. H.H., Ind.

Dear Mrs. H.:

It is, of course, possible to be allergic to fibre glass as it is to almost every conceivable substance. The likelihood, however, is greater that tiny glass particles become embedded in your skin and caused the redness, the swelling, and the itching. This is not unusual.

Great care must be taken in handling this material while sewing or laundering, in order to prevent this reaction.

Dr. Robert R. Tomkins, of Camp Hill, Pa., has devised a simple way to remove particles of fibre glass. He uses nonallergic adhesive tape and applies it to the skin area that has been exposed to fibre glass material.

The tape is left on for 20 minutes to allow the fibre glass to become firmly embedded in the tape. When the tape is removed a soothing cortisone ointment is applied. The treatment is repeated if necessary.

Can stones be removed from the bladder without surgery?

Mr. T. E., R.I.

Dear Mr. T.:

Stones composed of calcium of uric acid and other minerals occasionally form in the urinary bladder.

Chronic infection of the urinary bladder, known as cystitis, may produce stones as large as a plum. Sometimes a small stone may pass from the kidney into the bladder, and there create further enlargement of the stone.

In older people, with problems of the prostate, urine may stagnate in the bladder because it is not completely emptied. This is another cause for stone formation.

There are no chemical ways to dissolve these stones. They are removed by opening surgically the bladder.

Another method, known as lithopaxy, breaks up the stones into small fragments which are then emptied out of the bladder. This is performed with a cystoscope which, too, is a surgical procedure.

Once these stones are removed, the reason for their formation must be found in order to avoid recurrence.

I have two sebaceous cysts on my scalp. Can these become cancerous?

Miss A. B., Fla.

Dear Miss B.:

These cysts, sometimes known as wens, occur on the scalp, but are also found on other parts of the body.

The never become cancerous. They are not dangerous. They can become troublesome if infected. Then they are more difficult to remove. For this reason it is wise to have these cysts removed promptly.

Bicycle club stresses safety

By JACK SOMMERS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Two Fayette County girls picked up many new ideas at Buckeye Recreation Workshop in Coshocton last week. Patty Pollard and Brenda Coe reported that Buckeye Recreation Workshop was a "great experience." Through the workshop the girls learned new crafts, games and dances that will be used in the 1973 4-H Camping Program.

The girls said they enjoyed the chance to share ideas with new friends from all over Ohio. They were sponsored by the Ohio 4-H Foundation and the Fayette County 4-H Committee.

Cathy Massie, 4-H program assistant, reports that "Bucky the Bicycle" had an enjoyable visit at the Home Show. "Bucky," with the help of his hidden assistant, talked with many of the Home Show visitors.

He emphasized bicycle safety and encouraged youngsters to join the 4-H bicycle program this summer.

"4-H Bicycle clubs," Bucky explained, "can help boys and girls learn how to take care of their bikes, be safe on the streets, and have fun too!" For information on joining a bicycle club, call the County Extension Office, 335-1150.

Food, fixins and fellowship are available at the Wayne Progressive Farmers' annual fish fry Friday. The Progressive Farmers 4-H Club will serve a tasty meal and give talks an opportunity to remake old acquaintances.

The fish fry is from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 20, at Wayne Hall in Good Hope. The income, $1.50 for adults and $1 for children, will help the club support their many community service activities.

Two important events for 4-H'ers taking livestock projects are planned next week. First, on Thursday, April 26, 7:30 to 9 p.m., a Lamb and Pig Selection Clinic is planned at the fairgrounds. Members will pick up some useful information to select and plan their 1973 project.

The second event is the Shepherds' Club Lamb Auction at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 28, at the fairgrounds. Over 150 quality lambs have been consigned by lamb producers. The sale provides a good place for 4-H'ers to see some outstanding prospects. The sale is sponsored by the Fayette County Shepherds' Club.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Commerce Director Dennis Shaul clamped a 60-day suspension on the Shaker Heights Teachers Credit Union, Inc., Wednesday for "unsafe and unsound" operations.

Ex-convict active state senator

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ten years ago, John Scott Ulm walked out of the Colorado State Reformatory at Buena Vista and flaunted tradition.

"I broke an old rule which says if you look back you'll go back," Ulm recalls. "But I looked back at the place and vowed I would never go back."

He had $15 in his pocket and a train ticket to his home in Independence, Kan.

Today, the 30-year-old Democrat from Tucson is serving his first term as an Arizona state senator.

An outspoken legislator, Ulm fought unsuccessfully against Senate passage of a bill to restore capital punishment, describing it as "a move to return to barbarism."

But he says he has no special grievance against law and order legislation.

"The same laws that got me into trouble also protect me, but I'm not willing to hand over all power to the police," he said during an interview on Monday.

Ulm said he was forced into marriage at the age of 18 while still a senior in high school at Independence and had to combine his studies with a job to support his family.

Ulm went on to the University of Kansas, but the marriage broke up by the time he finished his sophomore year.

He moved to Greeley, Colo., and ran afoul of the law there while working as a disc jockey, Ulm said.

"During that period of emotional pressures I wrote checks that bounced and then wrote more to cover them," he said.

Sentenced to a term of 1-20 years, he was released after serving nine months.

Unable to find a job in Independence, he moved to Topeka.

Ulm met his second wife, Jeanette, there while attending night classes at Washburn University. They moved on to Tucson and now have a son, Mark, 5, and a daughter, Leslie, 4.

Urged by friends last year to run for the senate, Ulm asked for a Colorado pardon. It was granted before he ran and he won with 70 per cent of the vote.

He said his past was raised only once during the campaign, during an interview in the staunchly Republican Sierra Vista area.

FHA members return from state meeting

Sixteen members of the Miami Trace Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America have just returned from the 1973 FHA state meeting. They, along with approximately 4,000 other delegates from the state, participated in many educational, involvement, and motivational activities at Veteran's Memorial on April 13 and 14 in Columbus.

Four Miami Trace girls, Miracle Florea, Pam Woods, Patsy Gibson, and Brenda Finley, received their state FHA degrees. Brenda was also an applicant for a state FHA scholarship. Represented by Becky Davis, the local chapter won the Award of Merit for Excellence in Program Planning. Phyllis Hunt served as a hostess for Friday evening, and Teresa Jordan sang in the 200-voice state FHA chorus.

Debbie Frazier is a candidate for a national FHA office and Sandi Kellenberger was a candidate for a state office. Voting delegates for South II region from Miami Trace were Diane Burke, Lu Ann Cornell, Vickie Parks, and Anita Hill. They voted for the re-establishment of the state's districts, for the vice president from this region, and for the state president.

Debbie Summers, Diane Gerber, and Pam Prater attended as guests. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Robert Frazier and Mrs. Kenneth Summers, chapter mothers, and by Mrs. Mary Myers and Mrs. Nancy Davis, FHA advisors.

DEBBIE FRAZIER

MTHS student candidate for national post

Debbie Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazier, of New Holland, has been selected as candidate for national historian of the Future Homemakers of America.

Chosen on the basis of a written application and personal interview with the state officers and their advisors, Debbie will represent Ohio at the National convention in Dallas, Tex., in July. There she will compete against representatives of four other central states.

Patty Douce Janes (Mrs. Jack Janes) was vice-president of the central region in 1966-67.

KATHY WOODFORK

CHARLOTTE RADCLIFFE

Seniors of week

Kathy Woodfork, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodfork of Bloomingburg, is having a very active senior year. Her many activities include being a cheerleader, treasurer of student council, secretary of South Central Ohio League Student Council secretary of senior choir, treasurer of the Library Club, and having a part in the spring musical. She is also a member of AFS, GAA, and the Youth Against Cancer Society.

In what little spare time she has, Kathy enjoys coin collecting, stamp collecting, and music.

In the near future Kathy plans to attend Nationwide School of Beauty and Fashion. Later she wants to study for a career in music.

"I'm happy to be a senior because I feel I will have soon completed my task. I have enjoyed my years at Miami Trace, but I will miss my friends and teachers," is the answer Charlotte Radcliffe gave when asked how it felt to be a senior.

Charlotte enjoys playing records and watching all kinds of sports. At school she is a member of Future Homemakers and is a library worker.

Her future plans are to make a career in the navy.

District FHA meeting held

By KATHY COTTRILL

A District rally of FHA was held recently at Greenfield McClain High School. The theme of the rally was "Together We Can Make It . . ."

The Miami Trace chapter presented the roll call. The girls listened to several reports and enjoyed skits put on by other area chapters. Reverend Ted Cano, a native of Honduras, gave an interesting talk about his country. He included slides and trays of native food in his presentation.

The Peebles chapter gave the Degree Ceremony. Miami Trace members who received their chapter degrees were Sue Penwell, Susan Coates, Nancy Crabtree, Teresa Jordan, and Phyllis Hunt. Each girl received a silver spoon pin.

New officers for 1973-74 were installed. Susan Coates will represent Miami Trace as parliamentarian. This year Debbie Summers has served as district news reporter.

Fayette County gets gas money

Municipalities in Fayette County have received $9,427 in gasoline taxes for April, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. The total distribution for the state was $8,880,353.

The distribution to municipalities in Fayette County included Washington C.H., $8,153; Bloomingburg, $564; Jeffersonville, $550; Milledgeville, $114; New Holland (Fayette County section) $28, and Octa, $18.

Each of the 88 counties received $30,000 while the 1,320 townships each received $1,200.

The municipalities shared in a total of $4,656,353 on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

Gasoline tax revenues must be used only for road, street and bridge maintenance and repair.

Creative anachronism group harkens to Medieval times

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The clang of sword-smitten armor is wafting across suburban California backyards.

Knights in homemade armor with wooden swords and shields are part of the monthly revels of the Society for Creative Anachronism, devoted to things medieval.

Each member of the group has a title and a coat of arms.

And, said Lady Cheryl of Castlwhyte, "everyone brings a medieval-style sack lunch—like meat, cheeses, bread. And everybody brings their own wine. We stress mead."

She explained that mead is a fermented drink which includes honey, and is much favored by slayers of dragons.

Lady Cheryl spends most of her time as Cheryl White, wife of 20th century plumber David White. The couple hosted the latest revel for about 35 persons last weekend in their backyard.

White is the local chapter's "senseschal," or head of the shire. And the Sacramento area is known as the Shire of the Golden Rivers of the West Kingdom.

"A revel starts about one in the afternoon and may go until three in the morning," Mrs. White said during an interview Tuesday.

"If someone joins just for the socializing, they usually don't stay with it. You have to get involved or you just get lost."

Members say the society began in Berkeley, Calif., about seven years ago with a gathering of medievalists in a backyard. The group claims 3,500 members nationwide with a $4 annual membership fee.

"One has to be proficient in certain areas and have a general knowledge of the historical period. And we have a line of royalty. A new king is elected three times a year at tournaments," Mrs. White said.

"Some people are in it for the broadswords, while others really get down to the meat of it," she said.

Members' interests include needlecraft, egg decorating, chess, dance, music and period research projects.

Nursery school held at MT

By BARBARA MARVIN

Every other day at 12 noon for two weeks, approximately 15 pre-school children became a part of Miami Trace's school system. These youngsters, whose ages ranged from three to five, were part of the learning process of Mrs. Susan Augspurger's junior home economics classes.

The children were generally the younger brothers and sisters of students or the children of the teachers. Each child's parents completed and signed a paper to permit the child's two-hour stay at the high school.

There were an average of 15 students per period in Mrs. Augspurger's classes, and each person had the opportunity to help care for the little ones. The children were served refreshments prepared by the designated class each day.

The girls also planned activities for the children daily; these included reading to them, playing with them, teaching them simple crafts, and having them exercise to "Chicken Fat."

Because of its size and facilities, the sewing room was used as the meeting place for the classes. Mrs. Augspurger has arranged this program annually as a part of her curriculum.

Scientists get look at life chain

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Scientists have taken a deep look into the atomic structure of the chemical chain that carries the genetic information for all life.

The detail of what they "saw" confirms beyond any doubt the accuracy of the prediction about the structure made 20 years ago by James D. Watson and Francis Crick.

The Watson-Crick theory about the double helix structure won them a Nobel Prize and formed the basis of modern molecular biology.

Researchers from the Massachussetts Institute of Technology reported today that they have used an X-ray diffraction technique to examine the structure of fragments of genetic material.

X-ray diffraction involves bouncing X-rays off the structure and determining the detail of that structure by measuring the intensities at which the X-rays bounce at certain angles.

"These structures are the only fragments of double helices yet seen at atomic resolution and they remove any doubts about the correctness of the Watson-Crick hypotheses," the MIT group said.

The measurements were processed by a computer, which produced a plot of the location of the atoms. Comparing the technique to using a microscope, the scientists said they used a computer as a lens.

The research was reported to the 57th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by John M. Rosenberg and Nadrian C. Sesman of MIT.

Absentee voters cast state issue ballots

Absentee voting on six state questions and issues under way in the Board of Elections offices in the Courthouse, according to Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, Fayette County director of elections.

Persons may vote by absentee ballot if they will be detained in a hospital for medical or surgical reasons on election day, if they will be unable to vote on election day because of religious belief, if they will be unavoidably absent from the county and more than 10 miles from their voting precinct on election day, or if they are disabled.

College students, and persons in the armed forces and their spouses may also vote by absentee ballot. Applications for ballots must be made to the Fayette County Board of Elections. The deadline for requesting absent voter ballots is 4 p.m. May 3 forcivilian and disabled voters, and 12 noon May 5 for armed service personnel.

The Board of Elections office is open for absentee voting from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE ONLY issues on the ballot for the May 8 election are the six state issues. They are:

1. Shall Section 6, Article XV of the Constitution of Ohio be amended to permit the General Assembly to authorize an agency of the state to conduct lotteries, the net proceeds of which shall be paid into the General Revenue Fund of the state?

2. Shall Section 19 of Article I of the Ohio Constitution be amended to permit the taking, before payments, or private property by public agencies for the purpose of constructing and maintaining sanitary sewers and water lines?

3. Shall Section 5 of Article II of the Ohio Constitution, disqualifying convicted embezzlers of public funds from holding any office in this state and preventing any person holding public money for disbursement, or otherwise, from having a seat in the General Assembly until such money is accounted for and paid into the treasurer, be repealed?

4. Shall Section 22 of Article IV of the Ohio Constitution, providing for the appointment of Supreme Court Commission, be repealed?

5. Shall Section 5 of Article IV of the Ohio Constitution be amended to permit the General Assembly to adopt by concurrent resolution, amendments to the rules governing practice and procedure in all courts of the state, which rules have been prescribed by the Supreme Court?

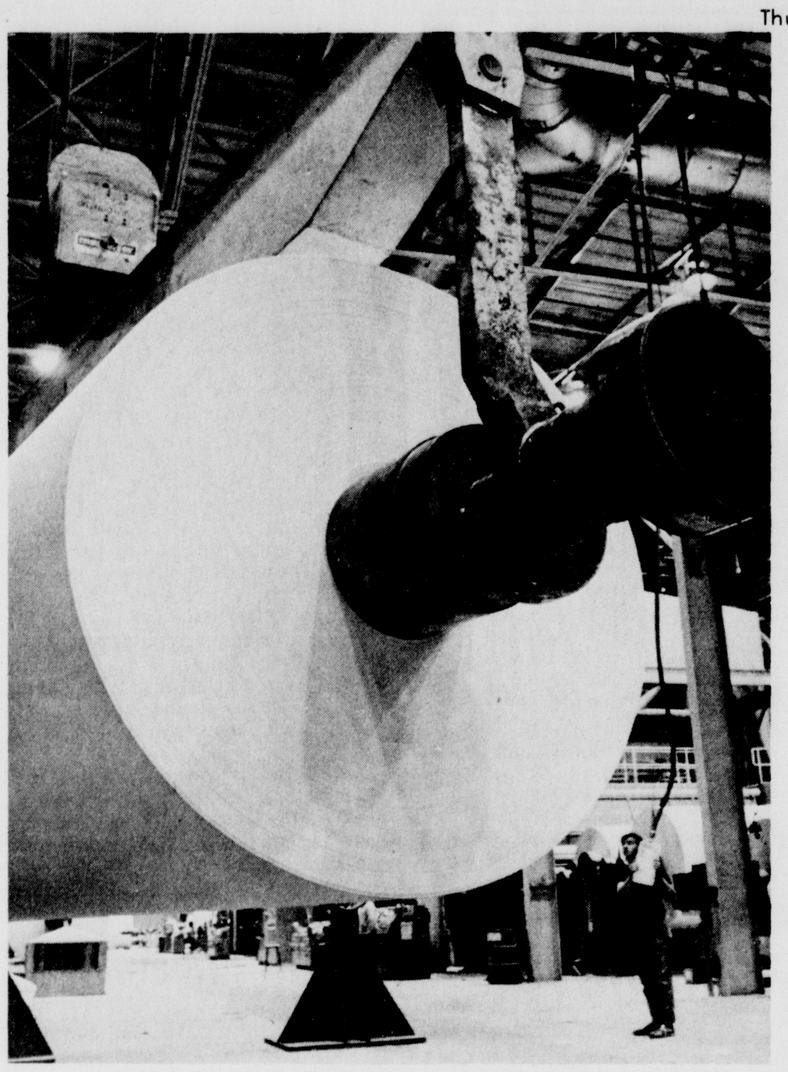

5A. Shall Section 6 of Article IV of the Ohio Constitution be amended to provide that judges of all courts established by law shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law and that such compensation shall not be diminished during term?

6. Shall Sections 4, 6, 7, 9, 11, 14 and 16 of Article II of the Ohio Constitution be amended, new Sections 8 and 15 of Article II be enacted, and Sections 8, 15, 17, 18, 19 and 25 of Article II be repealed to provide qualifications for members of the General Assembly; to allow each house of the General Assembly to choose its own officers and rules of proceeding; to require annual sessions of the General Assembly and to allow special sessions to be called; and to provide procedures for passing and enacting legislation?

Personal property deadline April 30

April 30 is the deadline for filing personal property tax statements without penalty, according to County Auditor Mary Morris.

Mrs. Morris said persons seeking the homestead exemption should file their claim in the homestead exemption office in the basement of the courthouse. The office is open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BIG YEAR FOR PAPER — A 25-ton roll of coated paper swings down the line at the huge Mead mill in Escanaba, Mich. Mead's newest paper machine there turns out a roll like this one every 90 minutes, round the clock. Paper industry reports the strongest demand in year, with production nearly eight per cent ahead of 1972 levels.

Mead earnings gain

DAYTON — Mead Corporation's net earnings rose to $7,980,000 in the first quarter of this year, compared to $4,440,000 before extraordinary items in the first quarter of 1972.

After provision for preferred dividends, Mead's earnings for the quarter ended April 1, 1973, were equal to 37 cents per common share. That is more than 2½ times first quarter earnings per share in 1972, which were 14 cents before extraordinary items. Extranary items in that quarter added 3 cents per share.

Sales of Mead products rose to $301.8 million, a 12 per cent increase over the $269.1 million recorded in the first quarter of 1972.

James W. McSwiney, chairman of the board, said Mead's operating units are performing well above 1972 levels. The company is a major producer of pulp, paper, paperboard, shipping containers, packaging, educational supplies, furniture, precision castings and other industrial products. "Demand continues strong in all these areas," McSwiney said.

OPERATIONS at Mead's expanded pulp and paper mill in Escanaba, Mich., continued to improve in the first quarter, McSwiney noted. "We now expect the Escanaba operation to make a positive contribution to earnings in the second quarter," he said.

Taxes on Mead's income were $6,488,000, during the first quarter of 1973, compared to $1,701,000 during last year's first quarter. The higher tax rate in 1973 results from a lower investment tax credit, as well as higher earnings from Mead's operations.

Earnings per common share figures reported by the company are based on an average of 15,943,000 shares outstanding during the first three months of 1973 and an average of 16,423,000 shares outstanding during the comparable period a year ago.

DP&L readies stock offering

DAYTON — The Dayton Power and Light Co. announces that the company has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission relating to its proposed offering to the public of 250,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock ($100 par value).

Net proceeds will be used to repay a portion of the company's short-term indebtedness incurred in connection with the company's construction program and for additional construction expenditures.

The offering, which will be underwritten by a group headed by Morgan Stanley & Company Incorporated and W. E. Hutton & Co., is expected to be made on May 9, 1973.

4 zoning ordinance variances approved

Four requests for zoning ordinance variances were granted and a fifth was tabled by the Washington Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday night.

A request by Maxine Gilmerr, Rt. 1, Washington C.H., for permission to erect a sign at her carry-out store, 602 Clinton Ave. was tabled pending the receipt of additional information on the size and location of the sign.

The board granted a variance to Myrtle Wisecup, 513 Earl Ave., to establish a second hand store at 702 E. Paint St. The conditional permit prohibits window displays and outside merchandising, and allows one sign to be erected.

R.S. Waters, 736 Washington Ave., was granted a permit to erect an addition to an existing building at 777 Grace St.

The board approved a conditional permit requested by John W. Phillips, doing business as Fayette Heating and Cooling Co. at 425 S. North St., to establish a furnace business and to install an illuminated sign. Conditions of the permit prohibit outside storage, require regular sales hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and proper maintenance.

A conditional permit was issued to Larry W. McConkey, 1222 E. Temple St., to establish a beauty shop. Remodeling work is to comply with the state building code.

LEADS ELECTION — Incumbent Mayor John Reading, above, Republican, led the Oakland, Calif., election, but failed to get the required 50 per cent plus one necessary for victory and will be forced into a runoff with Bobby Seale, Democrat and a member of the Black Panther Party.

Pet show, election top New Holland PTO fare

NEW HOLLAND — The election of officers had to share the interest with the fourth annual pet show Wednesday night at the Parent-Teacher Organization meeting.

Dave Dennis was named president to succeed Mrs. Harold Thompson; Mrs. Kenneth Slager, vice president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, secretary; and Mrs. Larry Elliott, treasurer.

Pets of all shapes, sizes, colors and descriptions were shown with loving pride by the youngsters. Mrs. Carl Wilt I and Mrs. Carl Wilt II were the judges who selected the winners in a dozen different categories:

Oldest shown by Cheryl Elzey; youngest by Lisa Slager; largest by Pat Toland; smallest, Brett Elliott; prettiest, Daniel Helseli; funniest by Randy Johnson; saddest by Mike Coil; happiest by Jeannie Doyle; fattest by Cathy Hamrick; typical girl by Cheryl Orihood; typical boy by Jeff Swarts; and pet with the best name by Mike Woods.

During the business session conducted by the retiring president, the group voted to purchase five clocks for the classrooms, an inter-room communication system and public address system for the school. The committee named to work out the details for the two sound systems includes Jack Brennan and Everett Swarts, co-chairman; Harold H. Thompson, Fred Coldiron, Vernon Gifford, Herbert Coil, Charles Bowdle and Jean Creamer.

THE PTO agreed to pay the bus drivers if field trips can be worked out with the teachers. Mrs. Rodney Miller is chairman of the room mothers. Mrs. Robert Bishop reminded that a skating party will be held Monday evening at Roller Haven in Washington C.H. and that a king and queen and prince and princess will be crowned then.

Notes from the fourth and fifth grades, thanking the PTO for equipment it has given to the classrooms, were read.

Principal Jean Creamer announced that the eighth grade recognition program will be held May 30.

Refreshments were served to approximately 125 by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coldiron, Mr. and Mrs. Garry McMurray, Mr. and Mrs. William Sheets Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coil, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Fleisher, Mr. and Mrs. Veryl Keaton and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glaze.

County receives tax reimbursement

Fayette County received $144,396.87 as its share of $1,396,900.30 distributed to six counties which granted tax rollbacks to property owners, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The state has now distributed $6,944,612.91 to the 14 counties in the property tax rollback reimbursement program. All the funds came from the state personal income tax collections.

The other five counties reimbursed this week were: Miami, $489,934.42; Sandusky, $294,147.44; Henry, $180,798.37; Mercer, $177,957.85, and Paulding, $109,665.35.

Ferguson said the checks were sent to the counties as replacement money for their granting 10 per cent tax rollbacks to property owners on their first half 1972 real estate taxes.

Property owners will receive 10 per cent reductions in taxes on each half year tax settlements, the auditor said, providing they pay their tax obligations promptly.

He said the other counties would be reimbursed for lost taxes under the rollback program as soon as they certify the rollback and their tax settlements to the auditor's office.

Jeffersonville Boy Scouts enjoy canoe trip, campout

JEFFERSONVILLE — Scouts of Troop 67 are still talking about their exciting weekend canoe trip and campout on the banks of the Little Miami River at Fort Ancient.

The trip had been planned for several months and most of the Scouts had undergone intensive canoe training under the direction of Scoutmaster Fred Doyle.

The canoe training included a week of orientation last August at Cave Lake where the Scouts had to point out and name each part of the canoe and paddles, launch a canoe properly, use the correct form on the various strokes, change places with their canoe partners while afloat, land a canoe properly, and use the right methods of lifesaving with a canoe.

At the March campout at Kenneth Walter's lake, Hidy Rd., the Scouts reviewed their strokes and how to avoid obstacles in the water.

Dangers of canoeing in flooded rivers were discussed and final preparations for the canoe trip were completed at the two troop meetings preceding the trip and campout at Fort Ancient. Older boys and men were paired up with smaller boys in canoes as a safety measure. All the canoeists were required to wear life jackets. The weather was perfect and each Scout took a sack lunch.

Adult Scouters who accompanied the boys were Scoutmaster Doyle, Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Sowash, Ralph Detty and David Morrow.

Stereo tapes, hubcaps stolen, police report

Stereo tapes valued at $60 were stolen from an unlocked car parked on the Frisch's Coffee Shop lot Wednesday night, police report.

Officers said Richard Campbell, Wilmington, a restaurant employe, reported he had parked his car just south of the back entrance about 5 p.m. When he returned shortly after midnight the tapes were gone. Also missing from the glove box was a bottle of vodka, police said.

Mrs. Florence Flint, of 324½ N. Main St., reported that the hubcaps had been stolen from her car while it was parked at Morgan Yahn's garage, S. Main St. The four hubcaps were valued at $31.50.

JOE MORGAN
Worried about miscues

★★★

Errors costly in 4-2 setback

Padres end Cincy win skein

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Cincinnati's defending National League champions have won nine of their first 13 games, but they've made 21 errors and that worries Joe Morgan.

"We can't make these many mistakes and hope to repeat," the little second baseman said Wednesday night after San Diego capitalized on five more miscues to snap the Reds' five-game winning streak, 4-2.

Two of the Padres' runs were unearned. "Our mistakes tonight were the difference in the game," said Morgan, who tripled to start a two-run rally in the ninth inning before relievers Rich Troedson and Bill Greif came in to save the victory for starter Steve Arlin, 1-1.

"We made three errors in San Francisco Sunday and won," Morgan reminded, "and we made three more here Monday night and won. But this just can't go on. One reason we won the pennant last year was our defense. This year, we're putting too much pressure on our pitchers."

Arlin, Troedson and Greif combined for a five-hitter as the Padres beat righthander Roger Nelson, who gave up three runs in five innings.

Catcher Fred Kendall figured in all three San Diego rallies. He doubled to set up a run in the third inning, doubled to drive in a run in the fourth and squeezed home an insurance run in the eighth with the last of San Diego's five sacrifices.

After Kendall's double to open the second, Arlin bunted and third baseman Phil Gagliano overthrew first for an error to make it 1-0. With two out in the fourth, rookie Dave Hilton singled and scored on another Kendall double. Then a strange thing happened.

With Arlin up, shortstop Dave Concepcion broke toward second as if a pickoff play was in the works. None was. Nelson's pitch was hit by Arlin for a run-scoring single through the hole vacated by Concepcion.

San Diego's run in the eighth also was a gift. Rookie John Grubb singled and took second on a pickoff throwing error by pitcher Pedro Borbon. Hilton sacrificed Grubb to third and Kendall scored him with a squeeze bunt.

The triple by Morgan, a single by Bobby Tolan and a one-out walk to Tony Perez finished Arlin in the ninth. Troedson let in a run on an infield out before Greif fanned Concepcion to end the game.

Cage series resumes Friday

Ohio looms favorite in Sertoma's classic

COLUMBUS — A star-speckled Ohio team looms as the favorite in the fourth annual Sertoma Charities Ohio-Indiana collegiate all-star basketball series which resumes this weekend.

In fact, the only way veteran Ohio University head basketball coach Jim Snyder can forsee an Ohio loss is "if the coach messes them up."

Snyder, by the way, is the coach of the Ohio all-star team this year and figures to have enough firepower to erase Indiana's 4-2 edge in the annual series.

THE TWO-GAME classic, matching top seniors from colleges in Ohio and Indiana, will be launched Friday when the teams meet at 8 p.m. in Butler's Hinkle Fieldhouse in Indianapolis and at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at Ohio State's St. John Arena in Columbus.

Alan Hornyak and Luke Witte, a pair of former Ohio State cage stars, bolster Ohio's hopes in the annual shooting match.

Hornyak, the smooth-shooting Ohio State captain, is the fourth leading pointmaker in Buckeye history and the 7-foot-0, 225-pound Witte is in 10th in the Ohio State scoring annals.

Tom Kozelko, of Toledo, a two-time most valuable player in the Mid-American Conference, Larry Garloch, of Miami, Dwight Kenner, of Kent State, and Derrek Dickey, of Cincinnati, are among the players Snyder will have at his command.

The other six Ohio all-star players are Scott Weakley and Mike Stumpf, both of Capital, Pat Beasley, of Wittenberg, Len Paul, of Akron, Clair Recker, of Bluffton, and Chuck Nafziger, of Defiance.

SNYDER, who just finished his 24th season as Ohio University's head basketball coach, said he would probably employ two combinations in the series.

In Weakley and Hornyak he has a pair of backcourt aces who did most of the ball handling chores for their teams the past season.

"We may have to break them up," Snyder said, "depending on what the other kids are able to do. We'll need somebody in the game at all times who can handle the ball."

Snyder, who had seen all members of his squad in action this season with the exception of Paul, Recker and Nafziger, also plans to employ Witte and the 6-foot-8 Stumpf on different units.

"They are the only two true post men we have," he said. "The other big men can move outside."

Stumpf finished fifth in the Ohio Conference scoring race this winter with a 17.2 average and landed a first team berth for the third season in a row. He was also an honorable mention choice on the Little All-America team.

Snyder said he plans to split the first half playing time between two groups and do the same in the first 10 minutes of the second half. "Then we'll use the players necessary to win during the final 10 minutes, Snyder said. "But we want to give all of them a chance to show what they can do."

Winning all-star games "all depends on the talent available, since you can't do much in the practice sessions, the dean of Mid-American Conference basketball mentors said.

I THINK OHIO has good talent this year," he added, "and I think these young men have a lot of pride and will go out and play good basketball," Snyder commented.

The Indiana roster is highlighted by a pair of stars from Bobby Knight's Hoosier team which finished third in the NCAA tournament and two more Big Ten players from Purdue.

Steve Downing, the Big Ten's most valuable player, and John Ritter, of Indiana, and Dennis Gamauf and JoVon Price, of Purdue, will anchor the Indiana all-star team, coached by Angus Nicoson, of Indiana Central State.

The rest of the team consists of Todd Whitten and J.D. Layman, two of Nicoson's own players, John Wolfenberg, of Valparaiso, Clarence Crain, of Butler, Bill Smith, of Marian College, and Dan Fell, of Franklin.

Wolfenberg, Valpo's No. 3 all-time leading scorer, and Downing are the tallest Indiana players at 6-8.

Oklahoma forfeits stir fuss

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Disappointment, disbelief and some bitterness—those were some of the reactions expressed by Oklahoma Sooner football players after learning the university was forfeiting nine of last season's games because of recruiting irregularities.

The action Wednesday leaves the Sooners with a 3-9 record, wipes out a Sugar Bowl victory over Penn State, as well as the Big Eight championship.

The players seemed most disappointed, however, by the loss of Kerry Jackson, who was to have been the Sooners No. 1 quarterback before it was learned his high school transcript had been tampered with and he was declared ineligible. He also stayed two times in the OU dormitory while in high school, in violation of league rules.

Also ruled ineligible for the same reasons was Mike Phillips, a teammate of Jackson's at Galveston, Tex., Ball High School. Neither was said to have any knowledge of violations, but university officials said offensive line coach Bill Michael has admitted knowing of the transcript tampering.

Oklahoma Athletic Director Wade Walker revealed Wednesday that Michael had resigned. Both Walker and coach Barry Switzer said no other football staff member was aware of the infraction of Big Eight regulations.

Jackson, asked for a comment, shrugged and said, "I don't have any thing to say. I'm kind of disappointed. That's about all I could say."

Old marks to fall during Ohio Relays?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Epskamp, the host coach, predicts 10 records will fall in the Ohio State Track Relays Friday and Saturday, including the second oldest on the books.

Knicks deal Celts worst playoff loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks gave the Boston Celtics some of their own medicine. In fact, it was an overdose, but not fatal.

"We were so out of it, it was pathetic," said Coach Tom Heinsohn after his lethargic Celtics were lashed 129-96 by the Knicks Wednesday night.

The worst defeat in Boston's playoff history—the 33-point margin exceeding by nine their two previous record losses— came just three days after the Celts whipped the New Yorkers 134-108 in the opener of the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference final.

"We played a super game last time," said Heinsohn, the NBA Coach of the Year. "They played a super game this time and we didn't play any kind of game at all."

So overwhelming was the defeat, behind the 24 points of Walt Frazier, that the Knicks cleared their bench midway through the final quarter.

Knicks Coach Red Holzman, when asked if he thought the trend was changing from squeakers to runaways, he replied:

"God, I hope not. I can't stand this. To have what happened in Boston Sunday night and here tonight, you realize you really do play one game at a time."

Carolina Coach Larry Brown and Utah Coach LaDell Andersen could have used a little of the Knicks cushion in their American Basketball playoffs. The Cougars sneaked past the Kentucky Colonels 102-91 in the East but the Stars barely nipped the Indiana Pacers 104-103 in the West to even both best-of-seven division finals at 2-2.

Jimmy Jones pumped in 34 points and Willie Wise hit a key basket with 58 seconds left for the Utah triumph while Billy Cunningham tallied 32 for Carolina.

New Columbus Seals owner promises action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus mortgage banker Albert Savill, the new owner of the Columbus Seals, promises winning hockey for the International Hockey League's largest city.

"We will get a winning team here by getting the players and spending money," he said.

Red China displays basketball prowess

PARIS (AP) — The People's Republic of China, with a 6-foot-10, 250-pound center and a couple of deadeye guards, showed France why Chairman Mao likes basketball.

A mainland China team beat the Frenchmen 89-86 Wednesday night in the first game of a long European tour.

"They said they wanted to learn from us," said the French coach, Joe Jaunay. "I think we have something to learn from them."

Trevino after money mark

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Lee Trevino's got a pain in the neck.

"It's right up here," he said, massaging under his left ear. "It's a tendon that's pulled. I've seen the doctor about it and he's given me some heat treatments. I don't know how it will affect me.

"I'll just have to try it and see."

"I've always thought this was one of the most important tournaments in the world, maybe No. 4," Trevino said before teeing off in today's first round of the prestigious MONY Tournament of Champions. "It's something I've always wanted to win.

"Any tournament is important, but to win one that includes the champions of all the others, now that'd really be something to do."

He's never accomplished that goal, but finished second and third the last two years and is listed as the second choice to favored Jack Nicklaus in the 31-man field that is competing for a total purse of $200,000.

First prize is $40,000. Should Trevino win it, he would be well past another of his major career goals.

"I want to win $1 million in prize money faster than anyone else has ever done it," he said. "It took Jack 10 years. I'm going to do it in 6½. Of course, with the way purses are growing all the time, somebody will come along and break that record, but it'd sure given them something to shoot at."

Only Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper have passed the $1 million mark in career earnings. But Trevino has in excess of $980,000 and it's just a matter of time before he officially becomes the game's fourth millionaire.

Two WCH area men eye posts at Buckeye Hills

GREENFIELD — Two Washington C.H. area persons have been nominated for seats on the Buckeye Hills Country Club board of directors.

John Boylan and Mel Wickensimer have been named along with Robert Snider, Robert Barrett, James Cook and Robert Graves as prospective board members, although additional nominations will be accepted at the annual membership meeting scheduled May 6.

Board members agreed to change pars on four holes on the country club course to conform with golf regulations. The course, it was pointed out, will still be a par 72 and new scorecards will be printed.

First quarter dues for new golf members will be dropped. The first year dues will be $125 for a family and $70 for a single golf membership.

The board, at the April meeting, approved the Business League which will play on Tuesday nights. There are a total of 12 teams in the Business League.

A bid submitted by the Sitterle Insurance Agency, Greenfield, for complete course coverage, was accepted and the board also approved the purchase of a bush hog for maintenance of the course.

Lions suffer fourth scoreless golf loss

Washington C. H.'s golf team absorbed its fourth consecutive scoreless setback Wednesday night as Chillicothe registered a 9-0 win at the Chillicothe Country Club.

Head coach Gary Shaffer's Blue Lion linksters, now 0-4 following a pair of dual matches and a triangular meet, were led by the performances of Doug Boswell and David Garringer who turned in identical 44 totals.

Chuck Notestone was the medalist for Chillicothe as he swatted a nifty 36 and Ed Larabee and Ed Bunstine were only one stroke off par with 37s.

Dave Shoemaker provided ample backing as he turned in a 39 for Chillicothe, which pumped its overall record to 8-3.

Senior Chuck Bath and sophomore Rob Harris carded 47s for Washington C. H. and Jeff Brown shot a 50.

THE RESULTS

WASHINGTON C. H. — Chuck Bath 47-0; Doug Boswell 44-0; David Garringer 44-0; Rob Harris 47-0; Jeff Brown 50-0; Totals 232-0.

CHILLICOTHE — Chuck Notestone 36-2; Shoemaker 39-2; Larabee 37-2; Bunstine 37-2; Gale Notestone 42-1; Totals 191-9.

Former Lion star knots old record

ADA — David DeWeese, the former Washington C. H. Blue Lion and South Central Ohio League track ace, turned in an exceptional performance in Ohio Northern University's first participation at the Ohio Athletic Conference track and field relays held at Mount Union College in Alliance.

The lanky sophomore tied his own school record in the pole vault with a leap of 13 feet, six inches, a record he established in 1972.

DeWeese, who holds both the Washington C. H. and SCOL pole vault records, has qualified for the OAC outdoor track and field meet which will be held at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea.

Reeds Pence wins

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)— Reeds Pence won its third race in five starts Wednesday night with a three-length triumph in the $1,000 feature at Lebanon Raceway.

The 4-year-old bay paid $5.40, $2.60 and $2.40 in turning in a time of 2:12 4-5 on a slow track.

Peoples Choice was second, returning $3.20 and $2.60. Angeles Crystal showed at $3.40.

Lagging A's nudge Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For today, baseball fans, a few introductions.

Over here, wearing the mustaches and funny colored uniforms, are the Oakland A's. Call them World Champions. No, no, forget the American League standings and the 3-6 record. They are the World Champions.

Over there, wearing the smiles and confident looks, are the Kansas City Royals, sitting atop the AL West. They are smiling because of an 8-3 record.

Kansas City in first place and Oakland in fifth. Charley Finley, owner of the A's, could be excused for wondering just what's going on here. This could develop into an identification crisis.

Just to make sure their identities don't get too confused, Finley's mustached men turned the tables on the Royals Wednesday using a familiar weapon—a Gene Tenace home run—to take a 7-6 victory from Kansas City.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, the New York Yankees rallied for a 7-4 victory over Baltimore, California edged Minnesota 3-2, Chicago edged Texas 6-5, Detroit defeated Boston 7-1 and Milwaukee shut out Cleveland 4-0.

The Royals gave the snazzilydressed A's a scare. Kansas City wiped out an early 4-0 lead on a three-run homer by Ed Kirkpatrick and a solo shot by Cookie Rojas.

Then an error by Oakland catcher Ray Fosse allowed two unearned runs to score and the World Champions were trailing. Fosse's single made it 6-5 in the seventh and then Tenace, last year's World Series hero, straightened out the identity crisis with his ninth inning homer following a leadoff single by Reggie Jackson.

The Yankees delivered some ninth inning thunder of their own with a pair of two-run homers by Thurman Munson and Felipe Alou carrying them to their victory over Baltimore.

Detroit unloaded on Fenway Park's close-in left field fence with Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Ed Brinkman all smacking home runs and Jim Perry coasting on the long-ball offense with a five-hitter to defeat Boston.

Minnesota's Bert Blyleven must have figured he had Frank Robinson's number. He struck out California's designated hitter the first three times he faced him in the Twins' game against the Angels. On his fourth trip to the plate, Robinson got even with a 410-foot home run that gave Nolan Ryan his third straight victory.

Dick Allen stroked a home run, double and triple, driving in four runs as Chicago defeated Texas. That gave the White Sox' slugger 12 hits, eight of them for extra bases, in 32 at bats this season.

Skip Lockwood and Jim Colborn combined for Milwaukee's six-hit shutout of Cleveland. Lockwood surrendered all of the Indian hits before Colborn took over in the sixth.

The Brewers protected a onerun lead until the eighth when a three-run rally put the game away.

Golf scramble set at Buckeye Hills

GREENFIELD — Buckeye Hills Country Club will hold a scramble golf tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Each team will consist of four men, and the team will be paired according to handicaps. The tourney will be open all day Saturday and Sunday and interested members are urged to form a team and compete.

Renko in form, hurls four-hitter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I always start a season hoping to do better than the last"— Steve Renko, pitcher, Montreal Expos.

Renko may not better his 1972 record, although it would be hard to do any worse, but he's assured himself of doing at least as well.

The tall right-hander, who won his 1972 debut and then suffered through a horrible 1-10 summer, hurled a four-hitter in his first 1973 appearance Wednesday and outdueled Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton in pitching the Expos to a 2-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It came one year to the day after his lone 1972 success, in which he beat the New York Mets, and was his first complete game since Sept. 16, 1971.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs nipped the Mets 1-0 for the second day in a row, San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3 on Bobby Bonds' 11th-inning homer, Pittsburgh trimmed St. Louis 8-2, San Diego defeated Cincinnati 4-2 and Houston beat Los Angeles 7-2.

Renko held the Phillies hitless until the sixth, when they touched him for two hits. The other two hits and their only run came in the ninth. Meanwhile, the Expos scored both their runs off 27-game winner Carlton in the first inning on RBI singles by Hal Breeden and Jorge Roque.

The Cubs pushed across a first-inning run against New York's Jon Matlack on Cleo James' single, a stolen base, Glenn Beckert's sacrifice and a wild pitch and made it stand up behind the six-hit pitching of rookie Ray Burris, Larry Gura and Jack Aker.

Bonds' 11th-inning homer off Atlanta's Tom House stretched the Braves' losing streak to six games and capped a thoroughly forgettable inning for the relief pitcher.

In the top of the 11th, with Sonny Jackson on second base, Johnny Oates on first and none out, House bunted into a rare unassisted double play by catcher Dave Rader. House bunted a short pop in front of the plate and Rader caught the ball for the first out and continued running to second base, tagging the bag for the unique double play. Jackson was near third and couldn't return in time.

Willie Stargell drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and Milt May added three RBI's as Pittsburgh blasted St. Louis. Stargell's homer highlighted a fourrun first inning against Rick Wise, who owns the Cardinals' only triumph in 10 games.

Fred Kendall doubled to set up San Diego's first run, doubled home the second, scored the third on a single by winning pitcher Steve Arlin and squeezed home the fourth as the Padres beat Cincinnati and dropped the Reds into second place in the NL West, one-half game behind San Francisco.

Bob Watson drove in three runs and Jerry Reuss checked Los Angeles on four hits as Houston ended a four-game losing streak and stopped the Dodgers' five-game winning string.

Cutback in funds cuts back concerts

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Center Joffrey Ballet, faced with an 80 per cent cut in money from the City Center, has decided to shorten its fall season from six to four weeks and drop plans for a spring season in 1974.

In March, the City Center announced that it was under financial pressure and was cutting its annual support of the ballet from $380,000 to $75,000.

The Ford Foundation gave the City Center a $1 million loan, but earmarked it for the New York City Opera and the New York City Ballet, two other constituents of the City Center.

The Joffrey's board of directors said that additional tour bookings would be sought.

More fatal fires

LONDON (AP) — Fire claimed a record 896 lives throughout Britain and Northern Ireland during 1972, the Fire Research Station announced.

The figure exceeded the previous record of 865 dead in 1968 and was at least 100 above the average for the past four years.

RADIO STATION IN SENATOR'S HOME — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chamberlin operate an amateur radio station in the basement of the home of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., at Phoenix. The station has handled 132,000 radiotelephone calls from servicemen in South Vietnam since becoming a Military Affiliate Radio Station in August 1967. A club of 32 amateur radio operators run the station. "Goldwater pays for all the Arizona calls," said Chamberlin. Persons outside the state pay only the tolls from Phoenix to their homes.

Goldwater radio station aids GIs

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Family voices with reassuring hometown news or excited birth announcements flowed to South Vietnam during the war through an amateur radio station operated by Sen. Barry Goldwater. Now the station links servicemen in Thailand and the Philippines with their homes.

The station carried three-minute broadcast-telephone calls from South Vietnam until all stations there were closed as troops were withdrawn.

More than 132,000 telephone calls have passed through the amateur radio transmitters operated by the Arizona Republican since the facility became a Military Affiliate Radio Station in August 1967.

Under the system, a serviceman places his call through an overseas transmitter. It is relayed through Goldwater's station into the telephone system.

Thirty-two amateur radio operators work in shifts at the station in the basement of Goldwater's home in northeast Phoenix. They are members of a club called "Bash Hal Ne Ae," Navajo for "metal that talks." Goldwater is president.

"He runs it himself, when he's available," said an operator about Goldwater, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for president in 1964.

"Goldwater pays for all Arizona calls, no matter where they are," said Robert Chamberlain, one of the operators. Persons receiving calls outside Arizona pay only the telephone tolls from Phoenix to their homes.

Chamberlain said the station has handled as many as 150 calls a day in a radio room marked by the Arizona senator's two-star general plaque. Goldwater is a member of the Air Force Reserve.

So far this year, the station has handled over 6,000 calls.

"When we're running patches, the telephone company assigns an operator to us," Chamberlain said. "When one call is finished, the operator puts another on, so its continuous."

Chamberlain said most people are unaware that their messages are being relayed through Goldwater's equipment.

He said the senator has asked the operators not to publicize it. But he added that the word leaks out and the senator has received numerous letters of appreciation.

Highland County collegian focuses on school career

WILMINGTON — College men traditionally grimly tolerate graduation ceremonies; their focus is on getting out of school into a high-paying job.

Not so, for Howard Willis Jr. of Rt. 8, Hillsboro, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Willis Sr.

Willis is not only looking forward to his June graduation, but his career objective is elementary education, a field not associated with large financial rewards.

His entire family will be turning out for his June 10 commencement from Wilmington College because he's the first of the clan to earn a college degree. His major is elementary education, and he hopes to be teaching fourth through sixth graders.

"To me, this is an ideal age group. They're fresh and open; they want to listen and learn. First through third graders scare me because they're so unpredictable, and all too often, high school students are dead to learning," said Willis.

Willis is a pole vaulter on the Wilmington College track team, and he works at Greenfield Plastics Co. in addition to being a full-time student at the college. He was named to the dean's list for the winter term after earning a grade point average of 3.40 out of a possible 4.00.

Before coming to Wilmington College, he taught special education for three years at Greenfield Elementary School. "I love kids," he said.

Three injured in U.S. 35 crash

Two persons were admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in a car-pickup truck crash at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Palmer Road Wednesday night. A third person was hurt slightly.

Admitted were Mariann Schwaigert, 18, Rt. 6, driver of the car, and a passenger, Barbara G. Smith, 20, Rt. 3. Miss Schwaigert was released Thursday morning. Both suffered head injuries in the 8:30 p.m. crash.

According to sheriff's deputies the Schwaigert car, eastbound on Palmer Road, apparently failed to stop at the intersection and skidded onto U.S. 35 into the path of a southeast bound pickup truck driven by Ronald A. Swigert, 40, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

John Trimble, 27, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, a passenger in the truck, was treated in the emergency room for a finger injury and released. Swigert was not injured.

Sheriff's deputies said both vehicles were heavily damaged. Miss Schwaigert was cited for failure to yield right of way.

Other mishaps were:

POLICE

WEDNESDAY, 10:18 p.m. — Cars driven by Frank W. Terrell, 55, of 304 S. North St., and Betty J. Anderson, 39, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, collided on the Hidy Foods lot; damage minor.

WEDNESDAY, 7:42 p.m. — A van truck driven by Robert T. Lutz, 17, of 523 E. Temple St., developed clutch and gear trouble and collided with a parked car owned by Paul Hays, of 740 E. Temple St. The mishap occurred on Temple Street, just west of Bereman Street; damage minor.

SHERIFF

WEDNESDAY, 9:13 a.m. — A truck driven by Larry W. Cottrill, 21, Rt. 4, was backing on a service station lot in Jeffersonville, and collided with a parked car owned by Paul J. Mitchell, of 1010 Grace St.; damage minor.

Turner-Slagle meeting slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A May tenth meeting has been set for 9:30 a.m. for the state Senate Select Committee studying the disputed 26th District Senate election involving Sen. Gene Slagle, D-36 Galion and former Sen. Robin Turner, a Marion Republican.

The two candidates have been asked to submit a list of options open to the committee for dealing with the election in which Slagle, who holds his seat on a provisional basis, beat Turner by 152 votes last November.
